NAVY PARLEY SAVED BY NINE-VOTE MARGIN FOR M'DONALD PARTY

Amendment to Coal Bill Carried by Government, 280 to 271.

VICTORY IS ASSURED WITH LIBERAL HELP

American and Japanese Delegates Arrive at Understanding.

DISCUSSION DETAILS VEILED IN SECRECY

Three-Power Pact Project, Excluding France, Is Dropped, Claim.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, Feb. 27 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—A handful of Liberal members of Parliament this evening saved the American, Japanese and Italian delegations to the London naval conference from having to pack up and go home by supporting Ramsay MacDonald's Labor government in the House of Commons in a crucial division on the coal bill. With practically the entire House of Commons voting, labor mustered 280 votes to the opposition's 271.

Meanwhile, an important move was being made by the United States naval delegation toward agreement with the Japanese. Although overshadowed by the dramatic political crisis, these negotiations appear the most important of any that have hitherto taken place. An informal statement from a Japanese source was that they had resulted in a rapprochement on "two and one-half points of divergence."

With the existence of the conference hanging on the outcome of the challenge to labor in the House of Commons, four Liberals voted labor, including Sir William Edge, who later tendered his resignation as one of his party's whips, and eight decided not to vote at all, thereby enabling labor to scrape through with a majority of nine in the most exciting division for six years.

Cabinet Faced Resignation.

If beaten on the Liberal amendment to the coal bill, which opposed the government's proposed limitation and regulation of the output of coal, the cabinet would have resigned and precipitated a general election. Mr. MacDonald's downfall, in France, would inevitably have signalized the immediate collapse of the naval parley as it would be six weeks or more before another government could be formed here.

The dramatic political crisis in the House tonight was the culmination of a vain attempt by the Tories and Liberals to unseat MacDonald regardless of the effect his downfall would have upon the naval conference. The most spectacular moment of the struggle was the tremendous demonstration accorded MacDonald by the whole of the Labor benches during the moments when his life as prime minister hung in the balance.

Plan of Tories Disclosed.

Excitement had increased during the late afternoon as the debate and the still more violent efforts of the party whips made it clear that the Tories, with Liberal support, were striving to turn the government out of office at once. This desire, it was said in the lobbies, is largely due to the desire of opposition tacticians to force a general election while Labor is unpopular in the country over the trade crisis and unemployment failures, but before the new Rothermere-Beaverbrook "United Empire" party can get organized and split Tory and Liberal votes.

According to Tory critics and to Lloyd George, the form of government control over production, supply and sale of coal provided for in the Labor coal bill would make private operation of coal mines in this country impossible. It was on an amendment to leave out the word "production" that the government won its narrow victory.

As division time approached Labor was apprehensive, expectant of defeat and clearly determined to go to the country at once regardless of the fate of the naval conference, which at such a moment became as of little importance at Westminister as it has been in the crisis in the Chamber of Deputies at Paris.

MacDonald Given Ovation.

The demonstration for Mr. MacDonald came after the prime minister had voted, as he walked back into the house from the division lobby. All the Labor M. P.'s were standing and cheering, waving their order papers.

The prime minister, tired, exhausted—even today while his political fate was in the balance he did seven hours' work on the naval conference—stopped, surprised and deeply touched. He ran his eyes over the tiers of seats and saw that his left-wing opponents, even the Clydesmen who have so fiercely criticized him, were cheering. He faltered, and for

Dominican Minister Looms as President

Envoy Morales, Chief of Mission in Capital, Urged for Post.

Santo Domingo, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—The immediate political future of the Dominican republic was discussed today by supporters of President Horacio Vasquez and leaders of the insurgents that completed their virtual seizure of power by marching into the capital yesterday.

The leaders of the insurgents met Gen. Rafael Trujillo, loyal commander of the Fortress of Ozama, at the American Legation, and attempted to reach an agreement on the choice of a provisional president to guarantee unbiased presidential elections in May.

The resignation of President Vasquez is virtually taken for granted, and is awaiting only the choice of a provisional successor. Vice President Jose Alfonseca has officially resigned.

During today's conference Senor Angel Morales, former minister of foreign affairs and now Dominican minister in Washington, received strong support for the provisional presidency. Later Gen. Trujillo came to the front as a possibility for the office. The two chiefs of the insur-

POLICEMAN'S KILLER FOUND GUILTY; TO DIE

Verdict Against Aldridge Is Reached After Less Than Hour's Deliberation.

SAYS BROTHER SLAYER

Alfred Scott Aldridge, colored, will go to the electric chair for the murder of Policeman Harry J. McDonald, unless his attorney, James Reilly, is successful in obtaining a new trial or executive clemency.

Aldridge was found guilty, without recommendation of mercy, of first degree murder yesterday afternoon by a jury in Criminal Division No. 1 of the District Supreme Court. Justice Peyton Gordon reserved sentence. The jury was out less than an hour.

The trial was the second, the first having resulted in a hung jury. It lasted for two days. Assistant United States Attorneys Walter M. Shea and James R. Kirkland represented the Government.

Aldridge took the verdict without the slightest quiver of a facial muscle, and eyed the members of the all-male jury intently while Deputy Clerk Lee Ashford, at the request of Attorney Reilly, polled the group.

The case went to the jury after Aldridge in his own behalf had testified that his brother, Albert Aldridge, had shot the policeman. McDonald was killed last July 6 in a gun duel with Alfred and Albert Aldridge. The latter was mortally wounded in the encounter. The man convicted yesterday was arrested on a street car several days later, after detectives had found the pistol from which the bullets that killed the policeman had been fired.

Aldridge, on the stand yesterday, declared that his brother had been in several prisons and that he had asserted he would never be taken back to prison alive. Aldridge declared that when Policeman McDonald arrested him and his brother on

HOUSE MEMBER HELD NOT GUILTY IN FRAUD

Kunz and Son Acquitted of Charge They Operated Confidence Game.

JURY OUT TWO HOURS

Chicago, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Representative Stanley H. Kunz and his son, Stanley Kunz, jr., were acquitted late today of charges of operating a confidence game and of obtaining money under false pretenses.

The jury deliberated two hours and ten minutes. Representative Kunz was accused of accepting $400 from Roman Trochowski on the promise he would obtain a civil service appointment to the police department for Trochowski's brother. The job never materialized, Trochowski charged.

The accused father and son denied accepting the money as a bribe, but said it was a loan, which was repaid. They contended Trochowski charged the bribe because they were slow in paying the debt.

The representative, who is 66, sobbed as the verdict was returned and was lead from the courtroom.

"I knew they were wrong," he said.

When the indictment was returned several weeks ago, he termed it "political persecution."

Dorothy M. Davis, who spent part of last week in the District Jail for contempt of court in failing to appear on time for trial of her case, answered present yesterday when her name was called in the jury branch of Police Court. She is charged with "tapping" a gas main, and through her attorneys, Lewis Whitestone and W. J. Sullivan, gained a week's continuance.

Judge Isaac R. Hitt sentenced her to jail for 48 hours last week when she did not appear in court for her trial on the same charge. Yesterday her attorneys declared that she had been kept in jail 96 hours instead of 48, and Judge Hitt granted the continuance, which was sought that additional witnesses can be subpenaed.

Major Repeats His Record Speaks for Itself and Defends Picketing.

Charges that gambling and bootlegging have flourished throughout the District "with police protection" and "during all of the administration" of Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, were made yesterday by George H. Carter, Public Printer, in correspondence which he laid before the Senate and House District committees "for action."

In his letters the Public Printer further asserted: "Police and Police Court officials have been grossly derelict in prosecution of cases against a certain notorious gambler and bootlegger, and other District officials have been delinquent in granting privileges to enable this gambler to conceal his violations of law."

He insinuated, also, that there are "leaks" in the Police Department through which defendants are advised in advance as to the nature of evidence to be presented against them.

Affidavits Known, Claim.

Declaring that an alleged gambler arrested in a raid near the Government Printing Office recently had been told of the contents of affidavits connecting him with operation of the place, Mr. Carter said in part:

"So far as I know, the only persons outside my office who saw these affidavits were Maj. Pratt, Capt. Martin Reilly, of the Sixth Precinct, and Detective Boxwell, of the Sixth Precinct."

Included in his charges in connection with the same case were that of "gross negligence or indifference in collection of personal taxes." Mr. Carter said he had found that whereas the raided H street premises were on the tax books in one name, they were occupied by a person of another name, and that "no personal taxes have been paid on the place for at least three years, and no effort has been made by the personal tax board to collect. He asserted that the name

BITTER SENATE FIGHT DEFEATS LUMBER LEVY

Coalition Wins in 39-34 Vote After Battling Greatest Threat.

ROLL CALL DELAYED TO GATHER STRENGTH

Apparent New Combine Causes Chieftains to Tighten Lines.

LOBBY COMMITTEE'S HELP IS SUMMONED

President of Independent Oil Producers Is Called Before Board.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Senate Democratic-Progressive coalition last night beat off the greatest treat it has faced since it assumed control of the tariff bill, defeating, 39 to 34, a proposed levy of $3 a thousand board feet on lumber.

This was the first test between the coalition and what had every appearance of being another coalition formed to get levies on lumber, oil, sugar and shingles.

The test came late in the first night session, and after the coalition, frightened as it has not been frightened before and fearful of a move that threatened its further control of the bill, had delayed the roll call until it was convinced it had brought back a sufficient number of its own members or picked up additional ones to insure it victory.

Twenty-five Republicans and nine Democrats voted for the lumber rate, proposed by Senator Jones, while nineteen Republicans and twenty Democrats voted against it.

Roll Call Is Given.

The vote follows:

For:

Republicans: Baird, Dale, Fess, Goldsborough, Gould, Grundy, Hale, Hastings, Hatfield, Hebert, Jones, Keyes, McNary, Oddie, Patterson, Phipps, Pine, Robsion, of Kentucky; Shortridge, Steiwer, Sullivan, Townsend, Vanderberg, Waterman and Watson—25.

Democrats: Ashurst, Broussard, Dill, Fletcher, Pittman, Ransdell, Stephens, Thomas, of Oklahoma, and Trammell—9.

Total, 34.

Against:

Republicans: Allen, Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Capper, Couzens, Cutting, Deneen, Frazier, Glenn, LaFollette, McMaster, Metcalf, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Robinson of Indiana; Schall and Smoot—19.

TAFT SLOWLY DYING; DOCTORS WAIT ONLY FOR INEVITABLE END

Death Creeps Closer as Jurist Takes Breath With Difficulty.

MRS. HOOVER CALLS AT HOME DURING DAY.

New Chief Justice and Mrs. Hughes Also Pay Brief Visit.

CONDITION IS SAME, LAST BULLETIN SAYS

White House Reception to Members of House Is Canceled at News.

(Associated Press.)

Death drew closer to William Howard Taft last night while this Capital, wherein his accomplishments as President and Chief Justice won him the world's respect, sadly awaited the inevitable.

Time and again the physicians who have attended him since his collapse have been by his bedside. Relapses have been followed by partial rallies, but Dr. Francis R. Hagner said: "There is no hope for his recovery; any improvement will only be temporary."

At the best, the former President has been given but a short time to live. His breathing is constantly more difficult, his blood circulation is at low ebb, his heart may give way at any time, and he can take very little nourishment.

Wife and Daughter Near.

Mrs. Taft and their daughter, Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, are near the afflicted man. Robert A. and Charles P. Taft, in Cincinnati, have been told of the critical condition of their father.

Grief spread through Washington with word that the country's twenty-seventh President and tenth Chief Justice was about to die. The President and Mrs. Hoover called off their reception to members of the House of Representatives, scheduled for last night. Other social functions likewise were abandoned. The doctors' bulletin despairing that Mr. Taft could survive was read to the House.

Aged 72, Mr. Taft suffered his serious breakdown late in January and resigned from the Chief Justiceship as a result on February 3. That same day he was brought back to Washington from Asheville, N. C., where he had been seeking to recuperate.

Very Ill Man Then.

He was pronounced "a very ill man" then. For a week or so an improvement in his condition was reported every day. Then the physicians for some time said he was "unchanged." Finally, relapses began to recur and those close to him have feared again and again that the end was imminent. He has been holding on to life by a slender thread, however, and there was no saying last night just how long he would be able to endure the strain.

As twilight was settling over Washington, Mrs. Hoover called at the Wyoming avenue residence for a brief visit. She was followed by Chief Justice and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, who remained about 20 minutes. All expressed their solicitude to Mrs. Taft.

A prayer service for the afflicted man's recovery was broadcast over the country from the National Cathedral during the afternon. Starting the Episcopal service, Bishop James E. Freeman, said:

"We bid our people to prayer for one who is universally held as the most beloved of the Nation's outstanding public servants."

Condition Little Changed.

Physicians attending Mr. Taft issued the following bulletin at 6:30 p. m.:

"The condition of the former Chief Justice is little changed from this morning. He has taken a small amount of nourishment. His tem-

Governor Denies Application for Reprieve and Then for Commutation.

SLAYER MUST DIE TODAY

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Dr. James Howard Snook, the deposed Ohio State University professor, today lost his last chance for life and so must die in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary tomorrow for the murder of Miss Theora Hix, Ohio State coed, last June.

Acting with the speed which characterized Dr. Snook's trial and his unsuccessful appeals to State and Federal courts, Gov. Cooper today listened attentively to an application by Snook's counsel for a reprieve in order that they might take the case before the State board of clemency. Half an hour later he denied the application on the ground that "there was nothing presented to him that would justify executive clemency."

E. O. Ricketts, attorney for the condemned man, then made a formal application for commutation of sentence to life imprisonment. The governor replied, "it is denied," and with these words died Dr. Snook's last chance for life.

The unsuccessful termination of the six-month fight to reverse the conviction handed down in the Franklin County Common Pleas Court here placed the matter tonight in the hands of Warden Preston E. Thomas, of Ohio Penitentiary, empowering him to execute the former professor any time between "midnight and midnight" tomorow.

The state house was the scene of much activity and curiosity all day

STATE RUM CONTROL ADVOCATED BY WETS

Clergyman and Manufacturer Call for Repeal of Dry Amendment.

FEAR REIGN OF TERROR

(Associated Press.)

A return to the States of authority to regulate manufacture and sale of liquor was advocated repeatedly yesterday by witnesses before the House judiciary committee.

A clergyman from the Midwest and an industrialist from the East were among those who argued that prohibition was wreaking evil and should be repealed. Plans had called for those opposed to the eighteenth amendment to complete their case yesterday, but so many remained who wanted to be heard that Chairman Graham granted them another day before the dry side will be presented. Tuesday was set as that day.

The Rev. John Malick, pastor of the First Unitarian-Congregationalist Church at Cincinnati, declared the only way to enforce prohibition was to turn responsibility over "to a fanatical group who believe in it," adding: "Then you would have a state of terror worse than preprohibition conditions."

Pierre S. duPont, chairman of the board of the E. I. duPont De Nemours Co., of Wilmington, Del., said he had concluded after a five-year study that prohibition was a failure. He advocated establishment of State control through commissions of Antisaloon League members, ministers and "our best citizens."

Other witnesses included Raymond Pitcairn, a Philadelphia manufacturer; H. H. Curran and John Geb-

Question Put to Child Sticks Many Savants

Fourth Grade Pupil Will Tell Teacher Damascus Is Oldest City, But Authorities Quizzed by Post Aren't So Sure.

Question—What is the oldest city in the world?

Answers—Thebes, Memphis, Cairo, Jerusalem, Alexandria, Damascus.

Such was the query which came to The Post city room yesterday afternoon, and such were the answers by the staff assembled. Naturally an argument ensued with the "smart ones" seeking to substantiate their contentions by encyclopedias and other sources of such information. All of which prompted the city editor to assign a reporter to find out the information for the lady who stated she must know before this morning because the teacher of her 8-year-old daughter said each pupil in the class—the fourth grade—should find out before morning.

The reporter, aided and abetted by the enthusiastic participants in the "guessing contest" aroused in the office, sought the assistance of archeologists and Egyptologists and savants throughout the city with slight success, because all hedged and were uncertain about whether the question meant a continuously inhabited city, and where one founded on the ruins of a former city would qualify as such. The archeologists at the Smithsonian Institution were all inclined to believe Alexandria, Memphis or some other Egyptian city was the oldest. Prof. H. Hyernat, teacher of Hebrew and antiquity at Catholic University, believed that Luxor, which stands on the ruins of ancient Thebes in Egypt, might be the oldest. Others consulted were of the opinion that a city in either Babylonia or Egypt would be the oldest, but one suggested that even London, England, might be since proof had been found that it was inhabited during the Neolithic age and earlier.

Finally the Library of Congress was besought with the result that Damascus was declared to be the city in question, and "George," the office boy, won and probably qualified for —well, even a copyreader, some day. However, the city editor claims he won something for declaring Enoch was the first town mentioned in the Bible.

He was correct, as per Genesis 4:17: "And Cain knew his wife; and she conceived, and bare Enoch; and he builded a city, and called the name of the city after the name of his son, Enoch."

The only trouble with that is that the city is not now in existence, and it is only recorded in the Bible without a founding date.

Damuscus is undoubtedly the oldest. In Gen. 14:15, it is mentioned as being a flourishing city as early as 1913 B. C. The first information on Jerusalem was recorded on the Tel-el-Amarna tablets in 1400 B. C. Thebes, now Luxor, was founded about 1500 B. C., Alexandria about 332 B. C., and Cairo 640 A. D.

Ur of Chaldees, the home of Abraham's family, existed in 3000 B. C., but it has been in ruins for centuries.

The question was asked by Miss Thelma Pilcher, a teacher in the Webb elementary school at Fifteenth and Rosedale streets northeast. Little Bernice Dontz, of 1316 E street northeast, who told her mother that she "just had to find out the oldest city," said the teacher told her class that they could find out by looking it up in an encyclopedia, or asking the newspapers. In the absence of an encyclopedia about the home, the mother asked The Post.

'Poker Alice' Tubbs Dead; Colorful Figure of West

Woman Who Dealt Cards to "Deadwood Dick" Dies at 77.

Rapid City, S. Dak., Feb. 27 (A.P.). "Poker Alice" Tubbs, 77, picturesque character of the old West, where she was a fixture in the mining camps of the gold-rush era, coppered her last bet today and lost. Ironic was the fate which permitted her to come unhurt through numerous gambling-gunfights to die after an operation.

From the Pecos to the Colorado, through Gold Field, Tonopah and Butte, "Poker Alice" in the 80s dealt her cards. Faro here, chuck-a-luck there, now and then a bit of craps, they were all the same to the girl.

Associate of the "big shots" of border days, Alice numbered among her acquaintances "Wild Bill" Hickock, "Calamity Jane," "Deadwood Dick," "Tex" Rickard and others who took their whisky neat, the cards high.

As she was deft at dealing cards, so was she equally agile at handling the six-gun, only law recognized in

During the early evening hours, there were numerous callers at the big colonial home of the former Chief Justice. Many of these left cards, expressing their sympathy, and others brought flowers to brighten the sick room. As the hours passed, however, and night settled down upon the place, the only signs of activity on the street was the purr of high-powered motors which passed now and then.

A light glowed on the broad porch, throwing bulky shadows of the wide white columns across the lawn. The springlike atmosphere which earlier in the day had brought a squirrel and birds to play about the lawn, vanished with a chill wind that set the branches of trees to rattling.

Now and then the shadow of a nurse appeared in the dimly lighted window of the sick room, but, except for this and the lights which glowed from two other windows, the house was dark.

side of the stricken former President. They heard also the singing of hymns by the Boys' Choir of the Cathedral.

Prefacing a series of prayers, Bishop Freeman said:

"From the Cathedral in the Capital, the Nation-wide call to prayer is made at this hour in behalf of one of America's foremost sons. Former Chief Justice Taft lies critically ill in his home. His incomparable service to the Nation as Secretary of War, President of the Republic and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, gives him unique place in our history. We bid our people to prayer for one who is universally held as the most beloved of the Nation's outstanding public servants. May the God and Father of us all have him in his gracious care and keeping."

Bishop Freeman's first prayer for Mr. Taft was as follows:

"Hear, O Lord, we beseech Thee, these our prayers as we call upon Thee on behalf of this, Thy servant, William Howard Taft, and bestow upon him the health of Thy merciful consolation, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

Commerce Bodies Adopt Proposals

19 Measures Intended to Bolster Federal Reserve Accepted Over U. S.

Nineteen proposals dealing with questions of administrative policies and practices, all designed with the object of strengthening the Federal Reserve System, were adopted by an overwhelming vote of member organizations of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in a Nation-wide referendum, returns of which were made public yesterday.

The referendum proposals were based upon an extensive report on the far-reaching activities of the reserve system by the banking and currency committee of the National Chamber. This committee was composed of 50 members, including representatives from various fields of business as well as labor and agriculture.

The more important proposals adopted were that the principle of regional banks with autonomous powers be maintained; that in the maintenance of the principle of regional autonomy the Federal Reserve Board should not initiate changes in the rediscount rate unless a national emergency exists; that reserve banks should possess powers of credit and currency expansion sufficient to insure the largest measure of serviceability in any period of strain, and that the present powers of reserve banks to engage in open market operations should be continued.

Grant's Messenger Freed as Vagrant

Man, Last Here in 1865, Is Surprised at Changes; Misses Landmarks.

Asa George, who declared he had been a confidential messenger for Gen. Grant and Gen. Sherman during the war between the States, won his freedom on a vagrancy charge yesterday in Police Court when he told Judge Gus A. Schult he had come to Washington from his Wisconsin home to see how much the city has grown.

George told the court that he was last in Washington in 1865, when he was mustered out of the service, and that he was surprised to see the changes that have taken place since that time.

"Why, judge, all the old landmarks are gone," the man declared.

George said he came to Washington three weeks ago with enough money to pay his hotel bill for two weeks. After that, however, he said his money gave out, and he was forced to sleep on park benches. He was arrested while sleeping in one of the downtown parks. Judge Schuldt took the man's personal bond not to repeat the offense and also instructed the police to seek to locate the man's relatives in Wisconsin.

SENATOR DISCUSSES THREE-POWER PACT

Swanson Says Colleagues Might Favor Move if Unconditional.

GENEVA OFFER RECALLED

By ALBERT W. FOX.

A three-power pact between Great Britain, Japan and the United States would find much support in the Senate if such pact were definite, unconditional and based substantially on the American offer at the Geneva conference of 1927, according to Senator Swanson, ranking Democrat on both the foreign relations and naval committees. But a three-power pact, with any conditional clause giving Great Britain a right to meet future building programs of France or any other power, or with uncertainty as to how long the pact would last, would be repudiated by the Senate, according to Mr. Swanson.

It would inevitably mean, the senator contends, that America's national defense, the size and fighting efficiency of America's Navy, would be dictated or controlled by London instead of Washington.

"It is considered unwise," Senator Swanson said, "for the United States, in entering into a three-power pact with Great Britain and Japan, to have attached to the same any provision permitting Great Britain to enlarge her navy if some other nation enlarges its naval armament, with America having permission to enlarge her navy to meet British naval expansion.

Transfer of Power Hit.

"The objection to this would be that Great Britain would then have the power to determine both the size and the character of the American navy. The size and type of vessels to be built by America would be determined in London and not in Washington. It is not believed that any nation would put itself in such a position. The United States relies absolutely upon its navy for defense and security. The United States has practically no army and its navy constitutes its chief defense for its territory and its commerce. A nation can not safely leave the determination of its national security to another nation.

"It will be recalled that when the Japanese immigration question was up during the Roosevelt administration the issue of permitting another nation to dictate American policies came before the Senate.

"Under the Roosevelt administration passports issued to Japanese immigrants to this country were issued by the Japanese government and could not be contravened at the port of entry. The action of the Japanese government in these cases was conclusive. Under this agreement the immigration question, as it applied to the Japanese, was decided in Tokyo and not in Washington.

Provision Was Defeated.

"When the immigration bill was reported to the Senate it contained a provision legalizing the Roosevelt agreement. When it was disclosed that Tokyo and not Washington directed America's policy in this respect the provision in the bill was overwhelmingly defeated in the Senate.

"Self-defense and security are of such vital concern to the American people that the Senate would never agree by treaty to have these matters decided by the will of some foreign nation.

"I hope that if a three-power pact is entered into it will be based principally upon the offer made by the United States Government at the Geneva Conference of 1927. There might be some modifications in the offer without impairing its efficiency.

Agreement Should Be Definite.

"Any agreement made at London should be definite and not contain uncertainties which would leave America still in doubt as to what shall be the size and character of her Navy. The matter should be settled definitely and finally.

"America, through her delegates, has made an offer to reduce her navy to any extent desired by the other powers provided they will make similar reductions and provided that America obtains parity in naval strength with any other naval power. This has been the position of our delegates and should be adhered to.

"If the conference fails to reach a definite agreement the responsibility lies with other nations and not with the United States. No one can criticize the President nor the delegation for insisting upon a course which has justice and liberality to support it and which is indorsed by world opinion. If America insists upon a treaty of this kind it will benefit mankind and if not obtainable now will be obtained in the future."

Queen Mary Greets Wives Of U. S. Envoys to Parley

17 American Women Presented to Sovereign, But Delight at Throne Room Splendor Is Exceeded by Finding Warm Place in London.

London, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Seventeen wives of American naval delegates and advisers were thrilled this afternoon when they were received at Buckingham Palace by Queen Mary.

But the magnificence of the throne room and the presence of the queen were almost overshadowed for the Americans by the fact that the palace was "delightfully and comfortably warm." After five weeks in London without steam heat and suffering from the chill weather, the American women went to the palace prepared to wear fur coats if necessary. They found huge, cheery fires blazing in all the rooms and sunshine streaming through the windows against the rich furnishings.

Forty women in all, from the five naval delegations, were received by the queen. Included was Mme. Aime de Fleuriau, wife of the French Ambassador in London, who is the only French delegate left.

They were ushered first into the green room, where gentlemen of the court gave instructions on the form of presentation. Unlike the usual courts, the women were told to leave both gloves off.

The American delegation was first ushered into the queen's presence, and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson was presented by the lord chamberlain. Mrs. Stimson then presented each woman accompanying her, beginning with Mrs. Charles G. Dawes. Each curtsied and shook the hand of her majesty, waiting for the queen to speak.

The queen, gowned in rich blue brocade, greeted each cordially. She chatted at length with Mrs. Arthur Page about her father-in-law, Walter Hines Page, formerly Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

After the Americans came the British, headed by Ishbel MacDonald. The women of other delegations and the whole party adjourned to the white room, where the queen chatted for half an hour with the wives of the chief delegates.

The women were interested by the queen's departure through a concealed mirrored door, to which was attached a console table, that swung silently open for her majesty to pass through. The guests then were served tea.

Mrs. Stimson wore a golden brown velvet costume and Mrs. Dawes wore royal blue velvet. Velvet appeared a favorite material and most of the women wore large fur neckpieces.

Only the women whose husbands already had been presented to King George were invited to be received by the queen. After the ceremony all declared that they had been greatly impressed by the simple dignity of the ceremony and the kindly graciousness of her majesty.

SOLID LEFT FACTION MAY BEAT TARDIEU

Herriot Refuses Acceptance of Foreign Affairs Post in Cabinet.

BREACH SEEMS WIDENING

Paris, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—The gap between the policies of the deadlocked right and left parties in the French Chamber of Deputies widened today as former Premier Andre Tardieu attempted to reassemble a government to succeed the short-lived Chautemps cabinet.

The defeat of Chautemps still rankles in the minds of the powerful left groups, particularly the Radical-Socialists, who are the largest single party in the Chamber, and their opposition became open and decisive today.

Working with the aim of forming a "wide concentration cabinet," M. Tardieu attempted to bring the Radical-Socialists into the fold by offering the ministry of foreign affairs to former Premier Edouard Herriot. Herriot, however, holding M. Tardieu responsible for the defeat of Camille Chautemps and backed by his party's refusal to cede the ministry of the interior to another party, refused the post and pledged his entire party against Tardieu.

Even the acceptance of the ministry of foreign affairs by Aristide Briand, announced at M. Tardieu's headquarters tonight, does not greatly mitigate M. Tardieu's difficulty. A solid left, the Radical-Socialists, Socialists and Communists, will probably be arrayed against the center and right coalition.

The political crisis is almost certain to last for several days. It is not only a ministerial crisis, but a fight that has brought the chief political divisions in France head-on against one another.

In the turmoil of domestic politics, the London naval conference seems to have been lost sight of for the moment. It is taking a back seat while the average Frenchman is animatedly discussing whether he will have to pay more taxes or less.

Tardieu Makes Report.

M. Tardieu reported formally on his progress toward completing a cabinet list to President Doumergue in the morning, receiving newspaper men tonight, he was less formal but still serious. "Call it a day's work boys. I used to be a newspaper man myself."

Before going to bed M. Tardieu announced that he did not expect to get his cabinet formed before Sunday evening at the earliest, and that he might not be ready until Monday.

He said he would not make the ministerial statement of policy in the Chamber of Deputies until March 6. The only ministry for which he has chosen a minister is that of foreign affairs, offered to M. Briand and accepted by him.

Parker Motor Bus Bill Reported by Committee

(Associated Press.)

The Parker motor bus bill to place buses engaged in interstate commerce under the supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission was reported yesterday to the House by its interstate commerce committe, which has had the measure under consideration for several weeks.

Under the measure joint boards would be named to handle rate complaints in the case of vehicles operating in only two States. They would be named by the commission after recommendations by the State utility boards or the State governors.

Ambulance Takes Blind Man to Jail

Former Magistrate Starts Four-Year Term for Embezzlement.

Louisville, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Albert Nisbet, blind former magistrate and former treasurer of the Baptist Tabernacle building fund, left for Frankfort, today in an ambulance to start serving a four-year sentence imposed upon him when he was convicted of embezzlement of tabernacle funds.

Nisbet arrived at the Circuit Court Building this morning and remained outside in the ambulance as a second count against him, charging him with embezzlement of $20,000, was filed away with leave to reinstate. The second indictment was filed away through an agreement with the Commonwealth providing Nisbet did not appeal his four-year sentence.

Papers for Nisbet's commitment to prison already had been drawn and a few minutes later the blind man, formerly known as the "old-boiled magistrate" because of the severity of sentences he dealt out to prohibition law violators, was on his way to the Frankfort Reformatory.

SEA PARLEY SAVED BY COMMONS VOTE

a moment almost looked as though he were going to cry.

Several of the eight Liberals who abstained from voting said later that they had done so to save the naval conference.

Reed Talks to Nippon Envoy.

Earlier today, before the Tory-Liberal assault on Labor had been started, Senator Reed made counter-proposals to Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira in answer to the Japanese claims put forwar two weeks ago. A meeting of the four heads of the Japanese delegation, with their experts excluded, followed. This was at luncheon time.

In the afternoon Secretary of State Stimson, Senator Reed and J. Theodore Marner, chief of the Division of Western European Affairs in the State Department, called on Mr. MacDonald at Downing street. With the premier were First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander and Robert Leslie Cragie, of the British foreign office.

Later, at 4:30 o'clock, Senator Reed saw Ambassador Matsudaira a second time, and after this there was another meeting of the heads of the Japanese delegation.

Efforts at Secrecy Made.

Those are the bare facts which hide the American move toward an agreement with Japan. Great efforts at secrecy are being made tonight. The Americans, when cross-questioned, tried to pretend that only the same old ground was covered, and the Japanese, who were blamed by the Americans for pervious leaks, sought to guard the secrecy of their meetings by keeping out several members of their mission who had taken part in discussions on previous occasions.

It is hinted tonight that some idea of the new phase of the situation can be gleaned from pondering on the fact that it is more sensible to talk numbers of ships than ratio.

The idea of a three-power pact, France excluded, has been practically dropped for the present, owing to the belief that M. Tardieu or his successor will not walk out of the conference, but will continue to press the French viewpoint and program as long and as patiently as the other powers press their own. This is the American view, and it accords with the British. It does not exclude the conception of a five-power pact of general character but without definite pledges as to building, in which a binding understanding between Great Britain, America and Japan might be inserted.

Conjecture as to Briand.

There was significant veering again today, despite all denials from Washington, toward the security pact idea. Aristide Briand, it is widely believed here, and not only by the Americans, intends to put forward some demand for more security as a condition for less French warships. The statement was made today that if he does Secretary Stimson will be willing to talk to him about it.

Dino Grandi, Italy's youthful foreign minister, saw MacDonald today. The Italian spokesman proved adamant against the British premier's suggestion that he should specify the Italian program and let up on talk about parity with France.

When pressed, Grandi gave his program as "724,000 tons (the French figure) or zero." This mot was admiringly quoted an hour later at Italian headquarters at Claridge's.

Commerce committee called upon the Shipping Board to fix a price for the piers at Hoboken, N. J., to be stipulated in the bill by Senator Kean (Republican), of New Jersey, for their sale.

S. M. Kile, Washington press agent, told the lobby committee he had been employed from 1926 to last March at $600 a month by the American Cyanamid Co. to direct its Muscle Shoals publicity. W. B. Bell, president of the company, testified that his company had spent $168,706 in an effort to acquire the power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals.

HOUSE.

Met at 12 noon and adjourned at 3:30 to meet at 12 noon today.

Representative Christopherson (Republican), of South Dakota, introduced two bills to provide for trial of certain minor prohibition offenses by United States commissioners, his object being to meet objections raised against somewhat similar measures at a recent session of the House judiciary committee.

Seven witnesses testifying before the House judiciary committee made strong pleas that authority for regulation of manufacture and sale of liquor be returned to the States. Among them were a clergyman, an industrialist, a manufacturer, lawyer, broker, two research experts and a reporter. Another antidry hearing will be held next Tuesday.

The reclamation committee discussed the Whittington bill to authorize $12,000,000 for creation of organized rural communities in ten Southern States, but no action was taken.

The military affairs committee approved the Andrew bill to authorize the Secretary of War to lend War Department equipment for use at the twelfth national convention of the American Legion at Boston next October.

John W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency, told the banking committee that development of a system of branch banking would not necessarily be another step toward consolidation of business interests, but would result in locally centralized capital.

Immigration committee approved the revised Johnson bill to restrict Western Hemisphere immigration to an annual total of about 76,000.

A bill to provide preliminary survey of portions of the Maumee, Wabash and St. Marys Rivers and of a possible canal to connect the first two streams for the purpose of providing a 9-foot barge waterway from Toledo to the Ohio River was presented by Representative Chalmers (Republican), of Ohio.

Representative Corning (Democrat), of New York, introduced a bill which would authorize the Secretary of War to deliver to the Cohoes Historical Society, of Cohoes, N. Y., two bronze guns now in the Watervliet Arsenal.

POWER PLANT LEASE FUND TOLD AT QUIZ

Cyanamid Firm Spent More Than $168,000 to Get Muscle Shoals.

PUBLICITY MAN IS HEARD

(Associated Press.)

A statement showing that the American Cyanamid Co. had spent $168,706 in an effort to lease the Government power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals was presented to the Senate lobby committee yesterday by W. B. Bell, president of the concern.

It was presented at the request of Chairman Caraway, of the committee, who did not question him concerning the contents. It was understood this would be done later.

Mr. Bell, a mild-mannered, elderly man with a Van Dyke beard, told the committee his company had been interested in the power possibilities of Muscle Shoals for twenty years but that the first offer to lease the plant was made in 1926, to a joint congressional committee.

The proposal is still before Congress in the form of the Wright bill upon which some action is expected this session. The Norris measure providing for Government operation of the project has been passed by Congress but was pocket-vetoed by President Coolidge.

Questioned at length concerning conferences with power interests, including the Alabama Power Co., in an effort to reach an agreement on Muscle Shoals, Mr. Bell denied that their differences had been reconciled and added that if this had been done he would have announced it.

The only other witness yesterday was O. M. Kile, Washington publicity man, who testified he had been paid $600 a month by the Cyanamid Co. to handle Muscle Shoals publicity. Mr. Bell was directed to reappear today.

Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said in a statement last night that he would be "only too glad" to appear before the investigating committee and tell it what "the association is doing and how it has been doing it."

Chairman Caraway, of the committee, announced last night that he had asked Mr. Franklin to appear.

"I feel sure," Mr. Franklin said, "that any hearing before the Senate judiciary committee will bring out more fully the necessity of a tariff on crude oil which we are advocating."

At the same time, Russell Brown, acting secretary of the association, said that all records of the organization had been placed at the disposal of the committee.

Cramton Park Bill Appears Delayed

Will Wait at Least Two Weeks While Author Is in Florida.

With Representative Louis C. Cramton, of Michigan, author of the bill to povride a $23,000,000 park and playground purchase program for the District and vicinity, in Florida studying the fruit fly situation, Senate committee action on the measuer now appears delayed for at least two weeks.

Adjacent Maryland county officials have agreed with Representative Cramton on a series of amendments which they seek to have made in the bill, and in view of the fact that before going to Florida he requested the Senate committee to await his return before taking action, it is believed that he wants the delay in order to make the proposed changes.

The amendment would permit Maryland to retain title to lands acquired for parks in connection with the program of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, and would also revise the system of payment by establishing a lump sum contribution from the Federal Government to accrue to the State, regadless of ther cost of acquiring the property.

Abandoned Baby Girl Rides in Patrol Wagon

Only three weeks old, her first motor ride was in the Tenth Police Precinct patrol. The police were unable to ascertain her name. She is a colored infant girl, who was conveyed to Children's Hospital in the patrol after being found abandoned last night.

Patrolman C. S. Rodman, while walking through an alley in the rear of Hobart street near Georgia avenue northwest, heard the baby's cries and found her secreted in an antiquated motor truck.

HEFLIN ASKS PARTY TO LIFT BOLTER BAN

'Fair-for-All White Primary' Is Urged in Telegram to Alabama.

CONCILIATION IS WANTED

(Associated Press.)

In a lengthy telegram to the Alabama State executive committee, Senator Heflin, of Alabama, yesterday urged that the ban against candidates in the Democratic primary who refused to support the presidential candidacy of Alfred E Smith be lifted and a "fair-for-all white Democratic primary" be allowed.

The telegram said, in part:

"I desire to submit to you my reasons for favoring a change in the primary plan laid down by a majority of the State Democratic committee on December 16, 1929.

"I believe that certain provisions of that plan are not only unwise and hurtful to the party but unfair and unjust to lifelong Democrats in Alabama who followed their judgment and conscience in opposing Gov. Smith fo rPresident of the United States.

"I believe that conciliatory methods should have been used, as was done in Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina.

"I believe, in view of the charges made during the presidential campaign of 1928, that Gov. Smith had bolted the Democratic platform upon which he was nominated and had appointed Raskob, a Republican chairman of the Democratic national committee; that it was not good policy for the State committee, under these circumstances, to seek to punish lifelong Democrats in Alabama who did not support Smith."

British Lecturer Talks to Students

Sir Archibald Flower Tells Central High Group About Shakespeare.

Love, romance, tragedy are to be found among Shakespeare's works, declared the mayor of the Bard of Avon's birthplace, Stratford, in an address to students of Central High School.

Sir Archibald Flower yesterday was the guest speaker at an upper class assembly and delivered an informal talk on Shakespears and his works. Most of Sir Archibald's discourse was devoted to the varied subjects and the knowledge of human nature shown in Shakespeare's works. In closing, the mayor expressed the hope that all the students would be able, at onen time or another, to visit the home of the famous writer during the festival held every summer when Shakespeare's plays are presented by the Stratford-on-Avon Players. This festival lasts several months.

Sir Archibald is visiting Washington with the Stratford-on-Avon Players who are to give a group of plays at the National Theater next week.

Quick Action Seen On Retirement Bill

Tilson Promises Amended Measure Will Be Expedited.

Early consideration of retirement legislation by the House was promised yesterday by Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, House leader.

He said that while no definite date could be named now for House action upon the Dale bill as amended by the Lehlbach bill ond consequently amended further through compromise with representatives of the Government employes' organizations on civil service retirement, he will have it disposed of as quickly as possible, in view of the present agreement which apparently terminates previous controversy.

Despite the fact that the entire structure of the Dale bill, which already has passed the Senate, is stricken out and the amended Lehlbach bill substituted, it would be possible to send the amended Dale-Lehlbach bill to conference, with an early vote in the House.

Representatives of Government employes have insisted that any measure to liberalize the civil service retirement law would receive an overwhelming majority if brought to a vote in the House.

DISAGREEMENT ENDS $547,165 BALM SUIT

Jury Is Unable to Determine Merits of Mrs. Brandon's Allegations.

GILLESPIE DENIES ALL

New York, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—The jury in the $574,165 breach of promise suit brought by Mrs. Frances F. Brandon against George J. Gillespie, president of the board of water supply, reported a disagreement late today after deliberating for three and a half hours and was discharged.

Supreme Court Justice Louis A. Valente warned the jurors not to discuss the case with any one.

Counsel for Mrs. Brandon immediately moved for a new trial. The court granted the motion and set April 10 as the date.

The jury retired at 2 p. m., after hearing testimony for more than a week, during which Mrs. Brandon charged the elderly defendant, who is personal counsel to Patrick Cardinal Hayes, with having cast her off after proposing marriage, stealing her lucrative legal practice and causing her Junior League acquaintances to avoid her.

Earlier in the week, Justice Valente dismissed the counts of fraud, slander, libel and accounting of a joint law venture from the suit and, in his charge to the jury today, told them the only quetaion for them to decide was whether Gillespie had asked Mrs. Brandon on November 15, 1924, to marry him.

Theodore Kiendl, Gillespie's attorney, denounced Mrs. Brandon's whole story as "a tissue of fiction" and asserted her case was "the most dastardly, the most rotten, most preposterous" ever brought into the supreme court.

MAN ASKS DIVORCE, CHARGING CRUELTY

Electric Worker Says Wife Broke Incense Burner Over His Head.

MOVING WAS NO HELP

Charging that his wife broke a clay incense burner over his head and threw an alarm clock and numbers of other articles at him, Clifford G. Sanford, a clerk employed by the Potomac Electric Power Co., yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to grant him a limited divorce from Shannon Florence Sanford, a minor, of Calvert street northwest near Nineteenth.

The couple was married September 7, 1928, and until February 12 last resided at the home of the wife's mother. The man tells the court that he thought his wife's disposition would improve if he moved her elsewhere, and accordingly, he states, he rented and furnished an apartment. Four days later, however, he asserts his wife began throwing things again and finally locked him in a room in which he had gone to seek shelter.

Sanford states that his wife refused to stay in the apartment during the week that they lived there, going to her mother's home to spend the night at least three times during the period. Sanford declares that when his wife broke the incense burner on his head and threw an alarm clock at him last February 19 he walked out of the house, and her most of the furniture. He when he returned found that his wife had moved and had taken with charges thta since then his wife has followed him and on one occasion has assaulted him on the street. Attorney Clifford P. Grant appears for the plaintiff.

SLAIN WIFE'S LOVES BARED AT INQUEST

Sister of Mrs. Moormeister Brings Mining Man's Name Into Death Inquiry.

PHYSICIAN IS QUIZZED

Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Testimony regarding two love affairs of Mrs. Dorothy Moormeister, 32, one with a Persian prince and the other with a Salt Lake City mining promoter, was presented today at a coroner's inquest into her death.

The love affair between Prince Farid, in Paris, and Mrs. Moormeister was revealed by her husband, Dr. Frank Moormeister, and her sister, Miss Amelia Hugentobler, told of automobile rides on which Mrs. Moormeister accompanied Charles Peter.

Mrs. Moormeister's body, broken beneath the wheels of her own automobile which had been driven over it repeatedly, was found last Saturday morning on a lonely road near here. So far the authorities have not been able to account for her movements between the time she left her home the previous evening and the hour her body was discovered.

Lives in Doctor's Home.

Miss Hugentobler, who for the last three years has lived in the Moormeister home, told the coroner's jury of alleged efforts made by Peter, regarded by Dr. Moormeister as a family friend, to persuade her sister to get a divorce. For the last few weeks before the slaying, Miss Hugentobler testified, Peter had called on Mrs. Moormeister four or five times a week.

Peter, Miss Hugentobler said, had been with Mrs. Moormeister and another woman along with a man she identified as "a prominent attorney of Philadelphia" one evening a few days preceding the slaying. Mrs. Moormeister had told her husband upon her return that she had been with another woman, the sister testified.

Returning home late, she had complained of the effects of a strong alcoholic drink she said she had taken and had expressed the belief she had been "doped," Miss Hugentobler declared.

Says Peter Contemplated Divorce.

She quoted her sister as saying Peter contemplated a divorce from his wife and that he had told Mrs. Moormeister she easily could obtain a divorce from Dr. Moormeister along with $80,000 alimony.

Dr. Moormeister was recalled to the stand today and questioned further about his knowledge of his wife's alleged relations with a man they met in Paris last summer and who was known to them as Prince Farid, of Persia. The husband told of finding a letter written by the prince after his wife's death in which he had referred to intimate relations between them.

The doctor said he had not suspected their romance until the discovery of the letter and that he had known of no other friendships she might have had with men.

Brickbats & Bouquets

By JAMES HAY, JR.

"WHAT," inquires a subtly flattering reader, "is the most significant development to date in the prohibition row at the Capitol and throughout the land?"

That obviously is a tough nut to crack, what with steamboats, speed boats, airplanes, automobiles, railroad trains and motorcycles pouring liquor by the ton into this dry Republic, some of the drys wanting the dry work investigated and some not wanting it, the wets chortling in fiendish glee, the courts crowded or clogged (according to who's talking) with liquor cases, and the underworld producing millionaires in the last eight years with alarming frequency and ease.

Nevertheless, by way of taking a shot at a problem which is engaging the best and most brow-wrinkling thought of Mr. Borah, and concerning which Mr. Wickersham has so far failed to speak with his accustomed cogent clarity, it does seem that for downright, off-hand, eye-filling significance no development thus far recorded excels the organization of the crusaders.

• • • •

THE significance rests not so much in the fact that the crusaders are out to scrap the Volstead act and to scrap it by wielding a balance of power between the two great political parties, as in the fact that this militant crowd is headed by a group of wealthy young men who are trying to line up 10,000,000 members, youthful and aggressive, in time to contribute the knockout punch to the political prize fight of 1932.

Ordinarily your rich youth takes no interest in politics. It holds for him neither the excitement of polo nor the fascination of flirtation nor the challenge of the daily struggle to clip the cash-giving coupons.

Ordinarily also, nowadays, youth is supposed to toss a flask into a capacious hip pocket, leap into a high-powered car and whizz merrily down the primrose paths of easy and perfumed dalliance, leaving the cause of temperance flat on its back to breathe its last or struggle along as best it may.

• • • •

BUT national temperance is what the Crusaderes, headed by such scions of wealth and influence as Charles H. Sabin, jr., John Hay Whitney and James Garfield, jr., are resolved to secure and temperance is exactly what they claim the Volstead act most thoroughly, impressively and spectacularly does not promote.

In ancient times the crusaders went forth in gleaming armor with deadly battle axes on prancing steeds, and the records they hung up for valor and endurance compelled admiration. Today the crusaders take the field with bank balances, check books and publicity, not to mention the pile-driving, bone-crushing enthusiasm and ardor that youth so easily develops.

As we started out to remark, it is a situation fairly reeking with significance when gilded youths, who can buy all the liquor they desire, cry aloud for temperance and proclaim from the tops of their bank vaults that the Volstead act makes temperance grotesquely impossible.

Just what that significance is, a Borah brain or a Wickersham investigation should be able to determine.

SEVEN HELD IN RAID NEAR POLICE COURT

Woman Booked as Alleged Proprietress of Cafe Where Rum Is Found.

ROVER AID SAW "TRADE"

A reputed "speak-easy" located across the street from the Police Court Building, on Sixth street northwest near D street, was raided by members of the Police Vice Squad yesterday. A woman and six men were taken in custody at the place and 16 quarts of liquor confiscated.

From a window in the office of Assistant District Attorney David A. Hart, in charge of liquor prosecutions at Police Court, Sergt. Oscar J. Letterman with Detectives Richard J. Cox and James Mostyn observed activities of the alleged "speak-easy" for four days.

An "undercover" agent was sent into the place, Sergt. Letterman stated, and succeeded in making a "buy." During his observations, the sergeant declared, he witnessed several persons coming out of the house apparently under the influence of intoxicants.

Margaret M. Price, 42 years old, alleged proprietress of the house, was booked on charges of sale and possession of liquor at the First Precinct. The six men, employed as iron workers, who were found in the place, were questioned and released as witnesses.

Finding of a half-pint of liquor in a restaurant on Good Hope road southeast near Nichols avenue, led to the arrest of the proprietor, John N. Austin, 41 years old, on a charge of possession of liquor, by members of the squad.

Machines Seek Gold Where Man Failed

Placer Miners Install Big Apparatus in Montana Field.

Special to The Washington Post.

Helena, Mont., Feb. 27 (A.P.).—On the site of Montana's first gold camp, great machines are being installed in the belief that they will succeed, where manpower failed, in developing rich pay dirt.

Gold Creek, historians say, was discovered as a source of the precious metal in 1852 by Francois Finley, part Indian, also known as Benetsee. He kept his find a secret, however, and it was not until 1860, when Granville Stuart found the stream, that it became a real camp.

Great boulders resisted the efforts of placer miners, although pans, accounts say, ran to 10 cents in gold and promised riches. Water, too, was hard to get, and rich gravel was 50 or 60 feet deep. Other camps were more attractive to early miners. Now reports say titles have been cleared up and a syndicate has been organized to dredge about 2,200 acres. Pits are being dug for the machines.

Twenty-two ground-to-plane radio stations are being installed in nine Western States.

CHURCH LANDMARK GETS NEW LOCATION

Metropolitan Memorial to Be Built in Wesley Heights, Near American U.

U. S. GAINS OLD SITE

Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, one of the Capital's landmarks, forced to move because of the Government's building program, will soon be located near American University in the Wesley Heights section of the city. This announcement was made yesterday by the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, pastor of the church, now located at 230 John Marshall place northwest.

While the announcement did not give the exact site of the new church, it is believed it will be on a plot bounded by New Mexico, Nebraska and Newark avenues northwest. The move will be accompanied also by a merger with the Wesley Heights Methodist Episcopal Church.

Under the terms of agreement with the Government, the church received $190,000 for the old building and site, but the church reserved the right to remove anything of a historical or permanent value. Many unusual relics adorne the building, inside and out.

The ivy on the east side of the church was grown from slips brought from the tomb of Martin Luther by Mrs. J. P. Newman, while the marble tiles in the vestibule were brought from the ruins of Solomon's Temple in Jerusalem by Bishop Newman.

The wood used in the pulpit and alter rail are from olive wood gathered from the Garden of Gethsemane, while the cedar wood used came from Mount Lebanon. This wood was shipped to Washington from the Holy Land in original legs, while the keystone from the arch above the pulpit was brought from Solomon's Temple.

Presidents Grant and McKinley and now Vice President Charles Curtis worshipped at Metropolitan Memorial. The pew now occupied by the Vice President bears a silver plate on which is inscribed, "The President." The late Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks was also a member of the "National Church of Methodism."

The building, or rather corner stone, was laid in 1854 and the present edifice completed in 1869. Under the contract with the Government the building must be turned over by January 1, 1931. Dr. Montgomery stated that work on the new church would be started just as soon as plans and a site are selected.

STATE RUM CONTROL ADVOCATED BY WETS

hart, president and director of research, respectively, for the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment; Alexander Lincoln, of Boston; Robert M. Harris, a New York broker; Fabian Franklin, a New York author; Henry Alan Johnston, representing the voluntary committee of lawyers, of New York, and Cole E. Morgan, a reporter for a Hearst newspaper.

All assailed the dry laws as bringing about a lawless condition in the country and destroying a principle of American government.

Mr. du Pont said he was doubtful that prohibition had brought any prosperity to the Nation in the past ten years. He said many big industrialists believed in prohibition for the working classes, but not for themselves.

The industrialist said it had been necessary to enact "monstrous laws" to enforce the eighteenth amendment because it had not met with the approval of the people. When national prohibition was enacted, he continued, there was little evidence among the States that it was desired by the people.

In an exchange with Representative Moore (Republican), Ohio, Mr Malick said that the public schools in Ohio had not been teaching "scientific temperance," but "scientific prohibition."

Representative LaGuardia, Republican, wet, New York, remarked that "whatever they taught in the schools the people are drinking."

Mr. Pitcairn said the people more and more were ignoring the eighteenth amendment and suggested that "we forget it" in order to devote the Nation's time and money to curbing "real crime."

PROMPT ACTION ASKED

on the tax books is an alias for the gambler arrested.

The correspondence, which included letters exchanged between Mr. Carter and Maj. Pratt, Representative Simmons, of Nebraska, chairman of the House subcommittee on appropriations; Assistant District Attorney Frank W. Adams, and other District and Federal officials, was not received at the committee offices until late yesterday afternoon, and neither Senator Capper, chairman of the Senate committee, nor Representative Zihlman, chairman of the House group, had time to study them yet.

Maj. Pratt, asked for a statement last night, merely reiterated his declaration of the previous day, saying:

"The police record of arrests and activities in fighting law violations speaks for itself."

He added, however, that his picket program which is criticized by Mr. Carter would continue without abatement "whenever or wherever the need arises."

Picket Request Denied.

In his most recent letter to Maj. Pratt this week, Mr. Carter declared, "Pending a much-needed change in the administration of the District government I had intended not to waste any more time writing to you: but in view of your effort to publish an alibi in the newspapers, I feel it my duty to submit further complaint and to deny publicly your untruthful statement that I had requested you to place pickets in the vicinity of the Government Printing Office or anywhere else."

Maj. Pratt never has said that Mr Carter had requested the pickets. The first information as to the reason for the pickets was obtained on Tuesday direct from the Government Printing Office itself when five officials of that office stated that the picketing was being done "in response to complaints by Mr. Carter." Mr. Carter was not one of these five, however, and all refused to elaborate upon that statement.

Mr. Carter also in his letter to Maj. Pratt claimed all credit for having the H street raid case presented to the grand jury, although that body substantiated the Police Court in holding that the unsupported affidavits of four printing-office employes, in view of the fact that no other evidence was secured, was not sufficient to warrant any indictment.

Portions of Letter Given.

Portions of the letter in which Mr. Carter summarizes events which have convinced him that Mrj. Pratt is "either insincere or incompetent" follow:

"The newspapers are quoting you as having said I requested you to picket certain places suspected of gambling in the vicinity of the Government Printing Office.

"Your statement is utterly untrue. I have never requested or even suggested that the police picket any place suspected of gambling or bootlegging in the vicinity of this office. Your announcement of such picketing can serve no other purpose than to act as a 'tip-off' for gamblers and bootleggers to suspend operations for the present or to place on me the odium of your self-inspired picketing order.

"My only request of you has been and is to enforce the law and to protect the employes of the Government Printing Office from the gamblers and bootleggers who have infested this neighborhood for many years. That you have failed to do during your administration as superintendent of the Washington Police Department, except for the few spasmodic responses to requests for law enforcement such as I have recently submitted to you."

Examples Are Cited.

Mr. Carter then cites several examples of instances which, he declares, convince of police "stupidity" and "indifference" or incapability in the matter of law enforcement.

In a "conspicuous example of the failure of law enforcement by District officials," he asserts that a raid was conducted with "customary police stupidity or indifference, which afford the chief gamblers time to escape and destroy the evidence." No further efforts were made to apprehend the offenders, he said, and consequently the case was nolle prossed "for the usual 'lack of sufficient evidence.'" The case was carried to the grand jury at Mr. Carter's insistence, but "again little or no effort was made by the police or the District attorney's office to obtain an indictment."

Taking one particular alleged offender, Mr. Carter declared: "Police records show he has been arrested on numerous occasions for gambling and liquor charges. In every instance, however, he has been left off with either the forfeiture of small sums or a suspended jail sentence.

Special Favor Charged.

"I believe I am justified, therefore, in asserting that ——— has enjoyed special favor for a number of years."

Mr. Carter also related an instance in which a young man ran into the Government Printing Office one day last week and complained that he had been beaten by men who charged him with tipping off the police on gamblers.

"This occurred while your pickets were on duty, but they seem to have been of more service to the lawbreakers than to a law-abiding citizen," he commented.

The exchange of letters between the public printer and the superintendent of police began February 1 with a letter in which Mr. Carter submitted copies of sworn statements concerning the location of alleged gambling and bootlegging places in the vicinity of the Government Printing Office. In a few raids, he asserted, the police "bungled" the case by permitting the operators to escape or destroy all evidence before they gained entrance.

Surprise Is Expressed.

In reply to this letter Maj. Pratt expressed surprise that a conviction was not obtained in the case as the affidavits alone "should have been sufficient," even though the police failed to obtain any evidence.

Complaint against the conduct of Detective Boxwell, who was one of the raiding party in the case in question, was voiced by Mr. Carter in his next letter of February 4. Stating that he examined several of the witnesses in the presence of Boxwell, the public printer added that the detective "appeared more interested in convincing me of the lack of evidence" than he did in obtaining conviction.

After the police chief had assigned Inspector T. R. Bean to investigate Mr. Carter's complaints and Capt. Reilly and Detective Boxwell had called on him, the public printer wrote to Maj. Pratt expressing surprise that Capt. Reilly and Detective Boxwell be called upon to make an investigation of their own conduct."

Maj. Pratt replied the following day that he was "very much surprised to learn that Inspector Bean had turned the correspondence from you over to Capt. Reilly and I agree with you that it was certainly not the proper manner in which an investigation of that kind should have been handled."

Personal Inquiry Asked.

The police superintendent added that he had directed Inspector Bean to investigate the matter personally and submit his findings to Leo Rover, district attorney, and had referred the complaint to Sergt. Letterman's squad with instructions to eliminate them.

In two more letters, written February 13 and 14, Mr. Carter again made the charge that a certain individual was enjoying "the police protection that other places in the vicinity of Government Printing Office have had for a long time."

He added that as "the police have utterly failed to protect the employes of this office" from the alleged gambling and bootlegging places, he would take "whatever steps are within my power to combat such evils."

To this Maj. Pratt replied, "With regard to your reference concerning my disposition to preserve law and order in this city, I think it is evident to all fair-minded persons that consistent effort has and will continue to be made by the department to accomplish this."

Mrs. Lawrence Richey Fails to Respond to Blood Transfusion.

The condition of Mrs. Lawrence Richey, wife of one of President Hoover's secretaries, who lies critically ill of meningitis in Emergency Hospital, was reported unchanged early last night. Attending physicians admitted it was "very grave."

Mr. Richey was at her bedside most of the day yesterday, according to hospital attaches. The diagnosis revealed that his wife's illness was a streptococci infection with secondary meningitis. A blood transfusion was tried Wednesday night, but appeared to help Mrs. Richey very little. She became ill shortly after returning to the Capital from Long Key, Fla., where she and her husband accompanied the President and Mrs. Hoover on a fishing trip.

HOME RAID DRY LAW IS HIT BY MITCHELL

Attorney General Declares Bill Is Too Drastic and Discriminatory.

WRITES CAPPER LETTER

Strenuous opposition to the severe search and seizure provisions of the Howell "home raid" liquor law proposed for the District w - contained in a letter sent yesterday to Senator Capper, chairman of the Senate District committee, by Attorney General William D. Mitchell.

In his letter Mr. Mitchell emphasized two points in criticizing the differences between the Powell measure and the draft of a proposed District liquor act prepared by the Department of Justice.

Letter of Mitchell.

These are as follows:

"First. In his bill, Senator Howell has added a provision to section 10, which allows search warants to issue in the District of Columbia to enter dwellings if a still is unlawfully set up or used therein, or if liquor is unlawfully delivered thereto or removed therefrom The national prohibition act now allows searching of dwellings only if there be proof that liquor is being sold therein. The effect of Senate 3344 (Howell bill) would be to subject the dwellings of persons residing in the District of Columbia to more drastic searches than Congress has authorized in the United States, Alaska and some of the insular possessions. I do not believe this discrimination would be justified. It is true that in some States local State Legislatures have made more drastic provision for search of dwellings than has the Congress in the national prohibition act, but that does not seem to justify lack of uniformity in Federal legislation. Furthermore, in my judgment, effort to improve the enforcement of the national prohibition act may better be expended, at least for the present, in other directions than in an attempt to make more drastic the provisions for searching private dwellings—an attempt which would arouse controversy with doubtful results."

View on Return Clause.

Scoring Senator Howell's proposal not to return liquor unless the lawful possession of it in the beginning could be proved, the Attorney General said:

"A serious constitutional question arises as to the validity of a provision which attempts to put the Government in an advantageous position as the result of a seizure in violation of constitutional guarantees, but aside from that, and as a matter of principle, the Government, by violating the constitutional rights of the citizen, should not be placed in a better position than it otherwise would be in. In the long run nothing will be gained for the cause of law enforcement by such means.

"In the other respects in which Senator Howell's bill differs from that prepared in this department, I see no reason to take any exception to what his bill contains."

Provisions on Warrants.

Warrants for search of private dwellings at present may be issued only upon evidence of sale, but the Howell measure would permit warrants for such search upon information of the presence of a still or that liquor had been taken to or from the dwelling.

Mr. Mitchell's letter was in response to a request for a report made by Senator Howell, when the senator submitted a copy of his bill in its final form to the Attorney General after the latter had criticized the search and seizure provision at the close of last year.

A memorandum showing the points wherein the Howell bill differs from the law as recommended in a draft presented by the Department of Justice was also ubmitted by Mr. Mitchell to Senator Capper, with the comment that the two points stressed in his letter were the two differences most to be emphasized.

Tourists Use Cave For Postoffice

LeaveNames and Addresses in Boxlike Formation in Cavern.

Special to The Washington Post.

Custer, S. Dak., Feb. 27.—In Wind Cave National Park south of here there is a cavern serving a unique purpose. Some 200 feet underground the cavern is called the "postoffice."

This cavern is the only one out of many in the cave where tourists and sightseers may leave mementos. Invariably these mementos are their names and addresses hastily scribbled on the back of an envelope or some other piece of paper and stuffed into one of the hundreds of little boxlike formations on the rock walls. These crystalline formations are natural and suggest the idea of the postoffice. A perusal of the "mail" reveals some interesting things.

One finds names and addresses from every State in the Union and even from foreign countries. There are hundreds of them in all kinds of handwriting and printing. There are business and calling cards with names in fancy printing or embossing; scores of checks with a name on the back; typed addresses from old envelopes; scribbled names on all manner of colored stationery; odds and ends from a wallet that served to carry a name and address. It is permissible to take these and many a petite miss or proud Beau Brummel has visioned his or her future love as they selected a half dozen or more names whose owners perhaps admonished, "Be sure to write and I will answer. Wind Cave is a half hour's drive from Custer and is visited by thousands of tourists every year.

Hungry Quail Army Devours Pea Crop

Ranch Manager Helpless as Birds Are Protected by Law.

Special to The Washington Post.

San Diego, Feb. 27.—Hordes of quail driven by hunger have invaded Monserrat ranch and are devouring fresh shoots of peas, the manager of the ranch has complained to County Agricultural Commissioner Robert E. R. McLean. More than 400 acres of peas have fallen before the advance of the quail army, McLean heard. The law protects quail and the ranch management appealed to McLean. The latter said he would be perfectly willing to help, but that his field of authority embraces only the pea crop and not the birds. The crop grower was referred to Game Warden E. H. Glidden.

"I think it is up to the warden in such circumstances to provide relief," McLean commented.

"While I stand here pleading for help, hordes of quail are marching over my fields eating the shoots faster than I could plant to replace them," the grower said. "Literally hordes. I never saw so many quail. When you look across the ground, all you can see is a mass of contented birds, growing fat on my peas. But the peas will soon be gone and I'll have to plant anew."

Brush fires left the country side bare of grass, causing the invasion, McLean believes.

Even If They Like It.

Milwaukee, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Cod liver oil is harmful for cows, it was discovered by experts at the State college of agriculture here. Although recommended for other farm animals, it was discovered that, fed to cows, the oil reduced the butterfat content of the milk.

Man Dies as Marrow Of Bone Goes to Brain

Rochester, Feb. 27.—A fractured leg suffered in a fall into a depression in the pavement in Martin street developed an unusual complication that resulted in the death at his home of Earl L. Yoeman, of this city, after he was believed to be well on the road to recovery.

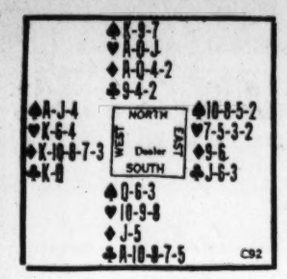
WORK ON BRIDGE

INTERESTING HANDS I HAVE MET.



The above hand was played in an Auction Bridge tournament of the American Whist League held some years since.

At all the tables South passed, West bid one No Trump, North doubled and East passed. At all of the tables except one South bid two Clubs and became the Declarer with that contract. It is probable that every North was tempted to bid two No Trumps, but thought it too dangerous, as the double had shown the full strength of the hand. South's Club bid, being forced, might have been based on worthless Clubs and a trickless hand, in which case two No Trumps might be severely punished.

At one table South realized that his partner, who had doubled after an initial pass by South, must be exceptionally strong, the minimum holding that would justify the double being six high cards apt to take tricks; so that particular South bid two No Trumps, despite the fact that he was under the adverse No Trump hand, and he obtained the contract.

In Contract, after North's double of West's No Trump, South would bid two No Trumps or three Clubs, and in either case North would bid three No Trumps.

The Play.

When the hand was played at No Trump with South the Declarer, West led his fourth best Diamond, which was passed up to South's Jack. The Declarer then appreciated that to make game he must establish South's long Clubs and get two Heart leads from that hand, it being safe to assume that West held the King of Hearts. Consequently, a Heart was led to trick 2, North finessing; and to trick 3 North led a Club, which South ducked. After winning this trick West could see nothing better than to continue his Diamond suit, permitting North to take two Diamond tricks, but in the end establishing two Diamonds for West. Had West shifted to Hearts or Spades he would not have found the result any more satisfactory. North won the second Diamond and led a second Club, which South again ducked, and West then established his Diamonds; but with South's Clubs established, the Declarer was able to take three Club tricks, three Diamonds and three Hearts, and go game without winning a Spade trick.

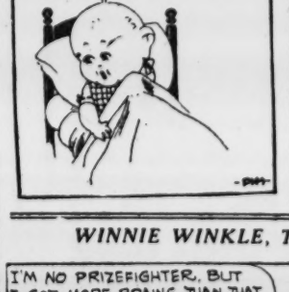
Baby Mine

MAW SAYS THE MORE SHE SEES OF HUSBANDS, THE MORE SHE WONDERS WHY SOME WOMEN FEEL SENSITIVE ABOUT NOT HAVING ONE.



Dare Interprets the Mode

So smart—this navy blue crepe de chine ensemble, "lightly" dotted. (Courtesy of Berard et Cie, Paris.)

Paris, Feb. 27.

IT'S hard on us of the limited pocketbook, but then I suppose that's the plot, so we just have to stand for it. Maybe one might go up into Canada and gold-dig a good-looking Indian out of a couple of dozen fox skins, if one were so inclined. Other than this I just don't see how we can fill the bill on fashion's heartless demands for bigger and better foxes in our wardrobe—and plenty of them.

In the first place you have to have a couple of little fox heads covering the pocket of your spring suit, noses down and earses up.

And then you have to have a huge big fox fur collar on your early spring coat, with the head right in the back and no tail at all.

And then your very elegant afternoon spring suit should have at least two foxes, mouth to mouth, by way of fastening the jacket at the hem and be matched with fox collars and cuffs.

Otherwise, my dear, I simply don't know what we can do with you, do you?

• • • •

Whereupon she dashed upstairs to put a little more sachet into the clever bag containing her one and only fox, because there's no use adding insult to injury if you only have one skin by throwing it all around the closet shelf and what not.

A stamped, self-addressed envelope sent to the Dare Department of The Washington Post, two embroidery hoops and a remnant of material, and you can make a bag for your fox fur to keep it away from harsh contact with the rest of the clothes-closet world.

• • • •

If you want to know about spring capes, just look at Bernard et Cie's printed blue ensemble that I have illustrated for you today. The dress was a love, and so was the cape-coat—but then, you can see they are for yourself.

• • • •

Walk gracefully, beautifully, in harmony and loveliness, the while your less enlightened sisters use the same amount of energy and leg movement just getting there. A stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of the Washington Post, marked "Beauty Leaflet," will bring you the very comprehensive and special directions for acquiring this graceful carriage with very little trouble.

Hem Hits.

Belts and waistlines in general are at the natural waistline of the figure.

Hips are smoothly covered, and no skirt fullness commences higher than halfway above the knee.

Even all around, medium long hems are favored by this house.

Afternoon dresses of the crepe and satin variety are slightly shorter than those of georagette and chiffon dresses.

Here's the reminder again: Weekly Dare fashion letter; Washington Post; every Sunday. Look for it.

Old Georgia Saw Mill Goes to Ford Museum

Brunswick, Ga., Feb. 27 (A.P.).—An ancient saw mill with its rusty smokestack, idle for many years, will be transplanted to Michigan soil by Henry Ford. Dismantling work started today, and preparations for shipping the mill to the Ford museum were arranged.

The manufacturer's attention was attracted to the saw mill by the smokestack, rising high above the trees on the Altamaha River at Darien, a short distance from Brunswick. The mill once sawed logs rafted down the Altamaha for many miles. Lumber became scarce and the mill was abandoned.

Dr. Brandes to Tell Adventures in Papua

Natives who mistook a visiting scientist arriving by airplane for a god coming in his heavenly chariot, the primitive culture of these people, and their little-known country will be described for members of the National Geographic Society at the Washington Auditorium this evening by Dr E. W. Brandes in an address on Papua.

Dr. Brandes visited the interior of New Guinea, by which name the island is more commonly known, to obtain cuttings of a giant sugar cane for the United States Department of Agriculture. The motion picture record of his journey will be shown in illustrating the talk.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"PISCES."

IF February 28 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m., and from 8:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m.

A startling change in your life is indicated by the stars to take place on this date, which will entirely alter previous plans for the future. Unfortunate time for business or financial risks.

The children born on this February 28 will have determined natures, and at times will be naughtily obstinate. They will have keen and active minds, and executive ability. They will be very fond of reading and will appreciate music.

You were blessed with a nature which enables you to see the big and the grand things of life, and it may be added to the clean things. You are not narrow minded, but you are pure minded. You have a great deal of respect for both your mind and body, and you are not going to abuse either by riotous and careless living.

You have more than one outlet for your mental energies, and your wide interests prove a safeguard and promoter of good health. Your ambition will never die, and you will always look forward to some goal, always have something to work for and to live for. You are not led by any one outstanding talent, but you can do a number of things and do them well. You are what is known as a capable person, and your common sense may be of more value than many more spectacular traits. You are not a victim of worry—"sufficient unto the day is the anxiety thereof" is your philosophy. You undress your soul at night, by shedding, as you do, your garments, the daily cares. You seek culture and refinement in the formation of your friendships—what a person is, and not what he has, matters to you. You are very domestic, and your greatest happiness lies within your home.

Successful people born on February 28:

Cornelius V. Lawrence, merchant, financier and former mayor of New York.

Geraldine Farrar, prima donna.

William S. Barnard, naturalist.

Franklin Mott Gunther, diplomatic service.

Victor L. Berger, Socialist.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"A Desperate Mother.

DEAR MISS McDONALD: I am a married man of 43, have been married for twenty years and have six children, 19, 17, 10, 7, 5 and 3½ years. I have been trying to solve this problem but I am wondering if I am right, so am asking you for advice.

My wife is 43 years old this June, 1930, and is from a good family. She has tired of marriage life so she left me and eloped to Philadelphia with another man, and has left me with the six children to care for. She says she doesn't care what becomes of them and if I thought she does what would become of them? I will do anything before I will give up my children. I hate to think I am married to a woman who does not care for her children, but her family thinks she is not to be blamed at all. I will do anything you say is the wisest thing to do that will be fair to the children, regardless of my own feelings. I really have no wife, but I feel I am responsible for the children's welfare and future and am going to do all I can for them. Four of them are small and helpless. I am a good, steady worker and I have a good position. Am no loafer and no drunkard. When she was home she had it easy, money, and her own way.

I have done my best for her and I see she just has no self-respect. I worked every day but she wasn't satisfied with me. What am I to think? When you see that she has done anything that is right for a mother to do please let me know what a father should do. Please help me. ONE BOTHERED MAN.

When a woman after 20 years of marriage, behaves in this manner there is usually involved a story with two sides. And the fact that her family, even in their distress at her behavior, condone it, lends weight to the supposition that some circumstance omitted from your version is the key to the situation.

However, you are not concerned, nor therefore am I, in passing judgment upon the woman who for some reason found her situation intolerable, and did the thing of all things hardest for a mother to do. Our concern is with your situation. You are, of course, entitled to a divorce and should seek one if your wife refused to share your home. But right here I want to tell you that regardless of your wife's reckless and desperate act, if you can get her to come back that is the thing to do.

The ignorant and the arrogant will tell you that you should consider her unfit to continue as the head of your home, unfit to rear the children and that her offense is one no man can forgive? Put their words down to ignorance. They belong to an age when human beings were burned at the stake.

You promised 20 years ago to "cherish" and "protect" this woman. You probably in those 20 years have done very little cherishing or protecting. Perhaps it was not needed. Well, it is needed now! So get busy. Whatever in your conduct caused your wife to leave the six children she brought into the world must be changed. If it was the usual indifference of the man who so casually becomes the father of six children, change your attitude. In any case locate your wife, ask her to return, and then consider the matter ended.

The breaking up of a home, where small children are involved, is no light matter, and the personal feelings of either parent are the very last things to be considered. Two adults warring over their relationship is a matter of small concern to any one but themselves. But the welfare of six children, their care and education, these things are vital to the world.

No woman can do for your children what their mother can do. And while divorce might mean sweet revenge for you, it would mean probable ruin for your children. Take your wife back if you can get her back. Be a better husband and start over again.

And let not the wagging tongues of the ignorant mislead you. The ignorant are still burning their brethren at the stake, mentally. Take as your model the man who said "Neither do I condemn you."

This column is for you! Your experiences, opinions and suggestions will help all who read this page. Express your views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

Honey as a Substitute for Sugar and Molasses.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

The following recipes suggest ways in which honey can be substituted for sugar or molasses in many common desserts.

BAKED HONEY CUSTARD.

½ cup honey.
4 cups scalded milk.
⅛ teaspoon powdered cinnamon.
⅛ teaspoon salt.

Beat the eggs sufficent to unite the yolks and whites, but not enough to make them foamy. Add the other ingredients and bake in cups or in a large pan in a moderate oven. The baking dishes should be set in water.

BOILED HONEY CUSTARD.

2 cups milk.
3 egg yolks.
1-3 cup honey.
⅛ teaspoon salt.

Mix the honey, eggs, and salt. Scald the milk and pour it over the eggs. Cook in a double boiler until the mixture thickens. This custard is suitable for use in place of cream on gelatin desserts, or to be poured over sliced oranges or stewed fruit.

JELLEFF'S
F STREET

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

ED WALSH with Joe Tumulty and many other admirers of Ethel Barrymore journeyed over to Poli's yesterday afternoon at matinee time to see their idol. Regardless of what some of the boys and girls of the press printed about the merits of her present vehicle, these old-time theatergoers believe that Miss Barrymore is just as great as ever. Well, she is—and no mistake! All Miss Barrymore needs at any time is a play—and especially a play where she can have lots of leeway; with good snappy conversation. She is a specialist in handling the bon mots of the drawing room. A combination, for instance, of Ferenc Molnar and Ethel Barrymore would just about knock a lot of theatergoers out of their seats, as the saying goes. As it is, there are many loyal followers of this star who care not one whit what sort of a play she has; just so they see the fair Ethel.

• • • •

This fellow Charlie Winninger, who plays the part of Cap'n Andy, in "Show Boat," at the National, is a real old time trouper—with a love for the theater that amounts to a religion in itself. He is born to the purple. In the theater since he was a boy, Mr. Winninger knows all the folk worthwhile who have contributed to the art of entertainment in this country during the past 30 years and more. 'Twould be rather hard to imagine a better Capn' Andy than Charlie Winninger makes of the old man.

• • • •

Patrons of the National Theater Players recall one of their young favorites playing this week with Miss Ethel Barrymore. The young lady is Miss Mary Loane. When she first appeared here as an ingenue she took the summer patrons by storm and great things were predicted for her in the theater. She is doing rather well, in the part assigned to her, and if some of her many friends fail to recognize her in the play it's because of that big blond wig she wears—a periwig that looks like some of those they wore in Queen Anne's time! If your memory goes back that far.

• • • •

Mr. T. D. Bonneville, manager of Poli's Theater, is all het up over three coming attractions and well he might be; for they sound rather interesting. They are: "The Criminal Code," the week of March 17; the revival of "The Merry Widow," with Donald Brian, the week of March 24, and "Journey's End," the great war play, the week of March 30.

Can You Do Your Housework?

If you are not as well as you want to be, if you are weak, nervous or rundown, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. Take at least three bottles. It will tone up your whole system and help you to eat better, sleep better and feel better.

Mrs. Marie Vriesenga, 2002 Lexington Ave., New York, New York.

"My work is keeping a rooming house in New York. I was weak and tired and didn't seem to feel well at all. Some friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it four times a day. It has helped me very much. I feel better in all ways now."

Ask Your Friends

Mrs. Paulina Pascuzzi, 316 Tremont Ave., East Orange, New Jersey

"I never had any appetite and I could not sleep well, and I was irregular and often suffered from headaches because of my age. I read a booklet left at my door, and so I took eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have also taken the Herb Medicine. I feel stronger in every way now. I have gained weight and am not nearly so nervous and can do my housework without getting too tired."

Edna Sluraff, 1129 DalySt., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

"I was completely rundown from nursing. I took four bottles of your medicine with very good results. I have been a nurse for twenty years without losing a patient, I am proud to say. I will continue to recommend any of the Lydia E. Pinkham products at any time and you may use my name."

SEVIER SWEARS KIN OF WIFE IS INSANE

Army Officer Lays Inquiry Into Spouse's Death to Brother's 'Mouthings.'

AUTOPSY IS POSTPONED

Honolulu, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—A sworn statement by Col. Granville Sevier, U. S. A., that his deceased wife's brother, Ralph Shainwald, is "insane and of unsound mind" today enlivened the legal controversy here over the newest investigation of the death in August, 1928, of Mrs. Marion Shainwald Sevier, Irvington, N. Y., heiress. Mr. Shainwald instigated the investigation.

Attorneys and interested officials, conferring today in the chambers of Circuit Judge A. E. Steadman, agreed to postponement of the autopsy scheduled for today until litigation arising from it could be settled.

Col. Sevier late yesterday withdrew consent for the autopsy because Sheriff Patrick Gleason, ex-officio coroner, had given permission to Mr. Shainwald to be present at the removal of Mrs. Sevier's body from the tomb in which it has rested here since her death. "That arrangement," Col. Sevier's attorney wrote the sheriff, "is contrary to the understanding we had on February 8, when we consented to the autopsy."

Today Col. Sevier filed a petition for injunction forbidding the autopsy, alleging that the sheriff's only reason for holding it is based upon suspicious "mouthings" of Mr. Shainwald, "who asserts said deceased was done to death by poison" and who "is insane and of unsound mind." This petition was discussed by attorneys and officials at their conference. It was agreed that the attorney general's office, as legal adviser to the sheriff, would demur to or answer the petition.

Mrs. Sevier left her husband a $700,000 estate, settlement of which is being delayed by this investigation. An autopsy performed last spring confirmed the statement of her personal physician, Maj. W. C. Whitmore, that death had been natural, due to acute cardiac dilation.

The Hawaiian department of the Army today received through the First Corps of the Army of Boston affidavits from Maj. Whitmore reaffirming his belief that Mrs. Sevier's death was from natural causes. The affidavits stated that Maj. Whitmore's recent letter to Sheriff Gleason, which induced that official to order reopening of the matter, had suggested an inquest merely to establish that death had been natural and to stop unwarranted charges.

Man Who Duped Harding Imprisoned As Imposter

Samuel Weinberg, Alias Lieut. Wyman, Seized, Destitute, in New York; Got Audience With President for Fake Turkish Princess Fatima.

New York, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—An international imposter, who once gained the confidence of President of the United States, today was taken into custody after being sought for almost a year to begin service of a prison term for practicing law without a license.

Samuel Weinberg, alias Lieut. Sterling G. Wyman, was arrested today as he walked down Broadway, unshaven, a sandwich wrapped in a newspaper under his arm and in his pocket two allegedly certified and canceled checks for $1,500,000 which he said he was wont to show to people to indicate the extent of his financial operations.

Taken before the Court of Special Sessions Weinberg was ordered taken immediately to the penitentiary to begin serving his six-month to three-year sentence. He has served several previous sentences in connection with his fraudulent operations.

In 1922 Weinberg, as Lieut. Wyman, convinced President Harding that he was a bona fide naval lieutenant and personal representative of "Princess Fatima," a lady who claimed to be a Turkish princess but wasn't. He secured an audience for her with the President.

While serving one jail sentence here in New York Weinberg wrote to several prominent people telling them he was a retired lawyer and philanthropist and intimated that gifts would be acceptable. When the prison mails began to be clogged with personal presents, letters, and books for Weinberg, authorities investigated and put a stop to his letter writing.

He explained his recent disappearance to the parole authorities today as having been occasioned by large financial operations which required his presence in Canada and Great Britain.

WHEAT RISE IS LAID TO U. S. PIT AGENTS

Futures Bids Attain Point Within 9 Cents of Grain Board Price.

SPECULATION IS HINTED

Chicago, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Above the hubbub of voice clamoring criticism of the Farm Board's grain policies were heard the shouts of traders today bidding wheat futures up within 9 cents of the price the Farmers National Grain Corporation is paying cooperative farmers for cash wheat.

Two days ago, at its weakest moment in years, March wheat sold nearly 20 cents a bushel cheaper than the Government's cash price.

Final wheat prices were: March options, $1.09¼; May, $1.13¾ to $1.13½; July, $1.13⅞ to $1.14; September, $1.17 to 1.17⅝.

U. S. Aids Advance.

Today's advance of 2½ to 3⅞ cents on the Chicago market was credited chiefly to the presence of Government agents in the wheat pit. Whether they purchased wheat today was not made known, but the traders knew the Grain Stabilization Corporation had bought 3,000,000 bushels Tuesday and stood firmly on the side of higher prices.

Omaha, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Members of the Omaha Grain Exchange today charged the Government had entered the field of wheat speculation by action of the Federal Wheat Stabilization Corporation in buying options in the futures market.

A prepared statement issued by Frank J. Taylor, member and chairman of the public relations committee of the exchange, said:

Statement by Taylor.

"The laugh is now on the Government. After spending years of time and barrels of printers' ink in criticism of grain exchanges and of futures trading, the Government, through its new grain control market, has bought several million bushels of futures.

"What is their purpose? Since about January 20 they have purchased in the terminal markets somewhere around 10,000,000 bushels of cash wheat at a price about 15 cents above its present value in the world's market. With a dead loss of about $1,500,000 haunting their dreams they have recourse to the speculator's method of recouping the loss. They bought more wheat this time in the futures market, but with the hope that later rising prices will enable them to recover past losses."

KLANSMAN DIES

WILLIAM F. ZUMBRUNN.

Former Counsel Of Klan Expires

William F. Zumbrunn Dies in California After Operation.

William F. Zumbrunn, former general counsel of the Ku Klux Klan in Washington, died Wednesday at his home in Beverly Hills, Calif., of cancer, according to word received here yesterday. Funeral services will be held there today.

An operation and a special serum failed to cure Mr. Zumbrunn of the disease which caused him to withdraw from active practice and go to the Pacific Coast about a year ago. He was a native of Nebraska and formerly practiced in Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. Zumbrunn achieved notoriety when he came to the Capital to defend Senator Carl Mayfield, of Texas, and Senator Daniel F. Steck, of Iowa, in election contests. While on that case he became affiliated with the Ku Klux Klan and remained in Washington. He was unmarried.

PUTNAM, PUBLISHER, DIES IN 85TH YEAR

Man of Letters and Civil War Survivor Is Victim of Long Illness.

WAS ACTIVE UNTIL END

New York, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Dean of American publishers, warrior and man of letters, Maj. George Haven Putnam is dead. The vigorous old man, determined to uphold the tradition of his family by "dying in the harness," succumbed to pernicious anemia, an illness which he had fought off for months. He was in his 85th year.

Maj. Putnam, president of G. P. Putnam's Sons, book publishers, had been confined to his bed only two weeks. Until nearly the end he had been active in the business that he had followed since the Civil War, carrying on the work of his father before him.

Last fall he submitted to an operation in an effort to fight off the illness. During the summer he had missed his annual trip to Europe for the first time in 63 years.

Members of his family found it difficult to force him to follow the rules for an elderly man, seriously ill. He persisted in walking to his office daily, as he had done for half a century.

Up until a week ago he dictated letters from his bed and kept in constant touch with his office.

Maj. Putnam was a Civil War veteran. On his last birthday he recalled his experiences in that war.

"I was informed by medical friends," he said, "that if I had not had two swamp fevers in successive years and had not later in the winter of 1864-1865, experienced such a long sojourn in Libby and Danville prisons, I might have lived to be an old man."

Arrangements for the funeral, which will be private, had not been completed tonight.

Six Months' Drive On Crime Planned

Chicago Reform Group Is Raising Funds to Fight Gangs.

Chicago, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—The secret committee of the Association of Commerce named its first objective today. It is to place Chicago on a new basis so that law-defying elements will avoid it within six months. The six months estimate was made by Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the association and only member of the secret committee, in a report to members of the association. It will take that length of time, he said, to get facts and convictions.

The committee, Col. Randolph reported, will stay with the crime problem until it has been solved to the satisfaction of the city's business leaders.

"The drive will be unremitting," he said. "Possibility of the expenditure of $1,000,000 in the work is recognized and the committee's next step will be a campaign to underwrite the clean-up. The 'secret six' has already received assurances that makes the collection of ample funds certain. One man agreed to subscribe 10 per cent of any fund raised up to a million dollars."

Sheriff Is Shot in Leg As Two Break From Jail

Sioux City, Iowa, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Freddie Dunn, Sioux City Bank robber suspect, and Lester Silvey, a prisoner, escaped from Woodbury Jail today. Deputy Sheriff James Crubaugh was shot in the right leg by Dunn, who was recaptured a short time later. Silvey was still at liberty.

Crubaugh and a trusty were attacked by Dunn in the cell block. Officers said Dunn was armed with a pistol which apparently had been smuggled to him by friends. Dunn was held in connection with the robbery of the Leeds State Bank.

Chicago Will Get Pay Day Tomorrow

Mark of $50,000,000 Is Reached in Rescue Pool; 42,000 Affected.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Saturday will be pay day in Chicago. This fact was assured tonight when Silas Strawn, chairman of the citizens rescue committee, said he had ben informed the $50,000,000 mark has been reached in the "rescue pool" and announced that his committee will meet tomorrow and authorize City Comptroller George K. Schmidt to issue pay checks.

The campaign swept on to reach the final goal of $74,000,000, the figure set as the minimum to keep local governments operating until 1928 taxes are available for collection about July 1. Forty-two thousand employes of the city, county and school board are affected by the announcement.

Additional "good news" was forthcoming from the Chicago Board of Trade, which announced that its directors had voted to admit to the list of securities on its market $30,000,000 of beneficial trust certificates issued by the Cook County taxpayers' warrant trust. Trading in the tax anticipation warrants probably will begin next week, it was stated.

BOY BADLY HURT WHEN HIT BY CAR

Cherrydale Woman Suffers Severe Hurts in Crash With Trolley.

BICYCLIST INJURES MAN

Traffic accidents throughout Washington yesterday sent several persons to hospitals with injuries, serious for the most part.

Running out into the path of an automobile while playing with companions at Twelfth and B streets northeast, 4-year-old Charles Holden, of 1110 East Capitol street, was critically injured when he was struck and knocked down by an automobile operated by Edward F. Green, of A street, near Second street northeast.

Green took the boy to Casualty Hospital, where Dr. Louis Jimal reported him suffering from a compound fracture of the skull. He declared that the lad had failed to regain consciousness and that he was in a dying condition.

Held Pending Outcome of Injuries.

Green was taken in custody by Ninth Precinct police and held pending the outcome of the boy's injuries. Police quoted Green as saying that the child was playing at the curb with several other youngsters when he suddenly darted into the street without looking and into the path of the car, which knocked him to the pavement.

Miss Gertrude L. Woodin, 59 years old, of Cherrydale, Va., was in a serious condition at Emergency Hospital yesterday, suffering from concussion of the brain, as the result of a traffic mishap.

An automobile operated by Miss Woodin, police reported, crashed into a Washington-Virginia Railway Co. street car near the tourist camp in Potomac Park. The street car was operated by John Evans.

Hit and Run Bicyclist.

An unidentified hit-and-run bicyclist seriously injured Charles Miner, colored, 40 years old, of the Negro Y. M. C. A., who received severe hurts of the spine at 7:40 o'clock last night while walking at Twelfth and T streets northwest. After striking the man, the bicyclist, described as a colored youth about 17 years old, hurriedly rode his wheel away. Miner was taken in the Eighth Precinct patrol to Freedmen's Hospital.

William Williamson, 34 years old, of C street near Eleventh street northeast, employe of the Potomac Electric Power Co., was seriously hurt yesterday when struck by an automobile while inspecting a manhole at North Capitol street and Florida avenue.

Bruce E. Brooks, colored, 22 years old, a taxicab driver, was taken in custody by Second Precinct police pending the outcome of Williamson's injuries. The taxicab, police reported, ran into the open manhole while Williamson was emerging from it. The injured man was taken to Sibley Hospital and treated for a possible fracture of the skull and severe cuts and bruises about the head.

Alexandria Woman Hurt.

Miss Rosie Mills, 28 years old, of Alexandria, Va., suffered bruises about the legs yesterday, police reported, when struck by an automobile driven by Leonard Gates, of Fifteenth street northeast near C street, at Eleventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

The injured woman was driven to Emergency Hospital by Gates and treated by Dr. John Lewis.

Dentistry Traced To Ancient Egypt

Cosmopolitan Club Hears Wood Fillings Were Once Used.

Ancient Egyptians practiced a form of dentistry as evidenced by the finding of crude wood and ivory fillings in the teeth of mummies hundreds of years old, Dr. Arthur B. Crane, noted Washington dentist, told the members of the Cosmopolitan Club at the weekly luncheon at the Carlton Hotel yesterday. Dr. Crane, guest speaker, was introduced by Dr. G. Albert Smith at the request of the president, William Callahan.

Dr. Crane told of the history of dentistry, explaining that the profession was really launched in America by a French dentist who came over with Lafayette. He also explained that Paul Revere was one of America's first dentists. The speaker explained that for many years the profession was carried on by physicians and said that a Maryland college refused an offer to establish a chair of dentistry in its medical department, which led to the establishment of the first dental college in the United States.

Robert MacChesney and Bert Lennon won the attendance prizes, which were donated by Wooten Young and R. P. Whitty.

TARIFF APPARITION FACED BY COALITION

Coalition Works Strenuously.

The coalition, faced suddenly with the threat of the apparent combination, had worked laboriously throughout the day to tighten its lines and earlier had sought to postpone the vote until today with a view to having the Caraway lobby committee go into the matter.

To this end Senator Caraway had called Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Oil Producers Association, and said to be the mainspring in the combination, to appear before the committee.

What is referred to as the $500,000 train, though just why is not known, is said to have arrived from Oklahoma several weeks ago, bringing 500 oil operators and business men headed by Gov. Holloway himself and with such left wings as former Senators Harreld and Gore. Headquarters were set up at the Mayflower Hotel and it is strange that so much work could have been done since that time without its becoming apparent until yesterday.

Interests Are Frank.

The oil people want a $3 per barrel levy on petroleum and 50 per cent ad valorem on by-products, the sugar people now want a compromise 2-cent rate on raw Cuban sugar and the lumber people wanted $8 per thousand board feet on all lumber now on the free list. The interests concerned are all very frank about this. The work that had been accomplished, apparently, is that they had decided to pool their strength. If they had been successful the very heart would have been taken out of the great coalition fight. Furthermore, the way would have been paved for deals on cement and brick and generally such a rewriting of the bill as to make its complexion more like that of the House measure than any one had believed possible at this late stage.

Gov. Holloway and former Senator Harreld were most conspicuous at the Capitol during the day, the latter button-holing senators outside the chamber and the former senator availing himself of the privileges of the floor.

Strangely enough this combination reared its head just after definite steps had been taken to speed up the consideration of the bill. To this end Democratic leaders had even proposed a limiting of debate, but failing to get it had proposed night sessions.

Alexandria Man Killed When Struck by Train

Stepping into the path of a speeding Washington & Old Dominion Railway Co. electric train near South Barcroft, Va., shortly before 8 o'clock yesterday morning, Henry Bennett, 60 years old, of Alexandria, Va., was struck and fatally injured.

Unconscious, Bennett was picked up near the tracks, placed in the automobile of A. Paturzo, of Arlington County, Va., and rushed to Emergency Hospital. The injured man suffered a fractured skull, broken nose, internal injuries and face lacerations. He died an hour after being struck by the train.

Bennett, it was reported, was walking along the railway tracks and stepped into the path of the speeding train, which was bound toward Alexandria.

Doles' Searchers Get Clews in Hunt

Hunt for Missing Pilot Is Confined to an Area of 50 Miles.

Los Angeles, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Search for the missing Western Air Express Transport plane of Pilot James E. Doles and two flying mates today simmered down to a 50-mile area north of San Bernardino, Calif.

The most accurate clews to the whereabouts of Mr. Doles and his two companions, A. W. Bieber, copilot, and John W. Slaton, steward, came from this mountainous district.

Mr. Doles' ship disappeared in the storm-swept mountains Sunday while flying without passengers from Kingman, Ariz., to Los Angeles. Once before, in the New Mexico wilderness, Mr. Doles was missing for 24 hours, but came out safely. This time, without a report from him in nearly four days, apprehension grew hourly that disaster had overtaken the crew.

Three parties of sheriff's deputies penetrated the brush-covered slopes on the southern side of the San Bernardino Mountains, one by foot, another on horses and a third in motor cars. Overhead, four planes of the Western Air Express searched from the sky.

Mr. McGarrah, who Wednesday called on President Hoover, will proceed to Europe where he will head the International Bank of Settlements, which will have its headquarters at Basel, Switzerland.

Mr. Young also announced that the board appointed J. H. Case, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, as Mr. McGarrah's successor. Mr. Case will fill Mr. McGarrah's unexpired term, which ends December 31, 1931.

and a crowd thronged the corridors.

Mrs. Helen Marple Snook, wife of the former professor of veterinary surgery, pleaded with the governor for half an hour, leaving him much disturbed. The chief executive was visibly moved as newspapermen were admitted to his office afterward and he sat silent for three minutes before he told them of the conversation.

Mr. Ricketts, who previously had announced that he would ask the Federal district court here for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that his client did not have a fair trial in case the governor's decision was adverse to his cause, changed his mind after an informal talk with Federal Judge Benson W. Hough. Judge Hough said he did not feel his court should take any action in view of the United States Supreme Court's refusal to review it. Mr. Ricketts then made his final plea.

HOWELL'S FUTILE BILL.

Senator Howell not long ago submitted a preliminary draft of a District of Columbia bone-dry bill to the Attorney General for an opinion. When it was received, he threw it in the wastebasket. The bill as introduced included provisions that the Attorney General had held unwarranted, unwise or unconstitutional. The bill was referred to the District committee, from which it was referred again to the Department of Justice. In a letter to Senator Capper, chairman of the District committee, Attorney General Mitchell renews his opposition to certain features of the bill. The provision which allows search warrants to issue to enter dwellings if a still is unlawfully set up or operated therein, or if liquor is unlawfully delivered thereto or removed therefrom, writes the Attorney General, is discriminatory and too drastic. The provision prohibiting the Government from returning liquor unlawfully seized unless the owner can prove original lawful possession would be unconstitutional.

The local enforcement machine needs tightening. Only 38 District policemen at present have authority to enforce prohibition, and the conferring of authority in this respect on every member of the force is a provision that properly should be included in a District dry bill. But an attempt to sweep away the inviolability of a man's home, as guaranteed by the Constitution, is not only futile but is calculated to stir up bitter opposition to the entire measure.

Attorney General Mitchell does well to call attention again to these unconstitutional provisions. The Senate District committee should throw out Senator Howell's freak proposals and report out a bill that would be constitutional, designed to improve the local enforcement machine. Such a measure should command general support.

SANTO DOMINGO'S FLARE-UP.

Revolutions in the Latin-American republics are usually directed against the chief executive. The current uprising in the Dominican Republic is no exception to the rule. The insurgents have taken possession of the capital at Santo Domingo because they fear that President Vasquez will "juggle" the election to be held in May so that he may continue as president. It appears that the trouble would be at an end if guarantees of a fair and impartial election were forthcoming.

Gen. Vasquez has been president for six years. He had his term extended two years in order that he might continue to direct various projects that the government had undertaken. In doing so his opponents claim that he broke a campaign pledge to serve but one term and not to stand for reelection. Dissatisfaction has been gaining momentum since he announced his intention last October to again run for the presidency.

There is also a financial angle to President Vasquez's fall from popularity. His administration has been promoting an extensive campaign of public works and operating various public utilities. The Dawes budget commission which visited the island republic a year ago recommended a sharp retrenchment of public expenditures and disposal of the government-owned utilities which were used for patronage purposes. President Vasquez accepted the report.

Indications are that Vasquez has been a competent and popular president. But he seems to be a victim of the belief that only he is capable of carrying on the work he has begun. From a practical standpoint his continuance in office may have been a good thing for the republic. But suspension of law to keep an individual in office is dangerous, and invariably brings unfavorable reaction.

Settlement of the dispute should not be difficult, if the president allows repeal of the amendments to the electoral law enacted since he took office. He is reported to have promised that they would be repealed. A guarantee of an impartial election would remove the immediate cause of the revolution.

CAUSES OF BANKRUPTCY.

Considerable interest has attended the investigation of bankruptcies and their causes undertaken by Yale University and the Department of Commerce. Last year the loss in bankruptcies was $650,000,000. The American people have had to pay heavy tribute annually to business failures, honest and dishonest. The study that has been completed was undertaken in New Jersey, that State having been selected as typical for "clinical purposes." The investigators found that fully 75 per cent of the bankruptcies could have been prevented. The solution of the problem lies in applying to business the "principles of preventive medicine."

The factors involved in bankruptcies are listed as follows: First, personal factors; second, business methods employed, and, third, the extent to which abuses in credit contribute to the disaster. Under personal factors are listed education, living expenses, previous experience, &c. The investigation of business methods involved an inquiry into turnover, inventory and books, credit losses, previous failures and insurance. Credit extension is, of course, a topic of itself. Under personal factors the investigators found that bankruptcies are caused more or less frequently by illness, accidents, too high living expenses and inadequate training. They found that credit was often improperly extended. They found a woeful and widespread ignorance on the part of those involved in bankruptcies concerning adequate bookkeeping systems. Inventories were taken at infrequent intervals or not at all, and there was no idea as to turnover.

But what is the remedy? There can be no law to compel a shopkeeper to carry insurance, take regular inventories or keep his books according to an accepted system. It is easy to suggest that principles of preventive medicine be applied to business, but it is not so easy to discover how they may be applied.

THE PROBLEM OF SUGAR.

The American household is not yet free from the danger of a higher duty on sugar. An effort is to be made to reverse the vote taken in the Senate in committee of the whole. The tariff bill is open to amendment in the Senate, and Senator Smoot will try to rally a majority for an increased sugar duty. When the bill goes into conference another last effort will be made to saddle upon the consumers a tax which, it is alleged, will help to protect the domestic sugar producers.

So long as sugar is admitted free of duty from one part of the world an increased duty on sugar from another part of the world will not shield or protect the domestic producer from foreign competition. Proof of this statement is shown by the fact that domestic production has fallen off in spite of the increased duty applied in the Fordney-McCumber tariff. In 1922 the duty as applying to Cuba was increased from 1.35 to 1.76 cents a pound, but domestic sugar production is less now than it was in 1922. The duty of 1.76 cents a pound is about 100 per cent ad valorem, as sugar is sold on board ship in Cuba at 1.80 cents a pound.

When an industry fails to thrive when protected by 100 per cent duty it is evident that other factors than the tariff are at work. The domestic sugar producers until lately have stubbornly refused to take these other factors into account, and still harbor the delusion that a higher duty on part of the imports will contribute to their prosperity. They now admit that sugar from the Philippines, free of duty, is a growing menace to them, but instead of demanding a limitation upon the Philippine imports they resort to a foolish agitation for the independence of the Philippines. The United States will not cast the Philippines adrift for the sake of shutting out Philippine sugar. It is a waste of time for the domestic sugar producers to ask Congress to embroil this country in international difficulties for the purpose of imposing a duty on Philippine sugar.

The circumstances surrounding the problem of sugar are different from those affecting any other item in the tariff bill. Domestic industry can not supply the country's sugar demands, no matter how high the duty may be placed. Cuba or the Philippines must furnish one-half of the country's needs. A higher duty on Cuban sugar, leaving Philippine sugar free of duty, merely adds to the cost of sugar to the American consumer, without benefiting the domestic industry a particle.

The sugar problem is really a question between the consumers of the United States and the Republic of Cuba, which furnishes nearly one-half of the imports. A higher duty does not settle this question, because consumers must still purchase this foreign sugar. The domestic industry can not supplant Cuban sugar. High freight rates, the difficulties of labor, the ravages of insect pests and other factors have actually diminished domestic sugar production in spite of the 100 per cent duty against Cuban sugar.

When Congress refuses to increase the sugar duty it protects the American household against an unnecessary tax. The vote in the Senate committee of the whole gave satisfaction to the entire public. Until this problem can be studied further and a solution found which will encourage domestic production, it would be unwise to impose a needless burden upon every American household.

The most objectionable feature of the tariff bill as passed by the House was the increased duty on sugar. Millions of consumers object to this duty. They are justified in this stand, because the sacrifice demanded of them does not correspondingly benefit domestic producers. It is a foolish and oppresive tax upon every American table. Congress should study this question and find a solution that will encourage domestic sugar production. A higher tax on the consumer is no solution at all.

ON THE QUOTA BASIS.

Representative Johnson's bill to put immigration to the United States from other American countries on a quota basis was so liberally amended during the preliminary discussions in the House immigration committee that he has introduced a new bill. The revised measure no doubt represents the wishes of the committee. It is obviously a compromise, and for that reason may have a better chance of enactment.

The new bill would limit Western Hemisphere immigration to 76,064, whereas the limit fixed in the previous Johnson bill was 50,000. Virtually every serious objection to the measure, except one, has been ironed out. Canada and Newfoundland have a generous allotment of 67,556, which is about 1,000 more immigrants than these countries sent to the United States in the fiscal year 1929. These quotas, as well as those for Cuba and Mexico, would be based on four times the number of American citizens taking up permanent residence in those respective countries.

No fault can be found with an arrangement which gives neighboring countries four times as many immigration privileges as the United States asks in return. On its face this arrangement might appear discriminatory against the United States, but actually it is not so, for immigration from the Latin-American countries, excepting Mexico, is very small.

The various quotas for South American countries provide for approximately 3,000 immigrants from that continent annually. Without any restriction on immigration South America sent only 3,703 persons to settle in this country last year. No hardship would be worked by the proposed measure on this group of nations.

The one point on which the Johnson bill is likely to meet serious opposition is the Mexican quota. Although Mexico is allowed a quota four times as large as the total American emigration to that country, its allotment would be cut down to 2,900. The immigration from Mexico in the fiscal year 1929 was more than 40,000.

The Johnson bill would reduce the influx of aliens from American countries by more than 40,000 annually, but nearly all of this reduction would fall on the Mexicans. This provision makes a controversy certain. Mexico is not anxious to lose its people, but the agricultural interests of the Southwest demand Mexican labor. To placate this section the bill provides for admittance of 11,021 Mexicans in 1931 and 6,961 in 1932, after which the regular quota would obtain. It remains to be seen whether Congress will agree to this compromise.

Now that thirteen distinguished authors admit that they are against the prohibition law and that they are distinguished, there's nothing left for Congress to do but to repeal the law and apologize.

Hilary Jones has lot in his locker concerning the London conference, but not as much as Davy will have in his.

It is said that 180,000,000 people speak the English language. Seems like we ought to know a few of them.

THE INTERNATIONAL BANK

By HON. LOUIS T. McFADDEN,
Of Pennsylvania, in the House of Representatives, February 26.

Mr. Speaker, reports emanating from Frankfort, Germany, the latter part of January stated that Gates W. McGarrah, chairman of the board and Federal Reserve agent of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, was to become chairman of the board of directors of the Bank for International Settlements. Confirmation of this assumption has appeared in the New York papers during the last week, and I am now inquiring as to whether it is true that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York is proceeding contrary to the administration's policy as described by Secretary Stimson, of the Department of State, on May 19, 1929. I believe that the State Department should immediately call upon the Federal Reserve Board for full information regarding any activities of the officers and directors of the Federal Reserve banks, and the board itself may have engaged in, in connection with the organization or proposed operations of the Bank of International Settlements. If the State Department does not do this, we can feel justified in assuming that the department's statement of last May meant nothing, and was issued for some other purpose than the impression that it created at that time. The statement was apparently intended to be definite and complete in expressing administration opposition to our being involved officially in any way with the machinery or affairs of the international bank. Does this mean that the Federal Reserve management has been acting contrary to a mandate of the State Department? If the Federal Reserve management is participating in any manner in the discussions attending the organization of the Bank of International Settlements, so as to insure the control and management of all international financial transactions between this country and other countries through the use of the assets of the Federal Reserve system, it apparently means that the participation of this country in the Bank of International Settlements is to be by and through the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co. I insist that Congress should be fully advised and that legislative authority for such relationship with J. P. Morgan & Co. to represent the Federal Reserve system in all international financial operations should be considered, or the right of the Federal Reserve system to participate indirectly by and through the private banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co. in their contact on international matters should be forbidden.

As soon as the organization is perfected and the bank opened under the Young plan, almost the first business will be to supervise the issuance of $300,000,000 worth of reparations bonds. Of this issue the plan contemplates the sale in this country of $100,000,000 or more of these reparations bonds or as much more as the American market will absorb, to be immediately followed by a further bond issue of many hundreds of millions of dollars. Accredited authorities estimate that the United States is to absorb within the next five or six years between five and six billion dollars' worth of these German reparation bonds. I respectfully invite the attention of our State Department to this announced plan and ask them whether or not they are going to give their approval publicly or by silence to an exploitation of the American public in this manner. The State Department has heretofore assumed to pass upon or disapprove issues of securities by foreign countries to be sold in the American market, which precedent should establish a definite responsibility in this particular instance.

In view of the fact that the Morgan firm is very shortly going to offer these securities to the American investing public, I desire now to raise the question definitely as to the legality of these reparation bonds, proposed to be issued and sold in part to the American people through the house of J. P. Morgan & Co. and the Bank for International Settlements.

PUTTS.

I can sink them on the practice ground,
I can sink them when it doesn't matter.
Putting for a seven I have found
I am not disturbed by idle chatter.

Straight into the cup the ball will go
When no gain or glory it will get me.
Be the green a fast one or a slow,
I can putt and nothing will upset me.

Birds may sing and caddies romp about,
Men may start a fight and I'll not heed it;
This I know, beyond the slightest doubt,
I can make the putt when I don't need it.

But a doleful golfer's life I lead,
Often am I tempted to forsake it;
Let me face a three-foot putt I need
It is ten to one I can not make it.

Man's Changing Opinion Didn't Make a Flat Earth Round.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

SUPPOSE you should travel in a strange land and come to a walled garden provided for the common people—a place of beauty containing all things necessary for the comfort, happiness and wellbeing of the inmates.

You would say to yourself: "This was provided by a good man with a kind heart."

Suppose, then, a native of the place should say to you: "The man who provided this garden for the people is a cruel monster who finds pleasure in torturing children and causing the aged to suffer."

Would you believe the evidence of your own observation and reason and respect the builder of the garden, or would you accept the testimony of the native and despise him?

In the early dawn of civilization God was pictured as a cruel and heartless being who encouraged his friends in the butchery of women and children.

As men became more compassionate and just and decent, they began to realize that God could not be such a monster.

"God is good," they said, "and His mercy endures forever."

Thus they attributed to Him the good qualities they found admirable in themselves.

But other men—such men as Voltaire, Paine and Ingersoll—persisted in seeing the God portrayed by primitives.

They hated the portrait and therefore thought they hated God.

They would have been as wise to hate a waterfall because primitive men saw devils in it.

Is a fact changed by testimony? Or a good man made evil by slander? Or God's nature changed because man changes his opinions?

It is unthinkable that the Creator of the universe should be other than supremely just and righteous and worthy of adoration.

If men do not adore Him and revere Him, it is because they do not see Him as He is.

The "God" men reject or scorn or blaspheme is not God at all, but a horrible creature of their imagination.

The nations imagine many gods, of many kinds, but the Supreme Intelligence remains the fountain head of all that is right and true.

Whether regarded as a god driving a chariot or as a sphere of flaming gas, the sun remains the unchanging source of light and life.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Scene; Pacific Ocean. Time: About 1940. The British and Japanese governments have declared war, and hostilities between the two fleets are about to begin under the rules and regulations reached at the naval limitations parley.

Message from Japanese admiral:

Admiral Mahatsu presents his compliments to Admiral Wheemish, of the British fleet, and asks if he is prepared to accept battle as per the adopted schedule?

Message from British admiral:

Admiral Wheemish thanks Admiral Mahatsu for his kind message and begs to state that the battle had entirely slipped his mind. He thinks, however, that he can arrange to participate if the Japanese admiral insist.

Message from Japanese admiral:

No hurry. Take your time.

Message from British admiral:

Will be glad to engage you tomorrow, weather permitting. Kindly give me your fleet strength.

Reply:

Will use three first-class battleships, 30,000 tons: ten cruisers, 14,000 tons: six light cruisers, 8,000 tons; two submarines. Will this be satisfactory?

Message from British admiral:

There must be some misunderstanding. I have but one first-class battleship. Left others at base. Very sorry.

Reply:

That's all right. I'll loan you one of my battleships. That will make two on each side. Will that do? If not, pray command me.

Message From British Admiral:

Very sweet of you Send battleship at convenience. Will probably feel odd in strange craft at first, but hope it will be all right after I get the hang of it Hearty thanks.

Reply:

Understand you have three submarines to my two. What do you think we had better do about this inequality?

Message From British Admiral:

I suggest that one of my submarines be used as a noncombatant. How about designating it as the committee boat for judges, &c.?

Reply:

Splendid! What time will you wish to fight? How about tomorrow morning at 10?

Message From British Admiral:

Can't fight tomorrow at 10. Have appointment with dentist. Would Tuesday at 1:15 do?

Reply:

Sorry, but am giving a bridge party on flagship Tuesday. Would love to have you over

Message From British Admiral:

Auction bridge or contract?

Reply:

Contract.

Message From British Admiral:

Forget battle. No sense to it, anyhow. Will attend bridge. Best regards to entire fleet.

GOVERNORS' SALARIES.

A bill to increase the salary of the Governor of New Jersey from $10,000 to $20,000 a year, introduced in the Legislature last week, is the result of an agreement reached by the Republican legislative leaders in December. If it becomes a law, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger, the successor of Gov. Larson, who takes office in 1932, will receive the second highest salary of any State executive in the Union. New York now pays its governor $25,000 a year; Pennsylvania, $18,000, and Illinois, $12,000. These are the only States where the governor receives more than $10,000. That sum is paid by California, Florida, Massachusetts, Ohio and West Virginia, as well as New Jersey.

These salaries could not be termed high, but they are well above the average. The salary in two States is $8,000; in eleven, $7,500; in two, $7,000; in three, $6,500; in three $6,000; in twelve, $5,000; in two, $4,500; in one, $4,000, and in three, only $3,000. The lowest figure is reached in New Hampshire, South Dakota and Vermont. Obviously, the salaries of governors are absurdly small, in comparison with the pay of executives of private corporations having comparable budgets. But the reason offered for the proposed increase in New Jersey is that several other State officials now receive much more than the governor.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Whole-Hearted Cooperation of Music Lovers and Public-Spirited Citizens Should Make Symphony Orchestra a Success.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In The Post of February 25 there appears an editorial on the National Symphony Orchestra which should have the attention of all music lovers in the City of Washington.

Reference is made in this editorial, however, to a "half-hearted attempt some four years ago," to establish an orchestra in this city. In connection with this it must be remembered that at that time Washington was far less musically educated and had less population to draw upon than now. Nevertheless, a very brilliant program was rendered, under the direction of an experienced and capable leader, and before a house that was filled almost to capacity. Moreover, the musicians were paid full time for their work at the concert and also for each of three rehearsals, which is more than can be said of the present organization, to date. If it had not been for an error of judgment in engaging a high-priced soloist there would have been no deficit for the guarantors to bear.

In view of the sacrifices of time and money made by the devoted band of citizens who worked faithfully for weeks and months and contributed generously in a financial way to keep alive the traditions of Reginald DeKoven and found a National Symphony Orchestra, it seems to the writer preeminently unfair and unjust to call this former effort a "half-hearted attempt." Until the new organization can achieve a similar or greater success, either from the standpoint of musical artistry, skill of leadership or financial return, no reference should be made to this previous effort except by way of praise.

The only situation in which Washington can have a permanent orchestra will be through the whole-hearted and united support of all the musical people in the city, in addition to that of a few public-spirited citizens of wealth, organized without reference to cliques or the personal aspirations of groups or individuals, and particularly by not ignoring the foundations that have been laid in the past nor the people who gave of their best to lay them.

Tribute to Hon. J. Hamilton Lewis, Some Time Senator and Maybe Again.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: We are now told that Hon. J. Hamilton Lewis is a native of Virginia. Why has he forsaken Georgia, his birthplace for so many years? Perhaps it is due to the fame of Virginia as the "Mother of Presidents."

Only a few of his intimates know that Senator Lewis is a painter of profound ability and a connoisseur of art not equalled in America. His work with the brush shows matchless skill in technique and coloring. Only a few of his intimates know that he is a finished pianist and cellist, and delights in practicing the works of other great masters. Only a few of his intimates know that he is a wonderful singer, and loves to entertain a select company with one of the choicest barytone voices in the world. His recitals of literary gems of various languages, delivered with exquisite nuances of irony, pathos, satire, sarcasm, raillery, and tragedy, are the delight of his intimates.

It is remembered how former Senator Lewis shook the Commonwealth of Massachusetts one campaign by telling them of the interest the Mikado had in the election there of a governor. It is wondered now if he is again on good terms with the Mikado, or would his election as senator imperil our peaceful relations with Japan? Senator Lewis is needed in the Senate, and the public needs him. The State of Illinois should lend him to the Nation.

Milk Bottles and Flower Gardens Fairly Safe—Why Should Newspapers in Racks Teach Children to Steal?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It seems to me that objectors to newspaper sales racks on the ground that they are a temptation which leads children to steal are looking at the character-training puzzle from a false angle.

Resistance to temptation develops character. Acting on that truism it seems to me that an intelligent parent could make use of the newspaper rack in a salutary object lesson if, unfortunately, the child needs it.

If the racks are objectionable because they tempt children and others to steal, the dairyman does wrong when he makes an early morning delivery of milk on a front doorstep. Flower beds on front lawns and in the parks would exert an evil influence for the same reason. Yet owing to a generation or so of character training, the milk bottles and flowers are fairly safe.

Canopus Swings Into Southern Sky on March 5—Its Light 650 Years Old.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: According to J. Gruber's Town and Country Almanack for the Year of Our Lord 1930, Canopus will be south on Ash Wednesday, March 5.

The sun of evening will be found in the firmament about 35 degrees below the brightest of all suns of night, Sirius, of the constellation Canis Major. However, Canopus is not visible norht of latitude 37 degrees—that is, north of the region aroud Richmond, Va.

White Canopus is the second brightest sun of night. It belongs to the constellation Argo Navis, the Ship Argo. Its astronomical letter is Alpha of Carina. So huge and bright is Alpha Carina that its light equals about 80,000 times that of our own sun. It must necessarily be very brilliant, because it is far distant from us. In fact, the light-rays reaching us from Canopus this evening left its fiery surface approximately 650 years ago.

GROCERS' PETITION UNDER ADVISEMENT

Justice of District Supreme Court Considers Fight on Packers' Plea.

DECREE IS LONG FOUGHT

Justice Wendell P. Stafford in District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday took under advisement the application of the American Wholesale Grocers Association to dismiss the plea filed by Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. for a modification of the packers consent decree.

Action of the judge followed lengthy arguments on the motion to dismiss. There was no argument on the merits of the plea of the two packing companies for modification.

The decree has been in the courts and the subject of bitter legal controversy since it was signed on February 27, 1920. The decree as signed regulated the Armour, Swift, Cudahy and Morris packing firms and require that they divorce themselves from all business not directly connected with the packing industry.

Consent of six packing firms to the modification of the decree were filed during the day.

Those consenting are: Nevada Packing Co., Frederick W. Croll, Glenn & Anderson Co., Chamberlain & Co., J. M. Wilson Co., and Middletown Beef & Provision Co.

Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. attacked the decree after the Supreme Court's decision on the grounds that economic conditions have changed so much that there is no reason for the decree. They set out that the chain stores and other improvements in merchandising have shown that their consolidation of allied businesses prior to the signing of the decree was not contrary to public policy and the antitrust acts.

Mother Gives Clothes To Baby; Dies of Cold

Magdalena, N. Mex., Feb. 27 (A.P.). Wrapped warmly in clothing sacrificed by a mother dying of exposure, the 2-year-old child of Mrs. Virginia Lopez was found asleep in the mountains near here beside the frozen body of the mother. They had become lost in the hills.

A party of searchers located the dead mother and her child late last night. The baby, snuggled in clothing the other had taken from her own body, suffered only slightly from lack of food.

YOUR INCOME TAX

NO. 26.

Business property kept in repair may be the subject of a depreciation allowance. The allowance for depreciation is intended to cover the estimated lessening in value of the original property, due to wear and tear, decay, &c., which in time will require the abandonment or replacement of the property, in spite of ordinary current repairs. The cost of incidental repairs, which neither materially add to the value of the property nor appreciably prolong its life, may be deducted as a business expense, provided the plant or property account is not increased by the amount of such expenditures.

If, however, the repairs are of such a kind as to make good the depreciation, for example, a new floor or a new roof, the cost is not deductible. The amount expended by a taxpayer during the taxable year for improvements, replacements or renewals of a permanent nature is a capital expenditure, and may not be deducted from the gross income for such taxable year. The amount so expended should be charged directly to the property account or to a depreciation reserve account, according to how depreciation is treated in the taxpayer's books of account. A prorate portion thereof may be deducted as depreciation each year of the life of such improvement.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

REPORTS of a new gold discovery in Alaska are probably the explanation of a rather belated boast about the Alaskan Railroad. When Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, cited that as one of the great pieces of constructive legislation under the Wilson administration it was the first time any one had boasted about it for a mighty long time. Said Mr. Shouse:

"Authorization of the Alaskan Railway, which was to open the territory to settlement and which checkmated the interests seeking to control its vast resources." This in a list of the Wilson administration's achievements. Actually the Alaskan Railroad is a nightmare to any sane railroad man who thinks about it, unless he wants to use it as an illustration of why Government ownership is bad. One never hears George W. Norris, or Robert B. Howell, the close competitors for the title of being the prize advocate of Government ownership, talking about the Alaskan Railroad. They know too much about it.

* * * *

DESPITE the fact that one of the main objects of its construction was not only to open up Alaska, but to keep the wicked Guggenheims from developing its resources in a selfish way, and despite the fact that there are no more sturdy opponents of letting any big interest get away with anything, these senators, one of whom bolted Hoover and supported Smith on the water power issue, talk about the Alaskan Railroad not at all.

Just before the final vote on that Alaskan Railroad bill, George White, then a member of the House from Ohio, later chairman of the Democratic national committee, and now thinking about running for governor of Ohio, went to Mr. Wilson. White was an old Klondyke prospector, and knew something about the situation. He talked for some time, and then President Wilson said:

"Why didn't I know all this before? It is too late to change now."

So the bill passed. That was in 1914.

* * * *

IN 1923 Warren G. Harding decided to go up to Alaska and see why this rich Alaskan territory was not developing, despite the railroad. He had been told that the trouble was red tape, and he conceived the idea of going up there, taking the three Cabinet members who had most to do with it with him, and getting rid of the red tape over the luncheon and dinner table each day. He actually dreamed that some day, a hundred years hence, the folks in Alaska would celebrate his birthday as the man who had started Alaska on the road to prosperity.

Those of us who accompanied him, with Herbert Hoover, Dr. Work and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, will never forget the depression he showed as the transport Henderson brought him back after a trip on that railroad.

But the terrible fact was that the population along the entire line, including both terminals, was barely 6,000 souls, including Indians and Eskimos. Although the passenger fare was 12 cents a mile, it was then losing $1,000,000 a year in actual operation, besides, of course, paying no interest on the $50,000,000 sunk in it.

So it is not surprising that this is the first time any one has boasted about the Alaskan Railroad for a long time.

DEATH ENDS COLORFUL CAREER OF "POKER ALICE" TUBBS, 77

the hectic days of Tombstone, Carson City, Dodge City and on the Brazos.

Born in Devonshire, England, Alice came with her folks to America and went into the gold and copper mining country. There she married a mining engineer while she was in her early twenties. It was from him she learned the relative values of a straight flush in competition with aces on tens full. Soon her ability with the cards or over a roulette wheel attracted the proprietors of the gambling houses, who bid for her favors; and when Alice dealt, sweaty pokes of gold dust clunked on the table.

Bearded miners "fresh from the creeks, dog dirty and loaded for bear" swarmed around the table when Alice dealt the cards. It is tradition of the country that disputed bets were settled by a glare from Alice where nothing less than pistols would have sufficed had a man dealt.

Roamed Through West.

Beaten back with the frontier as the Santa Fe and other roads pushed westward, Alice followed the trails to the North, then back to the East.

Down in Arizona this season, back to her Nevada next, Leadville, Colo., or Deadwood, in the land of the Dakotas, might see her next.

In Silver City, N. Mex., she was a novelty at dealing and her claim of having made $6,000 in one sitting, as her share of the house game, went undisputed.

The romance with the mining engineer ran out as did the veins of gold sluiced out of the Western creeks, and Alice married W. G. Tubbs, known as a big-time gambler, a sort of "Nick the Greek" of his day. Tubbs found Alice's luck more dependable than his own and went into an eclipse, allowing Alice to handle the bets and bankroll for the family.

Years later Alice married George Huckert, of Sturgis, S. Dak., but after his death she resumed the name of Tubbs.

Caught in Land Rush.

Between her engagements as a dealer for others or chances she took at operating her own games, Alice found time to take part in the rush for "free lands" when Oklahoma was partly tamed and thrown open to settlers. To participate in the rush, however, Alice was forced to ride relays from her home to the homestead territory of the Southwest.

In the rush for land Alice was again thrown into contact with the lawless of the white and red races.

With the coming of the Federal law in the Indian Territory, Alice and the crowd were driven from spot to spot and as more settlers arrived the gambling industry was further harried, not without, however, frequent letups as administrations changed.

Pardoned by Governor.

Nature, whose needs had long been denied in the long nights under kerosene lamps over card tables, and the smoking pistol, started tolling off the lives of Alice's playmates.

One after another they died, some in their boots, others in a lone prospector's camp under Colorado skies, or a crawling, choking death on the alkaline Nevada desert.

Alice went East. Back to Sturgis and her cabin on the sunny side of Bear Butte Creek. A brush with the prohibition law started her on her way to jail, but she was pardoned by Gov. W. J. Bulow, who said:

"I can't send a white haired old woman to jail on a liquor charge."

Complications followed her recent operation. Today she died, and another page in the book of Western lore was turned.

EDUCATION CABINET SECRETARY FAVORED

N. E. A. Convention Recommends Separate Department Once More.

APPROVES WILBUR STUDY

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 27 (A.P.). A department of education with a secretary at its head in the President's Cabinet was advocated again by the department of superintendence of the National Education Association at today's session of its annual convention.

The convention gave evidence of a desire to be courteous to the study undertaken by Secretary Wilbur through a national advisory committee on education, appointed by him to consider the whole question of the relationship of the National Government to public education in this country.

The statement said that the association views with genuine professional interest the increasing attention which public education is receiving from the National Government, and mentions the White House conference on child health and protection and the committee on illiteracy and adds that "still more significant" is the naming of a committee representative of the important educational associations to inquire into policies which the Federal Government should adopt.

Another resolution adopted set forth that the association considers it the duty of educators to see that national ideals and aspirations shall be implanted in the hearts and minds of youth in each generation, that each child should have an equal educational opportunity, fitted to his needs, that instruction must be extensive and varied to meet these needs, and that all members of the teaching profession must be adequately trained.

This resolution also says that school buildings must be properly designed and equipped and that plans are approved for cooperative research being made in the United States Office of Education. Congress is urged to make adequate appropriation for a period of years for comprehensive study of basic reports.

Belief is reaffirmed in a more extensive educational program even if it makes increased cost of education imperative. Radio is recognized as a powerful instrument of far-reaching importance. The American team consisted of Sergts. John S. Domzalski, Cleveland, Ohio; Freeman, Kansas City; F. L. Brauer, Kansas City; H. P. Clary, Richmond, Va., and E. V. Maddox, Adamsville, Ala.

Hoovers Halt Reception to House Group

Illness of Mr. Taft Is Reason for Change in Plans.

By JEAN ELIOT.

IN view of the critical condition of Mr. William Howard Taft, former President of the United States and more recently Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the President and Mrs. Hoover regretfully cancelled the reception in honor of members of the House of Representatives set for last evening.

Following the lead of the White House, the Congressional Club has recalled invitations for its reception this evening in honor of the Speaker of the House and Mrs. Longworth, postponing the fete indefinitely as a tribute to one of the most beloved men in public life.

Illness and death have shadowed this first year of the Hoover administration and curtailed plans for a most comprehensive program of official entertaining. Earlier in the season there was a 30-day period of mourning for the late Mr. James W. Good, Secretary of War, which made necessary the postponement of several of the state functions at the White House and caused all manner of festivities in which Cabinet members, the diplomats or representatives of other official groups were involved either as hosts or guests, to be put off or abandoned.

When the President and Mrs. Hoover went to Florida for a holiday further rearrangements of the White House schedule became necessary, and the reception to the House, finally arranged for last evening, had already been postponed once.

Mrs. Hoover yesterday received Signor Edgardo Simone, distinguished Italian sculptor, whose work is being exhibited at the National Gallery of Art until next Monday. Signor Simone is doing a bust of Justice Harlan Fiske Stone and Mrs. Stone was present when he called at the White House.

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

The medium chosen for this interesting model is lightweight woolen in popular green tones, which makes it so suitable for street, sports, classroom or travel.

It will prove a very smart addition to your spring wardrobe, because of its charming wearability as well as its clever lines.

It is the new molded silhouette with flaring even hemline that is becoming to most figures. The belt is placed at normal waistline. The collarless neckline is chic. The tie is inserted through a slashed opening below the V-neck and knotted, creating a sunburst effect.

Style No. 8200 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. For the 36-inch size, 3½ yards of 39-inch material is sufficient to make it.

It's an opportunity! For the making of this swagger model is so entirely simple. It is practically only a two-piece circular skirt to be seamed and stitched to the two-piece bodice.

Covert cloth is very, very smart and adapts itself beautifully to this sports type.

Plain silk crepe, printed silk crepe, canton crepe, crepe de chine and knitted wool jersey weaves fashionable suggestions.

All patterns of Lucille Lorraine styles are 15 cents each. Mail your order to our Fashion Department, The Washington Post, 259 Fifth avenue, New York City. Be sure to write your name and address clearly and give the number and size of the pattern.

Dewey's Flagship Wanted for Mall

Lieut. Col. Grant Believes U. S. S. Olympia Would Be Addition.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, executive officer of the National Park and Planning Commission, yesterday declared Admiral Dewey's famous flagship, the U. S. S. Olympic, would be an attractive addition to the Mall.

He pointed out that the ship could be moored in the Potomac River near Potomac Park, or might be placed at the foot of B street near the turn of the Rock Creek and Potomac Parkway.

A measure by Representative Cochran, of Missouri, providing for the use of the ship, now out of commission at Philadelphia, as a memorial to Spanish War veterans, has been favorably reported by the House naval affairs committee.

[COOKING SCHOOL ECHOES]

Matty's Lemon Meringue Pie

and a pastry short-cut

I call this Matty's lemon pie because a man from Missouri told me it was as good as that made by an old colored cook named Matty—and he once rode 10 miles on horseback and rowed a mile across the Missouri River just to eat her lemon pie.

It's just sweet enough—with an overtone of fresh, piquant fruit, crowned with a pert meringue browned to a golden glow and served in a Crisco pastry shell, as crisp on the bottom as it is around the edge—as only Crisco pastry can be.

1 lemon, juice and grated rind
1 orange, juice and pulp
2 egg yolks, beaten light
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons Crisco
1½ cups water

Beat egg yolks light and stir in mixed dry ingredients. Add liquids, lemon rind and Crisco. Cook in double boiler until thick. Cool. Pour into baked shell. Cover with meringue (2 egg whites beaten stiff blended with 4 tablespoons granulated sugar) to which has been added 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Brown in moderate oven (350° F.) for 15 minutes.

Flakier Pie Crust
with a time-saving suggestion

Crisco pie crust is flakier, more tender—sweet-tasting, too, because Crisco itself tastes so sweet and fresh. And because Crisco stays sweet, you can keep this pastry dough, already mixed, in the icebox for a week and bake a crust just when you need it. The thorough chilling will make the crust even flakier than usual.

2 cups flour
⅔ cup Crisco
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
6 to 8 tablespoons cold water

Sift dry ingredients together. Cut Crisco in well with two knives. Add water gradually and only enough to hold mixture together. Roll ¼ inch thick on floured board. For baked shell, take half of recipe and cover inverted pie plate. Leave enough dough to fold back to make a firm edge. Prick well with fork to prevent bubbles. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 minutes. For two crust pie, bake at 450° F. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake until filling is done.

Taste Crisco's sweet, fresh flavor

HAVE you ever tasted Crisco itself? We suggest that you do so.

You taste milk. You test eggs. Now, taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Then you'll understand why Crisco's own sweet, fresh flavor so improves the taste of your cakes, pies, hot breads, cookies and fried foods.

These recipes have been tested and approved by cooking authorities. You will get best results by using level measurements and the ingredients specified.

CRISCO was used in the Cooking School recently conducted by this paper

Mrs. Frances Northcross, in The Post Cooking School, made a point of modern methods in cooking. Naturally, then, she used Crisco, the modern shortening. Not only is Crisco easy to use; in addition, it helps you secure better, surer results.

Crisco is the registered trade-mark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Co.

POLICEMAN'S KILLER GUILTY; FACES DEATH

the morning of July 6 his brother opened fire on the policeman. After McDonald had fallen and in turn had shot Albert Aldridge, the latter dropped his pistol. Alfred Aldridge stated that he then picked up the gun, put it in his pocket and hurriedly left the scene.

Sergt. John H. Fowler, of the Police Department, was the principal Government witness yesterday. The sergeant testified that the bullets which killed Policeman McDonald had been fired from the pistol found in the defendant's room.

The trial opened Wednesday, and the first day was featured by the collapse of Mrs. Alice McDonald, wife of the slain policeman. Mrs. McDonald, as in the previous trial, fainted when shown the bullet which the Government alleged caused her husband's death.

TODAY—Last Times of "GRAND PARADE," with Helen Twelvetrees and Fred Scott

TOMORROW AT 10:30 A. M.

The most powerful drama that ever wrenched a heart! ..Scenes that draw the nerves as taut as bowstrings!.. Alive with elemental passion and warm human tenderness!..Saturated with reality!..Dwarfing into insignificance all the plays and pictures of the past!.."Grischa" is a blazing challenge hurled in the face of the world!

"Grischa;" his love for the fierce and abandoned Babka; his hates and his misfortunes, would melt a heart of stone. Nothing yet conceived has equalled this irresistible theme of one man fighting for life against a million.

DEPOSED PERSIAN RULER SUCCUMBS

Sultan Ahmed, Once Shah, Dies in American Hospital in Paris.

WAS 32 YEARS OF AGE

Paris, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—The deposed Shah Ahmed, of Persia, descendant of the prophet and reputed to be one of the richest men in the world, died in Paris today at the early age of 32.

His death came in the American Hospital in Paris, and tonight his body was taken to the Mosque for the last rites. Only a few friends accompanied it.

The former shah was deposed in 1925 by the Persian Mejlis, and since had spent most of his time in France. Even before he was deposed he was accustomed to making frequent and long pleasure trips to Europe, and these were among the causes of his downfall.

He occupied two of the best rooms at the American Hospital and in addition to four nurses brought two of his own Persian servants to attend him. The cause of his death was reported to be cirrhosis of the liver with complications of the kidneys. He had been sinking into unconsciousness for some time and his physician had given up hope for him.

In October, 1925, Sultan Ahmed, then Shah of Persia, was deposed by the Mejlis, which also decreed the overthrow of the Kajar dynasty. On December 13, of the same year, the constituent assembly elected Riza Kahn as the new shah and made the crown hereditary in his family. Riza Shah was crowned on April 25, 1926.

The Kajar dynasty had ruled Persia since 1779. The resolution deposing Ahmed said that the ruling dynasty had been removed for the sake of the national welfare.

Ahmed Kajar was the seventh of the Kajar line and succeeded to the throne in 1909 when he was eleven years old. He replaced his father, Mohammed Ali, who abdicated. Until 1906 the Shah of Persia was one of the few remaining absolute rulers of the world but in that year, after popular demands for representative institutions, the Mejlis was instituted and a constitution approved.

Ahmed had spent much time away from Persia on pleasure trips to Europe and much dissatisfaction developed in Persia. More and more of Ahmed's power was curbed and early in 1923 he ceased to occupy the throne, moving from the imperial palace to a home outside of Teheran and shortly thereafter to Paris.

Thieves Steal Liquor After Breaking Door

Jimmying their way through a rear door of a drug store on H street northeast near Thirteenth street, thieves helped themselves to six pints of prescription whisky and nine pints of rum, cigarettes, toilet articles and candy, valued at $40, early yesterday.

The robbery was discovered when Charles Twine, manager of the store, of Thirteenth street and Florida avenue northeast, opened the store for business yesterday morning.

You might think it unnecessary bother to raise tomatoes from special seed—to send experts to the Indian Ocean for spices—to age cider vinegar for months in wood . . . just to make Ketchup.

How to Keep Well

X-RAY FILMS AND DANGER.

THE burning of X-ray films has been the subject of investigation more than once and the facts are easily accessible. They are given in Dr. Alice Hamilton's "Industrial Poisons in the United States."

In 1900 there was a tragedy due to fumes from the burning of X-ray films in Leipzig. Eight people lost their lives. An analysis of the gases given off by heated and burning films showed that three were highly poisonous.

The gas which causes almost instant death is hydrocyanic acid. In the Leipzig fire some of the victims were found to have died instantly and in whatever position they were when the fumes struck them. The death of this group was ascribed to hydrocyanic acid. When about fifteen grams of film is either burned or heated to a fairly high temperature without burning, five cubic centimeters of this very poisonous gas is generated. The gas which produces coma, nervousness, edema of the brain and slower death is carbon monoxide. Heating or burning about fifteen grams of film generates about 260 cubic centimeters of this dangerous gas. This is the monodorous gas which we have heard of as being a source of danger in garages and around automobiles.

The third dangerous gas given off by heated or burning films is the brownish-yellow fuming material which goes by the name of nitrogen oxide. This gas is very irritating to the air passages. If death is not instantaneous trouble caused by edema of the larynx or lungs due to this gas may develop a day or more—or even week—after exposure. Deaths from carbon monoxide may also be delayed a day or more.

The volume of this gas given off by heating about 15 grams of film is about 150 cubic centimeters. During the World War we gathered a great deal of information about these nitrogen gases and their dangers.

Some of this information concerned men working in factories where explosives were made and some of it related to exposure of soldiers in the battlefield. Of these three gases, nitrogen oxide is the least painful because it gives warning by its color, odor and its irritating qualities, and also because it is not so poisonous as prussic acid gas. Carbon monoxide is colorless and odorless, but it is far less poisonous. The gases are formed when film is sufficiently heated even though they do not burst into flames.

A small amount of collodion will make enough poisonous gas to kill a great number of people.

SHARKEY FORCES SCOTT TO QUIT IN THREE ROUNDS

Moore Gains Approval of Johnson

Big Ex-Birmingham Pitcher Holds First-Day Interest.

Compared to Marberry in Size and Appearance.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

BILOXI, Miss., Feb. 27.—Although the first day of training at a major league spring camp is insignificant, the players merely being asked to loosen up their arm muscles and do a little running to strengthen the legs and aid the wind, Manager Walter Johnson this morning took particular interest in watching Pitcher Carlos Moore in action.

Although this big Birmingham rookie did nothing to write home about last season, winning but five games in twelve decisions with a pennant-winning club behind him, Scout Joe Engel has recommended him most highly, even comparing him to Fred Marberry. In two respects Moore and Marberry are alike—general size and appearance and the ability to work often because of their strength—but otherwise it is up to Moore to prove his case.

"He may have a lot of stuff," said Johnson after this morning's drill, "but, of course, it's too early for him to begin showing it yet." In form Moore reminds one of the veteran spit-baller, Stanley Coveleskie. He gets the ball away from him with a shoulder-high overhead motion, but, to a certain extent, pushes the ball.

To Become Pupil Of Coaches.

Perhaps this push was evident, because his muscles have not yet stretched out; but if this is Moore's real style, Johnson intimated that the big rookie would be turned over to one of the coaches and taught either to get his arm higher or to deliver the ball with more of a side-arm motion. Either of these changes would give him more speed, and he already has quite a good deal of this, according to reports.

Moore is just a youngster and of ideal build, being 22 years of age, 6 feet 2 inches tall, and weighing 185. This will be only his third season in the professional game. He graduated from the sand lots of Cleveland, Tenn., to the Pensacola Club of the Southeastern League in 1928. He participated in 35 games that year, winning 15 and losing 9, being sold to Birmingham that fall.

With the Barons, Moore did nothing but relief work for more than one-third of the season and performed so well that he was made a regular starter. He explains his rather poor record of but five victories and seven losses to the fact that he filled "I'll save yuh" roles between his own assignments, taking part in 29 games all told.

As another Marberry would come in quite handy for the Nats, Manager Johnson has promised the big fellow a real trial.

Team Well Pleased With Field.

When the batterymen reported at the Biloxi Field this morning all were exceptionally pleased with the lay-out. The out field is as green and as smooth as a billiard table and the fences are so far away that Babe Ruth in his palmiest days could not even come close to knocking one out of the park. The infield, which will not be used for sometime, is equally good, declares trainer Mike Martin, who does not hesitate in saying that the playing field as a whole is as good as the best in either major league and better than most, and "Sir Mique" should know whereof he speaks.

Pitcher Herbert Pyle, draftee from Chattanooga, reported this morning after the workout was completed. Now only catchers Bennie Tate and Roy Spencer, the near holdouts, are missing from the first squad here.

As a reward for leading the American League hitters of 1929, Nick Altrock, who batted, 1.000 by singling his only time at the swing block, won himself a two-year subscription to the American Golfer.

Game Boxer Never Hears Count of 10, Tunney Says, Telling of Own Knockdown

Retired Champion, Resting Before Entering Business, Talks of Fights; First Thought When Floored by Dempsey Was Feeling of Comfort.

By BRIAN BELL.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Gene Tunney, retired undefeated heavyweight boxing champion of the world, plans to "get well," he said today, and then go into "some business." Convalescing from a recent operation in New York the man who left the ring and the championship behind eighteen months ago watched with keen interest the heavyweights who battled tonight.

He has not had a boxing glove on since he climbed between the ropes at the Yankee Stadium in July, 1928, after his farewell bout with the rugged Tom Heeney as his last victim.

No Sign of Invalid Is Noticed.

There was no sign of the invalid about the former champion as he walked into the home of one of his oldest friends at Miami Beach, where he did much of winter conditioning when he was the ruling king of the heavyweight group.

He carried a cane to bolster a side weakened by the surgeon's knife, but the supporting stick seemed to apologize for its presence. There was no semblance of excess poundage and in fact Gene reported his weight 192 pounds, the figure at which he boxed at his best.

With the cares and annoyances of the championship behind him, Tunney was the "old Tunney" of Speculator and Stroudsburg before he won the title from Jack Dempsey. The same bright twinkle was in his eye and as he talked of boxers and boxing he suddenly became serious as he concentrated on driving home the exact shade of meaning he wished to emphasize.

Smart Boxer Takes Full 9 Seconds.

"A really game boxer never hears the count of ten," he said. "If he can hear, he will get up." And again "the boxer who knows his business, after he has been knocked down, remains down until the count of nine. Those nine seconds belong to him, not to his opponent. They are his and his alone and he has the right to them to clear his head. Only a foolish person, with perhaps some false pride, comes bounding to his feet before he has his 9 seconds rest. Probably he will be knocked down again and then he may not be able to get up."

The former champion talked freely and authoritatively of his only knock down in the seventh round of the second fight with Dempsey. "I had often thought, of course, that I might be knocked down some time and I had considered ways to offset this moment when and if, it came.

Watch for Foe's Carelessness.

Usually there are two courses to pursue. Get up, grab and go down again for another count after the blow to the body which is sure to com. And again if necessary. The other is to take advantage of a likely carelessness in your opponent and try to get in a telling punch at once. I could do neither, Dempsey kept his chin against his chest and I could not hope to land a blow there. In 20 rounds I never struck him on the chin. So I adopted a third solution. I circled and got in two terrific punches, one of them the hardest I landed in either fight with Dempsey."

"What were your thoughts when you found yourself on the floor?"

"How pleasant and how comfortable it was there, and this, mind you, with one leg twisted up under my back."

Madden and Greb Gamest.

The former champion turned to talk of game fighters. "Two of the gamest men I ever knew stand out in my memory," he said, "Bartley Madden and Harry Greb. You could hit them again and again and know that they would keep coming back, trying to land blow for blow with you until they could land no more.

"And there are many others. Of course there never has been a question of Dempsey's gameness. Johnny Risko is another and Tommy Loughran, for Loughran is not blessed with the equipment of some boxers. He never knocks an opponent down, and a good punch is the best defense one can have, for then he is assured of respect before he starts."

Tunney had never seen Phil Scott, the British challenger, and could offer no forecast of tonight's bout. "From the information I have of his style I would say that he will be knocked out," was his guess.

Record Entry Lists Close Tonight for Post's Annual A. A. U. Court Tourney

A RECORD entry list for the fourth annual A. A. U. basket ball tournament to be held under the supervision of the District Association for the first time was forecast last night as teams began their late hustle to file entries before the lists for the seven classes close tonight at midnight. More than 100 teams are expected to compete in the big tournament to be held, starting March 10, under the auspices of The Washington Post. The entry list of 89 last year was the largest of the three previous tournaments.

All individual registration applications and team entries must be filed in the sports department of The Post before midnight tonight. This includes all required papers for the 130, 115 and 100 pound boys' classes and the women's unlimited and girls' junior classes as well as the team entry sheets for the unlimited and 145-pound men's classes. No entries or registration applications for the tournament will be received after midnight, A. A. U. officials again stressed last night.

30 Clubs Seek Unlimited Championship.

Forty-one teams are awaiting the opening of hostilities in the unlimited and 145-pound men's divisions. Thirty of these are to seek unlimited honors. More than a score of teams have either filed entries or announced their intention to compete in the 130-pound division. The Night Hawks, led by George Wood, are one of the newcomers to enter this class.

Both the women's unlimited and girls' junior classes promise to surpass in number of entries last year's initial list. The Als A. C., Jewish Community Center, Eagles, Epiphany and Aloyisus Sextets head the list of contenders for the unlimited division honors. Among the outstanding aspirants to the junior section championship are the Hyattsville High, Alexandria High, Knights Buddies of Alexandria, Cloverettes, Georgetown, St. Paul's and Chevy Chase teams. The Cloverettes performed in playground circles as representatives of Garfield Playground.

Virginia and Maryland Entries Numerous.

Washington teams will find plenty of good competition from Virginia and Maryland teams in the 100-pound class. The Knights Midgets of Alexandria, the Fives Club of Charlottesville, Va., and the Shipley Midgets of College Park and environs, are seeking title honors. The Clark Griffith, Peck Midgets and Spartans promise to make strong bids for the century-weight title, but a half score of other teams are in line for honors, including the Raymond Riordon School Five of New York City, which has been sojourning here for several months.

A majority of the unlimited and 145-pound class teams have filed their team entry lists. The remainder must be in the sports department of The Post by midnight tonight. Only those teams which registered their players prior to February 1 are eligible to file team entries for these two classes.

Risko Is Given Draw With Campolo

Decision Unpopular; American Always Is Aggressor.

Mauls Big Argentine; Loughran Winner Over Belgian.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (A.P.).—The semifinal fight between Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, and Victorio Campolo, of the Argentine, was declared a draw tonight by Referee Kid McPartland, New York, after ten furious rounds in which Risko, to a majority of ringside critics as well as the crowd, appeared to hold a distinct edge.

Campolo made a strong finish in the tenth round, staggering his rival with vicious rights, but to that time Risko, who had been barred from fighting the Argentine in New York because of his size, seemed to have piled up a substantial margin on points. There were no knockdowns. Risko was the aggressor after the first round and had Campolo baffled by a free-swinging attack. Johnny did not do much damage, but he kept both fists swinging.

Referee McPartland announced he scored four rounds each for Risko and Campolo and rated two as even. Ringside critics gave Risko varying margins, ranging from five to four to three rounds. The crowd took the decision unfavorably and booed lustily, then gave Risko an ovation as he left the ring.

Campolo weighed 226 and Risko 195.

Campolo boxed cautiously from the start and pounded Risko viciously about the head as the latter came in close. Shortly before the close of the first round Risko dropped on one knee when hit a glancing right-hand blow. He got up as the gong sounded. He apparently slipped.

Much of the second round found the foes with arms locked. Campolo landed one hard blow to Johnny's nose early in the round and the Cleveland fighter beat a tattoo on Campolo's ribs shortly before the round ended.

Risko's left began to find Campolo's head and body with more consistency in the third. Twice he drove his bigger foe to the ropes and late in the round appeared to have the Argentine somewhat bewildered. Johnny was grinning at his opponent's efforts toward the close of the session.

Johnny's wild rushes threw Campolo off balance many times in the fourth, but the Argentine giant became more aggressive as the fifth round got under way, looking for a spot to plant his haymaker right. Risko proved an elusive target. Risko shifted his tactics at intervals and had his foe guessing his next move.

The crowd yelled for action at the start of the sixth but got little satisfaction. Risko kept swinging at close quarters but clinches were continuous. He rushed his big foe around the ring much to the enjoyment of the customers.

Campolo landed with both hands at the start of the seventh but stopped Johnny's rushing tactics only momentarily. Risko backed Campolo to the ropes with a body attack and shook the massive Victorio with a right to the head. Campolo came out for the eighth with a swelling under his left eye, boxing cautiously and still looking for an opening for his right glove. Risko staggered him with a right to the jaw.

Seconds worked furiously over Campolo but Risko appeared fresh. Johnny worked on the Argentinian's body through most of the ninth and took a swift uppercut on the chin during the melee. Campolo rocked his lighter opponent as both tried for a finishing punch in the final round. Risko seemed groggy after taking a series of rights but came back to take further pounding about the head and ribs. Johnny kept both hands going and seemed to tie Campolo as the final round ended.

The first bout ended in the first round with a clean knockout for Raul Bianchi, well-built Argentinian, over Bill Daring, former Navy heavyweight champion, from the society stable maintained by E. F. Hutton, New York broker, at Palm Beach. After a brisk slugging bee, Bianchi put Daring down for the full count with a left hook, followed by a terrific right to the chin. Daring was counted out, flat on his back, after 2 minutes and 25 seconds of the round had elapsed. Bianchi, a good-looking prospect, weighed 206½ pounds and Daring 190.

Jimmy Maloney, the pudgy Boston heavyweight, battered out a decisive victory over game Moie Bouquillon, of France, in a ten-round preliminary. The Irishman's hand was lifted in victory by Referee Frank McCracken, of Philadelphia, after a slugfest in which the Frenchman took a severe beating, especially in the last two rounds.

Maloney weighed 198 and Bouquillon 185.

Maloney started fast and had Bouquillon groggy in the first two rounds, but the Frenchman rallied and carried the battle to Maloney for the next few rounds, landing with long lefts to the head. The veteran Irishman staggered Bouquillon in the ninth with a right swing, and closed the Frenchman's left eye with a steady battering and knocked most of his teeth out.

Sharkey Odds of 12-1 Set Prize Ring Record

Miami, Feb. 27 (N.Y.W.N.S.)—Jack Sharkey, champion of America, eight pounds lighter than Phil Scott, heavyweight champion of England, was a prohibitive favorite at odds of 10-to-1 to win when the battle began.

"I'll lay 12-to-1," shouted "Butch of Broadway," across the ring to Johnny Broderick, lieutenant of detectives from New York, just as Joe Humphries began his announcing, and inasmuch as "Butch" is recognized as sort of a price gauger, this established a world's record ford odds on a heavyweight battle. Not even the great Jack Dempsey ruled such a favorite over little for odds on a heavyweight battle, in Boyle's Thirty Acres. Indeed, the veriest palooka never was conceded so little chance against a champion before, so far as betting odds were concerned.

W. MARYLAND FIVE BOWS TO G. U.

Georgetown Erases Lead in Last Minutes to Win, 35-32.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER.

FREDDY MESMER'S last opportunity to shine before home fans at Georgetown University was well used by that scintillating performer last night, when he came through with a well-aimed pot shot which brought the Hilltoppers from behind in the last four minutes of play and followed a moment later with a two-pointer which sewed up a hectic battle for the Blue and Gray. Mesmer's two shots enabled Georgetown to end its home season with a 35-32 victory over Western Maryland, after that team had threatened to duplicate its performance on the gridiron last fall by upsetting the athletes of the Hilltop.

Both teams were handicapped in the final minutes of the game when Wellinger and Hammel, of the visitors, and Morris and Shea, of the home team, were banned from the game as the result of their fourth personal fouls.

Throughout the first half, Western Maryland had contrived to stay in the running only through the medium of fancy and difficult shots made with only Wooley and Wellinger doing in the scoring. Of their three field goals, two were made by one-handed tosses, while Wellinger shot the ball through the cords while resting on one knee. Georgetown, on the contrary, was obtaining its advantage by easy stages, Shea, Dunn, Dillon and Mesmer all taking an equal hand in the scoring.

Terrors Cut Down Lead.

Surely but slowly, however, the Terrors began to cut down Georgetown's lead at the resumption of play until with nine minutes left to play they were but 5 points behind, at 29-24. At this stage Wellinger, Hammel and Morris were all banned within a minute's duration. However, Wooley put his team within 1 point of a tie by caging two double-deckers on the dead run and after Mesmer made good on a foul toss Engle tied the score with a shot from the center of the floor. After Shea had sent Georgetown into the fore with another charity throw, Baker gave Western Maryland the lead for the only time during the evening when he made good on two chances from the 15-foot stripe. A half minute later Mesmer came through with his game-winning shot and assured the verdict with another 2-pointer in the following seconds.

In the preliminary attraction the Georgetown Freshmen were forced into an extra period before emerging victorious over Tech High, 29 to 25. With the score tied at 24-all at the end of the regulation time, Murphy came through with a long shot, and Rehkoff duplicated after Beach had scored once from the foul line for the high school champions.

Dempsey to Enter Hospital For Thorough Examination

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Jack Dempsey will enter the Mayo brothers hospital at Rochester, Minn., tomorrow for a complete physical check-up.

Boxing fans today accepted Dempsey's action as the first step in the Manassa Mauler's journey back to ring activity. If Dempsey finds he has no hidden ailments, he may decide to reenter the ring, possibly in [illegible] Field, Chicago, for an engagement with Otto von Porat, Tuffy Griffith, or Max Schmeling.

The former world's heavyweight champion has been conducting boxing shows in Chicago since last October in the hope of establishing himself as a successful promoter for the outdoor season. He was reported to have dropped $60,000 in staging shows at the Coliseum.

If Dempsey decides to come back to ring activity, he will be in the unique position of both promoter and principal.

BRITON ON ROPES WHEN REFEREE STOPS FIASCO DESPITE CLAIM OF FOUL; BATTLE ENDS IN UPROAR

Scott Resumes After Minute Halt But Later Quits.

Sharkey Floors Foe 3 Times; Fight Is Financial "Flop."

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

RINGSIDE, Miami, Fla., Feb. 27 (A.P.).—The crowning touch to one of the biggest fight fiascos in many years was applied tonight when Jack Sharkey, the generally recognized American heavyweight champion, was declared the winner over Phil Scott, pale British titleholder, on a technical knockout in the third round of a scheduled 15-round match.

After scenes of extraordinary confusion and following the granting of a minute's rest to Scott on a claim of foul, Sharkey's hand was lifted in victory by Referee Lou Magnolia as the Briton, weak and manifesting extreme agony refused to continue the bout. The finish came with Scott still erect but reeling helplessly into the ropes after absorbing a terrific left-hand punch to the stomach.

Scott had been floored once in the second round and twice in the third round before the enactment of scenes that put an almost unprecedented touch to the conclusion of a thoroughly unsatisfactory contest. Sharkey was warned once for hitting low before landing a second hook to the body which sent Scott to the floor, holding his side and writhing as if in agony.

Briton's Handlers Leap Into Ring.

As the Briton's manager and handlers leaped into the ring, to all to the confusion of all concerned, Referee Magnolia halted the fight without indicating any decision before an examination. When neither the referee nor an examining physician agreed with Scott's claim of foul, the Briton was immediately given the choice of continuing the fight under his own power or of having Sharkey promptly declared the victor.

With the end of a minute's respite, Scott agreed to fight, the ring was cleared and Shawkey, who had been dashing about like a wild man, rushed at his foe mercilessly. The Briton clinched and tried to save himself, but was limping, constantly gripping his side and grimacing in a manifestation of extreme pain.

Backed finally against the ropes, Phil took a smashing blow to the stomach, a left hook, and sagged. Although the blow clearly was fair, several inches above the belt line, Scott indicated another claim of foul as he turned in a helpless manner toward his corner. Magnolia unhesitatingly stepped in, asked Scott whether he wanted to continue and when advised in the negative, turned to lift the raging Sharkey's hand in victory.

Final Punch Fair, Says Referee.

The fight was stopped after two minutes and 34 seconds of actual fighting in the third round but, [illegible] to the interval of rest for Scott lasted a minute longer.

Scott's manager, Jimmy Johnston, protested volubly and declared later that Referee Magnolia originally had disqualified Sharkey, but the sole arbiter of the bout denied this and flatly declared that he had not seen Sharkey hit a foul blow at any time. The final punch, Magnolia said, was squarely in the pit of the stomach and left no possible room for argument.

The finish of the main bout, although advancing Sharkey to the final round of this year's heavyweight championship elimination tournament with Max Schmeling as his prospective final foe in June, was as unsatisfactory to the crowd and to the critics as most everything else connected with the show.

Garden Loses $50,000, Is Indication.

Sahrkey's victory followed an unpopular verdict of a draw by Referee Kid McPhartland, of New York, in the ten-round semifinal between Victorio Campolo of the Argentine and Johnny Risko, of Cleveland.

The unsatisfactory outcome of the two featured bouts was a climax to the financial flop of the second battle of teh cocoanut palms, a losing venture from the outset despite the most extraordinary attempts at ballyhoo. Although the Madison Square Garden Corporation issued no official figures, an authoritative estimate appeared to be that not more than 25,000 persons half filled the big Miami Arena and contributed a "gate" of about $200,000. It was indicated the loss might reach $50,000 on this basis.

Scott Exhibits Defensive Skill.

The chief reason for the first season's failure was the lack of competitive prospects for the main bout and its outcome appeared to justify original speculation. Scott gave an excellent exhibition of boxing and defensive work in the first two rounds, especially in the first, as Sharkey appeared overanxious and missed awkwardly in his attempts to put over a finishing blow. In the second round Scott's first visit to the floor, in his own corner, was due as much to a

THE FIGHT BY ROUNDS

(Associated Press.)

ROUND ONE—Scott, with the British flaw sewed on the side of his trunks, took some time to adjust his gloves and go out for instructions. Sharkey wore the Navy emblem. Sharkey opened with a rush, but failed to connect. Scott clinched as the American rushed again. They sparred and exchanged rights to the body. Scott adopted a half crouch and ducked away from Sharkey's wild rush. The Briton chopped a right to the side of the head and clinched. Sharkey smashed a left hook to the ribs, but was tied up as he came to close quarters. Phil picked a right hand out of the air and boxed coolly. Sharkey was short with both hands and they clinched again. Phil showed no disposition to mix at close quarters, but fired a long right to the ear at the bell. The Englishman was boxing coolly.

ROUND TWO—Sharkey bobbed and shifted, chopping a right to the head as they clinched. Scott went down in a corner as they fought at close range, but got up at the count of six. It was a left to the head. It was the force of Sharkey's rush that put Phil down. Sharkey missed with his left, but punished the Briton as they came to a clinch. Blood trickled from Phil's right nostril. They exchanged lefts to the body, but Scott showed agility in tying up the American at close range. Sharkey dug a stiff left to the stomach, but missed an overhand right by a half foot. They clinched just before the bell.

THIRD ROUND—The third round opened with Scott boxing cautiously, at times effectively warding off Sharkey's vicious rushes, along the ropes. Scott took a glancing blow to the head as he was partly off balance and went down for a count of three. Sharkey was warned by the referee for hitting low with his left. Scott grimaced, but continued. Again at close range in a fast mix-up, Sharkey's left hit near the belt line, but seemed more on the side than in the stomach.

This time Scott went down gripping his side in an indication of foul. As his manager, Jimmy Johnston, jumped into the ring Scott rolled over and manifested acute agony. Referee Magnolia refused to allow the claim and temporarily halted the fight as Scott was dragged to his corner for an examination. Sharkey meanwhile raced about the ring, shouting and gesticulating that he had not fouled his man. Magnolia consulted Scott and his handlers, flatly refusing to allow a claim of foul and gave Scott the alternative of losing the decision or continuing.

After a minute's rest, the Briton elected to fight again. He limped out, pain and agony written all over his face, and backed away from Sharkey's rush. After a few seconds of mixing Sharkey smashed a left hook to the stomach as Scott staggered along the ropes. Phil dropped his hands and registered helplessness. Magnolia asked him whether he wanted to continue as he stepped in between the fighters. Scott shook his head slowly and Magnolia then went over to lift Sharkey's hand in token of victory on a technical knockout.

SIDE LIGHTS OF MIAMI BOUTS

By BRIAN BELL.

RINGSIDE, MIAMI FLA., Feb. 27 (A.P.).—With a majority of the early arrivals in shirt sleeves while their women companions wore summer dresses, the second annual fistic battles of the palms was ushered in on a hot, starlit night.

Ten thousand spectators made arrangements to see the whole show, slipping into their seats in the huge octagon-shaped stadium before 8 o'clock.

Over the Madison Square Garden ring, a series of horns reminiscent of six-day bicycle races boomed out tunes. The amplifier system had brief but spirited opposition at intervals from an American Legion Band.

Baseball was one of the first sports to gain representation at the ringside. Dan Howley, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, and Lena Blackburn, former White Sox manager, now a St. Louis Brown coach, were early arrivals.

Babe Ruth scorned the flannels favored by many fellows and appeared in a dinner coat. He was accompanied by Mrs. Ruth, and his arrival was the signal for a concentrated dash by photographers. Bronzed to a shade beyond brick red, the Bambino seemed in great physical shape. "It should be a wonderful show" was his fight forecast.

John Ringling, an authority in his own right on great outdoor spectacles, arrived at the ringside when there were less than 20,000 people in the stadium. The crowd was not big enough to cause the circus king to become excited.

Billy Evans, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, had the best seat of the baseball men. He was doubling in brass by appearing as a newspaper reporter and was in the second row of the press section.

Palm Beach, just two hours away, well represented. Among the many from Palm Beach were E. F. Hutton, James H. R. Cromwell, Ira Richards, Grover Whalen, Florenz Ziegfeld and others.

Walter Camp, son of the father of football, and himself a Yale player, and Mrs. Camp, the former Ruth Elder, were interested onlookers.

Towering water oaks outside the arena furnished seats of vantage for scores of small boys who were a long way from the ring, but had nothing in their line of vision.

Gar Wood, the motor boat racing driver, was roaming about as if he had some difficulty in finding his seat.

Pitchers and Manush Hold Out on Browns

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Battery men who were supposed to report to manager Bill Killifer, of the St. Louis Browns, here Tuesday continued to straggle in today. The latest arrival was Herman Holshauser, big right-hander, obtained from Baltimore. Killefer still is waiting to hear from some of his stars, Gray, Stewart, Collins and Blaeholder. The latter is reported to be a holdout. Manush, slugging Brownie outfielder, also is understood to have some financial differences with the club.

After a brief practice session today many of the players took the trail to Miami for the Sharkey-Scott fight tonight.

Schulte, Cubs, Injured; Collides With Rookie

Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, Calif., Feb. 26 (A.P.).—Serious injury stalked [illegible] to the spring training camp of the Chicago Cubs today when Catcher Johnny Schulte suffered a deep gash over and around his right eye.

Schulte and Ed Lautenbacher, who is trying for a pitching post, ran after a flyball and collided. Schulte received a deep gash and three stitches were required to close it. He will be in the hospital for several days and serious after-effects concerning his eye are feared. Lautenbacher's mouth was cut slightly.

Lonnie Warenecke, rookie pitcher, who was injured between the eyes two days ago by a flying bat, still was on the bench, running the injured list to three.

Battalino to Risk Title March 21 at Detroit

St. Louis, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Mike McNulty, Detroit, announced here today he had just closed negotiations for a featherweight title match between Roger Bernard and Bat Battalino, of Hartford, Conn., the latter the titleholder, the bout to take place at Detroit, March 21.

McNulty, once manager of the former bantam champion, Johnny Ertle, of St. Paul, who arrived here today from Hot Springs, Ark., said he is on his way East to sign the papers. The bout, he said, will be fifteen rounds.

"One of the conditions of the contest is that I agree to give Battalino a return match within three months from the date of the Detroit event."

4 DEFAULTS AID G. W. TO BEAT MANHATTAN BOXERS

Colonials Win 5-1 Decision By Forfeits

Teams Split Even in Only 2 Reular Bouts on Program.

Kleiman Beats N. Y. Feather; Covaleskie Loses Decision.

WITH the aid of four forfeits, George Washington University boxers won their first victory of the season last night in the H-street gymnasium, defeating the Manhattan College ringmen of New York, five bouts to one, but the visitors went home with the honors in all the three exhibitions which were arranged to fill out the card.

The program was the first ever held at George Washington and was watched by a formally dressed audience of about 400.

Harry Kleiman, a hard-hitting lefthander, registered George Washington's lone victory in the ring by gaining the decision over John Ryan in the featherweight class. Manhattan forfeited to the home team in the welterweight, middleweight, light heavyweight and unlimited bouts, the New York school not h aving representatives at those weights.

Capt. Ed Fitzpatrick outpointed Leo Covaleski, colonial lightweight, for Manhattan's only individual victory in a regulation bout. Neither team presented a bantamweight.

Dave Cohen Beaten In Exhibition.

In exhibitions, Manhattan scored a sweep with Ed McGurk defeating Dave Cohen on an extra-round decision at 122 pounds, Charles McGurk downing Red Boyle at 129 pounds, and Carl Delucia gaing a two-round technical knockout over Bill Polonitza at 140 pounds.

Bill Stanley, G. W. middleweight, engaged Walter Colleran, Manhattan 140-pounder, in a sparring match, while Ted Fiore and Harry Stepakoft, both of George Washington, staged an amusing event entitled "Rattle the Can."

The summaries:

123 pounds—Ed McGurk (M.) defeated Dave Cohen (G. W.), decision, extra round.

125 pounds—Harry Kleiman (G. W.) defeated John Ryan (M.), decision, three rounds.

129 pounds—Charles McGurk (M.) defeated John Boyle (G. W.), decision, three rounds.

135 pounds—Ed Fitzpatrick (M.) defeated Leo Covaleski (G. W.), decision, three rounds.

140 pounds—Carl Delucia (M.) defeated Bill Polonitza (G. W.), technical knockout, second round.

City Club Fighters Win Over Penn A. C.

The City Club boxers last night defeated the Penn A. C. mittmen, of Philadelphia, 4 to 3, when the latter forfeited the heavyweight bout.

Billy Miller looked impressive in his victory over Jimmy Teager in the 147-pound affair. Joe Pulconilla looked the best of the Penn boxers in defeating Harry Haas in three fast rounds.

The result:

118-pound class—Doug Swetman (C. C.) defeated Ben Gordon; 3 rounds, decision.

126-pound class—Joe Pulconilla (Penn) defeated Harry Haas; 3 rounds, decision.

135-pound class—Jack Quigley (C. C.) defeated Wilbur Graham; 3 rounds, decision. Joe Karlan (Penn) defeated Jack De Lacey; 3 rounds, decision.

147-pound class—Billy Miller (C. C.) defeated Jimmy Teager; 3 rounds, decision.

160-pound class—Eddie Loughran (Penn) defeated Henry Irving; 3 rounds, decision.

SHARKEY KNOCKS OUT SCOTT IN 3 ROUNDS

wild rush and shove by Sharkey as by the clip he took on the side of the head.

Sharkey's punching mastery, however, was manifest from the outset and the finish came early, as had been expected, although not in the anticipated manner.

Tommy Loughran was declared the victor over Pierre Charles, of Belgium, in a ten-round match put on after the main event. Referee Johnny Brassil, of Boston, lifted the Philadelphian's hand in token of a clean-cut triumph on points.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

What proportion of a player's time should be allotted to practice and what proportion to actual play, when he aspires to be a par player?

Answered by CYRIL WALKER, Former National Open Champion.

Half the time should be spent in practice to get a thorough command over one's clubs. This can not be secured by continual playing around the course, since the player does not get a chance to correct his weakness in the course of a round.

The latter, displaying improvement, followed in closest pursuit of the pace and made a game bid to overhaul the leader, but was not good enough. BURNT BROWN, off in a tangle, was rated under light restraint to the stretch, where he failed to respond when called upon. CUT STEEL was off slowly and outrun. EVENING SKY broke poorly and was far back most of the way.

DINAH DID UPSET, displaying the most speed from the break, dominated the running to the stretch, where she held on well under pressure to outfinish KINCSEN. The latter, reserved off the early pace, came to the outside in the stretch and, under hard riding, was gradually wearing the winner down. BEAMING OVER, rated off the early pace, saved ground entering the stretch, but hung under punishment in the drive. PATRICIA MARIAN tired after racing forwardly to the stretch.

WILDERMUTH UNLIKELY TO COMPETE

G. U. Sends Squad of 15 to Intercollegiates Tomorrow.

UNLESS Lady Luck intervenes with some benevolent act to cure his leg ailment, Karl Wildermuth, Georgetown's crack sprinter, will not accompany the Hilltop Track Squad when it departs this afternoon for New York to compete in the intercollegiate indoor championships tomorrow night.

The squad, headed by Coach O'Reilly, is scheduled to leave at 4 o'clock and Wildermuth, in a fina' test to determine the condition of his leg, will work out at the Hillton about 2 o'clock. If he finds no difficulty in running at top speed, he will join his teammates and match strides tomorrow night with Jimmy Daley, of Holy Cross, in the 70-yard dash. However, Wildermuth, himself held virtually no hope yesterday of rounding into condition.

Of the 15 members of the squad excluding Wildermuth, 11 are sophomores. Wildermuth's understudy Morris Lerner, is a junior, while Leo Sexton, all-around star; Erik Kjellstrom, hurdler, and Jay Julicher, of the two-mile relay team, are seniors Lerner will enter the dash and also the broad jump.

The Hilltop one-mile relay team is entirely composed of sophomores They are Chuck Carlin, Louis Ricca Vic Burke and Artie Briggs. The two-mile team numbers three second-year men—Jack Mara, John Downing and Jim Kelly.

Sophomores Complete Squad.

Four other sophomores, Daniel Canning and Bernard Bonniwell, broad jumpers, and Lew Parlette and William Slezak, weight throwers, complete the squad.

In spite of Wildermuth's loss Georgetown should prove to be a strong contender for the team championship. Sexton is expected to score heavily in the high, jump, shot put and the 35-pound weight throw, in which he is the champion, while the relay teams are figured to be among the first five in their events. Kjellstrom is considered a possible point-scorer in the hurdles, and Lerner, in the broad jump and Bonniwell and Canning in the high jump are deemed capable of placing.

Pennsylvania, with Barney Berlinger, a star in the field events, generally is picked to win the championship.

Two Scholastic Games Involve Local Quintets

Tech will attempt to duplicate Western's trick of turning back the Catholic University Freshmen Basketers when it meets the Brookland yearlings in the McKinley Gymnasium at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. Previous to the Western game the C. U. Frosh had beaten Eastern and Central. It will be the last game for Tech before playing in the Penn Tournament on Monday, and Coach Boyd will use the fray as a means of picking his starting line-up.

In the only other scholastic game, St. John's crack quintet will entertain the Benjamin Franklin Tossers in the Vermont avenue gymnasium tonight at 8:30 o'clock. In the tide of one of their best years the Cadets will try to stop the Accountants, who have played high school, prep and college teams with a fair degree of success.

RED SOX NINE BACK.

Bill Jenkins has his Red Sox Nine in line for another season. His squad includes Infielders Bowie, Booker, B. Jenkins, O'Connor, Hodges and Robbins; Pitchers Sines, Booker, O'Connor, Snymark and Gaume; Outfielders Curtis, Joesph, Turner, Cleary and Usilton. Jenkins will do the catching. Reginald Brown, former Red Sox hurler, is now with Chattanooga.

Western High Five Beats G. U. Prep, 30-17

Western High's Five yesterday defeated the Georgetown Prep Quintet, 30 to 17, in a three-quarter contest at Garrett Park. The Western Team was well in front throughout, the game being called at the end of the third period due to the fact that the Prepmen had to report for classes.

Bob Freeman and Everett Buscher led the winning attack, which assumed a 23-to-7 lead by intermission. R. Heekin was the lone big threat in the losers' offensive.

STRANGE AS IT MAY SEEM— By John Hix

IF YOU DOUBT THIS, WRITE FOR PROOF TO THE AUTHOR.

ON THE SIDELINES by BRIAN BELL

BILL POTTS, veteran golf professional of the Briar Hills Club, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., has to look back more than a quarter of a century for his greatest golf thrill, but then he finds, not one, but seven.

Bill has been teaching golf in the United States for 24 years, but the burr of his native Scotland clings to his tongue and his alert eyes light up with the enthusiasm of a youngster when he talks of golf, then and now.

"My greatest thrill?" he said. "There were seven of them, way back when I was an amateur and an architect in Edinburgh. We were playing for the president's cup in the club to which I belonged, and I drew the defending champion, who had won handily the year before.

"We started out with quite a gallery, assembled to see the champion put the young upstart in his place, and for nine holes everything went according to the program. I was four down at the turn and all the gallery went back to see some other match. The opinion was unanimous that I was all through.

"And then the thrills. I shot seven straight threes and the match was over. The gallery was quite put out when the score with all those threes was posted. Served them right, I thought, for taking too much for granted.

"I shot a 69 at Briar Hills one day when the ball was rolling right and I could do no golf wrong, and although no one has ever done so well, still and all, the seven threes more than 25 years ago stand out in my memory. I guess I will take seven 'greatest thrills' instead of one."

THE genial Potts was made outside superintendent at Briar Hills, as well as golf pro, at the close of last season, and for the first time in eleven years did not go to Ormond Beach, Fla., for the winter months.

"It has been an education," he said, "remaining in the East during the winter. I have seen snow this year for the first time since I started going to Florida before the cold weather set in. Snow is quite a sight when you have not seen any in a long time. Of course it will grow tiresome. I am thinking out something about my golf course, too, that I never would have known if I had continued to remain away during the winter. I was shocked to find that water tries to stay on one of the greens. Of course I'll fix that. I wouldn't have known about it if I had been in Florida."

Bill, in a reminiscent mood, thinks of all the great golfers he has seen come and go.

"I begin to think I am growing old when I see Tommy Armour and Bobby Cruickshank play," he said. "I started them in their first tournament at Edinburgh when they were playing together on a schoolboy foursome.

"That was a long time ago."

EUGENE (BUBBLES) HARGRAVE, returning to the major leagues when he is 36 years old, may catch as many, if not more, games for the Yankees than any other receiver on the club. Hargrave, always a dangerous hitter for Cincinnati, batted for an average of .369 with St. Paul in the American Association last season. No catcher on the Yankees, or any other player on the club, for that matter, batted so well in the American League.

American Association players who tried to steal bases say that, in spite of the thousands of times he has thrown to second, it is not safe to take liberties with Bubbles' arm.

Bill Dickey, the tall Arkansas boy, was a sensation with the Yankees last season, but he is green, and the same objection must be made to Arndt Jorgens. Benny Bengough, when his arm is right, is as good a catcher as one will meet in a day's baseball travels, but only the test of time will prove his fitness.

Bengough, although not a hard hitter, has been a great catcher. Few better men will be found at placing a ball on a runner sliding into the plate. Benny never waits, but meets the runner on the base path and rides in with him.

THE major leagues are short in catchers now. The Athletics, of course, have Gordon Cochrane, who is ranked with the greatest of all time, and Cincinnati may have a coming world beater in Clyde Sukeforth.

Muddy Ruel, of Washington, still is a great catcher, although his best days are behind him. Ruel was once with the Yankees, and the late Miller Huggins is charged with one of his few mistakes in deciding that Ruel would not do. The catcher was permitted to go to the Boston Red Sox in a trade with Pratt. Vick and Thormahlen for Hoyt, Schang, McNally and Harper. The players the Yankees procured did yoemon service for Hug, but it is safe to say that if he had been convinced that Ruel was as capable as he later showed himself to be, he never would have included him in the deal. In 1922, Boston traded Ruel to Washington, and he has been a National ever since, catching every game in two world series.

RAY SCHALK, now a coach with the Chicago Cubs and former manager of the Chicago White Sox, is the yardstick by which most catchers are measured nowadays. "Another Schalk" is about as high praise as a youngster needs to attract attention in select baseball company. Schalk not only was an accomplished catcher, but he could hit and run the bases. He was the catcher without a weakness. A close inspection of the playing careers of the many great catchers the game has produced will reveal only a few who were not handicapped somewhere.

DIXIE BOXING CAPTAINS SMALL

Only 1 Heavyweight Leader Among Conference Teams.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 27. Southern Conference colleges run to boxers of low poundage when it comes to selecting team captains. Of the dozen teams entered in the conference tournament which will get under way Friday afternoon in Memorial Gymnasium at the University of Virginia, only one is captained by a heavyweight.

Two teams have bantamweights for captains, and both of these boys have the same name. J. I. Rogers is leader of the Clemson scrappers, while Charles Rogers is the 115-pound leader of Virginia Military Institute.

Of the two featherweights, one is Southgate Martin, of Duke, who won the Southern Conference bantam title last year. The other is Fielding Russell, who lost the 125-pound title a year ago to Phil O'Connell, of the University of Florida, in the finals.

Capt. O'Connell, of the Gators, has moved into the lightweight class where he will be matched with Alston Barrow, of Louisiana State. Bob Welker, captain of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, is also in this class, but injuries received last summer prevent him from competing.

Four teams have welterweights for captains. Archie Allen, of North Carolina, was lightweight champion a year ago. He must meet Bob Rainey, of Virginia, who moved into the 145-pound class last week; William Jackson, of Sewanee, and Julian Black, of Washington and Lee.

None of the teams entered have middleweights or light heavies as their leaders. Jack Pizzano, a heavyweight, is the only captain in the three upper classes.

Seventy-seven bouts are scheduled to decide first places in the boxing tournament this week-end and concluding Monday night. Actual pairings of contestants can not be made until after the boxers have weighed in Friday morning. Some changes may be required in the order of bouts, but the time at which they begin—3 p. m. and 8 p. m.—will not be altered.

Final 2 Circuit Tests Faced by W. & M. Five

Williamsburg, Va., Feb. 27—William and Mary's Indian Basket Ball Team, after its recent victories over the University of Richmond and Randolph-Macon, to take the lead in the Virginia Conference loop, meets Lynchburg College here Friday night and Hampden-Sidney Saturday in the final games of the conference.

Victories are necessary in both games to assure the Green, Gold and Silver tossers undisputed claim to the title, because a single defeat will throw them into a tie with Randolph-Macon, whom the Indians shoved into second place after Tuesday night's hectic 32-30 fray. The Yellow Jackets had held the lead since the beginning of the season, and had an earlier victory over William and Mary.

The Virginia Conference standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
William and Mary	8	1	.888
Randolph-Macon	6	2	.750
Lynchburg	4	2	.667
Emory and Henry	3	2	.600
Richmond	3	4	.428
Roanoke	2	5	.286
Hampden-Sidney	4	4	.200
Bridgewater	1	7	.125

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 27.—Alexandria High School Basket Ball Team scheduled to play the Swavely Prep School tomorrow afternoon will return from the William and Mary tournament and go on to Manassas, Va., to play the Swavely boys the second game between the two schools. It was first thought that the local high school would not return from the tournament in time. In the first game the Manassas Team handed the local boys a setback.

The R. E. Knight Store Five gained undisputed second place in the Alexandria City League last night when it handed the Del Ray A. C. a 35-to-25 defeat. The game was hard fought throughout and was not decided until the last few minutes of play when experience helped the Knight boys to pile up a lead. Coach Pettitt will drill his boys at top speed for their game with the St. Mary's Celtics that will be played next week. This game will decide the championship of the city.

The game scheduled between the Knight and the Alexandria High School for last night has been postponed until Saturday night. The Knight Store Five has not played St. Mary's since the Celtics have become professional and therefore are eligible to play the local high school. Principal Moncure stated that he wanted to make sure that everything was all right before playing any of the local teams, but since the Knights stand o. k. they will meet on Saturday night.

Manager Lemeric, of the St. Mary's Celtics Baseball Team, was in charge for the first time this afternoon in practice, in preparation for their opening game. Business Manager Corbett stated today that his baseball team would face one of the hardest schedules that his team has ever undertaken.

The St. Mary's Celtics Basket Ball Team was given a severe blow last night when the Skinker Eagles handed them a 35 to 24 defeat, to knock them out of the running for championship of the league. This is the second defeat that the local tossers have suffered in the Washington Independent League. This is the fourth game that the Celtics have lost this season.

Baseball will get into full swing next week at the Episcopal High School when Coach Gallaway will call his first practice next Monday afternoon. The boys have been out getting limbered up but have not began real practice as yet. Basket ball will be over after this Saturday. Track activities at the Episcopal school are coming on nicely and from all indications there will be a well-balanced team.

Massanutten Quintet Annexes 16th in Row

Massanutten, Va., Feb. 27.—Massanutten Military Academy's Basket Ball Team, prep school champions of Virginia, ran its winnnig streak to 16 games when it defeated Blue Ridge College, 52 to 25, and Staunton High School, 52 to 19. The latter game is the third consecutive contest in which the winners have made 52 points, having averaged 48 points per game in their 18 games this season.

PROFIT TAKING SEES STOCK PRICES DROP

Initial Gains for Score of Issues Are Wiped Out Before Close.

UTILITIES LEAD ADVANCE

New York, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—The swift upturn in share prices prompted by the turning of the tide in the Chicago wheat pit was checked by heavy profit taking late in today's session, after nearly a score of issues had been sent up into new high territory for the year. The selling movement in the last hour not only modified the earlier advances but depressed several shares a point or so under yesterday's final levels. The index of 90 leading stocks showed a net loss for the day of one-fifth of a pont.

Trading continued to gain in volume, the day's transfers totaling 3,310,110 shares, about 300,000 more than yesterday. Professional traders continue to dominate the market, however, with the public warily holding to the sidelines pending more conclusive signs of business recovery. The market's recent action, indicating that both longs and shorts are for the most part quick to take profits on a move of a few points either way, has been rather confusing to the public. Considerable uncertainty still persists in professional quarters. While the market's resistance to selling pressure of late has caused several commission houses to renew buying recommendations, others still recommend profit taking on advances.

The day's news was not of a character to clarify the situation. The Bank of England failed to reduce its discount rate, although advices from London indicate that such action is still regarded as probable within the near future. Credit conditions eased a little, with call money sagging to 4 per cent, after renewals at 4½. The weekly brokerage loan statement showed a negligible reduction of $5,000,000. The New York Federal Reserve Bank statement showed further strengthening of position, with the New York City banks practically wiping out their indebtedness. The condition statement for the entire system showed little change, save for further declines in rediscounting and in reserve notes in circulation.

Earnings Reports Prove Favorable.

Corporate news was mainly in the form of annual reports covering 1929, mostly favorable, but largely regarded as matters of history at this time. A tabulation of the net operating income of the first 44 railroads to report for January showed a decline of 23 per cent from January of 1929. Reports from the copper trade were a little more favorable, showing a moderate increase in consumer demand.

The utilities gave the best account of themselves as a group. North American, Public Service of N. J., and Electric Power & Light sold up moderately to new highs for the year, and American Telephone gained about 3 points. Pools apparently were active in several of the lower priced specialties. Associated Dry Goods, Brunswick Balke Collender and Maytag were bid up about 2 to 6 points to new highs. Hoe & Co. jumped 7 points to a new top at 25.

Amusement shares were also in continued demand, Warner Bros. and Paramount rising a point or so to new peaks for the movement. Bendix Aviation and Westinghouse Airbrake rose 2 and 3 points to new tops in response to announcement of the formation of a subsidiary to make airplane brakes.

American International rose about 3 points to the best level for 1930 in response to its 1929 report, showing operating income of $8.86 a share. Eastman Kodak, Beatrice Creamery and Underwood Elliott sold up about 4 points each to new peaks. United States Steel, selling ex-dividend, closed up 1¼ points net.

Montgomery Ward Loses.

Such shares as American Can, General Electric, Gillette, Goodrich, Goodyear, Johns-Manville, Simmons and Montgomery Ward lost a point or so each. Norfolk & Western lost 3 and St. Louis Southwestern 4 points.

The aggressive attitude taken by the Farm Board, together with a better export demand, caused a further rise of about 3 cents a bushel in wheat futures. Corn moved up more than a cent. Cotton closed about 70 cents to $1 a bale higher, influenced by short covering and the advance in wheat. Sugar futures, however, were depressed, the March position reaching 1.54 cents, the lowest ever recorded here. This commodity was influenced by uncertainty over the retention of the single selling agency in Cuba.

Foreign exchanges steadied with retention of the 4½ per cent London bank rate, sterling cables ruling a shade higher at $4.86 1-16. The Spanish peseta, however, was an isolated weak spot, sagging about one-eighth cent to 12.25 cents, a new low mark for the year.

TREND IN RAIL BONDS RISES IN ACTIVE DAY

French Municipal Shares Are Feature in Firm Foreign Group.

INDUSTRIALS ARE QUIET

New York, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Bond trading broadened somewhat today in the week's most active session. The demand was generally of a conservative investment nature, centering in the governments, rails and a few utilities.

French obligations, particularly the municipals, featured the firm foreign list which witnessed rather extensive buying of Marseilles 6s, Lyons 6s, Bordeaux 6s and Paris Lyons Mediterranean 6s.

Treasury 4¼s advanced about ⅜ and held most of the rise. The 4 per cent certificates, as well as the fourth liberties, also improved on active inquiry.

Baltimore & Ohio 4s Active.

Baltimore & Ohio gold 4s, Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Great Northern 7s, New York Central debenture 4s, New Haven 3½s, Nickel Plate 6s, Northern Pacific general 3s, Pennsylvania 3½s, Southern Railway general 6s, Union Pacific first 4s and Wabash 4½s participated actively in the inquiry for rails, but offerings proved sufficient to keep prices close to the closing level of Wednesday. However, the trend of the group was higher desipte a decline in the averages.

American Telephone 5s 1965, Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s, Chicago Gas Light & Coke 6s, International Telephone 5s and Public Service Electric & Gas 4½s absorbed much of the demand for utilities. High grade industrials were quiet. Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies 5s, continuing yesterday's advance on the company's favorable preferred dividend action, made a new 1930 high at 77½, selling off slightly to close with a net gain of ¾. Inland Steel 4½s made a similar gain, while Hoe & Co. 6s climbed 6½ points. International Paper 6s were heavy.

American Telephone 4½s Rise.

American Telephone 4½s ran away from the other share feature issues, making a net gain of 2¾ points on a turnover of more than $1,800,000, principal amount. Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6s rose 1. American International 5½s were well traded on the strength of the earnings statement, but their gain was confined to a small fraction.

Aside from the French bonds, an upturn of ¾ in British 5½s to within ¼ point of the year's high and smaller improvement in Chile 6s of 1960, Brazil 6½s of 1926-56 and Italy 7s were features in the foreign division.

Subscription books on the $10,000,000 issue of Crown Zellerbach debenture 6s and the $4,500,000 loan by Western Public Service 5½s closed soon after the opening. New offerings this week have again been light, and this has been an important factor in the firming of the price structure in the listed market.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—An early decline in cotton under a renewal of nearmonth liquidation was followed by rallies during today's trading. Offerings were comparatively light after the early selling had run its course, and prices advanced on trade buying or covering promoted by the firmer ruling of wheat. May contracts, after selling off to 15.22, rallied to 15.59 and closed at 15.52, with the general market closing barely steady at net advances of 14 to 21 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 3 to 10 points, with the active months showing net losses of 5 to 11 points right after the call under liquidation, particularly in the near months, which were evidently influenced by the circulation of March notices estimated at about 15,000 bales. March sold off to 14.90, while July worked down to 15.48 and old October to 15.69, but trade interests bought the March, and as soon as the initial offerings had been absorbed contracts became comparatively scarce. The firmer tone of the wheat market led to covering later, and the buying became a little more active during the middle of the afternoon, with the advance extending to 15.24 for March, 15.85 for July and 16.01 for old October, or about 19 to 29 points net higher. Closing quotations were several points off from the best under realizing.

Some trade buying was reported during the day, but much of the demand was attributed to covering on reports of a slightly better spot demand in the South, while there was further comment on reports that cooperative interests were buying wheat. Trading in the new contract eliminating the 35-point differential for October and later deliveries started at the opening today. A fair business was reported early at prices ranging from about 18 to 20 points under the corresponding quotations for the old-style contract, but later business in the new contracts was relatively quiet.

Early Liverpool cables made a fairly steady showing, with Bombay selling there absorbed by covering and trade calling. These advices said business in cotton cloths and yarns was slow in developing, owing to distrust in prices.

Exports today, 9,242 bales, making 5,390,182 so far this season. Port receipts, 9,717. United States port stocks, 2,189,408.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Rapid upturns in wheat prices today resulted from immense new buying of Chicago future delivery contracts. Much of this buying was ascribed to Government-sponsored sources, and was concentrated on the May delivery, which at times went to a premium over July. Heretofore of late, May delivery representing wheat harvested in 1929, has been at a discount, compared with July contracts which stand for wheat yet to be grown.

Closing quotations on wheat futures were strong, 2¼@2¾ cents a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1@1½ cents up, oats ⅝@1 cent advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

Entrance of the Farm Board's allied organiaztions into the wheat futures market was generally regarded as tending at least temporarily to restore confidence in higher prices and also as tending to restrict selling on the part of traders who believe prices are too high based on world conditions. Upturns in the Liverpool market today before trading began here gave additional stimulus to friends of higher prices, and so too did current talk that the forthcoming official report on farm reserve stocks of domestic wheat will show a decided decrease compared with a year ago. Under such circumstances, the upward jump of values here forced into operation numerous stop-loss orders from traders who recently have been sellers expecting further breaks in the market.

Some improvement of export demand today for North American wheat shipments counted as a help toward lifting prices. The total new export business was estimated at 1,250,000 bushels, mainly Canadian, but including a considerable amount of United States hard winter wheat. An additional aid to the general upward swing of the market was announcement that the Farm Board proposes to have wheat stored in country elevators rather than sent to terminals where storage space is less available.

One result of the new moves of the Federal Farm Board and its allied organizations was to arouse more interest in the corn market than has been generally shown of late.

The corn market moved up readily with commission houses generally on the buying side and many of them taking the ground that the corn market was on a less artificial basis than wheat.

Country offerings of corn to arrive were small, and Eastern shipping demand good. Oats followed corn.

Provisions went higher, responsive to upturns both in hog values and in grain.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Bulova.

A. R.—What are the future prospects and possibilities of Bulova Watch Co.? I am contemplating the purchase of this stock as an investment.

Answer—The progress of the Bulova Watch Co. in the last three years has been particularly impressive, the company having gone head considerably faster than the industry as a whole. This concern has plants in Bienne, Switzerland; Toronto, Canada; Providence, R. I., and New York City, and is one of the world's largest manufacturers of strap and wrist watches with jeweled movements. Earnings of Bulova Watch for 1929 were $5.10 a share and the outlook, it is expected, will result in profits this year of $7 a share. Profits last year compare with $3.73 for 1928. Current dividends are at the rate of $3 a share yearly. This stock possesses attractiveness for the long pull.

American Reinsurance.

R. W.—Am interested in the purchase of American Reinsurance Co. stock and would appreciate your advice as to this investment.

Answer—American Reinsurance Co. pays $3 a year in dividends and is classified as a speculative investment. Last October shareholders were offered new stock at 60 in the ratio of one new share for each three held. Rights expired November 18 last. The stock was increased from 75,000 to 100,000 shares as a result of the new offering. Proceeds of this issue were used to increase the capital from $750,000 to $1,000,000 and to add $1,250,000 to surplus, bringing that amount up to $3,000,000.

Cities Service.

J. F.—What information can you furnish me regarding Cities Service stock, as I am interested in same?

Answer—Cities Service is paying 30 cents annually and 6 per cent in stock. Net earnings for the twelve months ended January 31, 1930, were $45,413,728, a new high record for any twelve months in the company's history, and an increase of more than 33 per cent over the same period a year ago. The company's net earnings for January also set a new high mark for any month, amounting to $5,255,681, and showing an increase of 59 per cent over the same month a year ago, when net earnings were $3,294,338. Net earnings of Cities Service Co. for the twelve months were 6.38 times interest and discount on its debentures. Net to stock and reserves amounted to $38,303,959, or 5.52 times preferred stock dividends. This compares with $29,868,249, or 4.41 times for the corresponding period a year ago. Net to common stock and reserves rose to $31,368,534, or $1.21 per share on the average number of shares outstanding, an increase of $8,269,674, or 35.80 per cent, over the corresponding period a year ago. The outlook for 1930 is viewed with optimism by officials of the company, and the stock may be considered an investment holding.

Arundel Corporation.

Mrs. D. W.—What information have you on Arundel Corporation, quoted under Baltimore securities? Do you consider the stock attractive?

Answer—On the basis of present selling prices and current annual dividends, which have recently been raised from $2 to $3 per share, the stock yields to the investor a little in excess of 7 per cent. On this account the stock has quite a little attraction, especially as earnings on the stock for the year ended December 31, 1929, amounted to $4.15, compared with $3.16 in 1928. A strong financial position was disclosed as of December 31, 1929, current assets amounting to $5,319,116, including $1,501,856 cash and marketable securities, as against current liabilities of $1,332,853.

Beneficial Industrial Corporation.

E. L. R.—Will you please let me have your opinion on Beneficial Industrial Loan Corporation stock. This is a concern incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware.

Answer—As the stock is not listed on any of the regularly established exchanges, no advice can be given regarding it.

Standard Oil of New York.

Miss S. S. — I have 50 shares of Standard Oil of New York, purchased at $47, which my bank financed for me, and on which I am paying interest to the bank. I would appreciate very much your advice as to whether or not I should continue to hold same or sell at a loss now and try to make it up by buying something which is more active?

Answer—This column can not advise regarding speculative market commitments and consequently has no recommendations to make regarding Standard Oil of New York beyond saying that as one of the outstanding oil companies in the United States the stock is very highly regarded in investment circles. If it is an investment, rather than a speculation in which you are most concerned, the writer would unquestionably recommend that you retain your Standard Oil of New York shares.

Curb Review

New York, Feb. 27 (A.P.).—A brisk recovery on the New York Curb Exchange was checked just before the close of today's session by heavy profit taking, but final quotations showed a preponderance of net gains. At least a score issues moved to new high levels for the year, while a sprinkling of others, most conspicuous of which was Swift & Co. old stock, sank to new 1930 lows.

Trading was only moderate in volume, due to the continued disinclination of small traders to make extensive committments in curb stocks at the present time. While there has been little evidence of aggressive short selling for the past week or more, the borrowing demand for stocks indicates the existence of a good-sized short interest, particularly in the public utility issues, the recent rapid advance of which appears to have taken some "bear" traders by surprise.

Electric Bond & Share sold above 100 again today, but closed at 99½, for a net gain of 1¼ points. Public Service of Northern Illinois pyramided 36 points to a new 1930 high at 246 on total sales of less than 100 shares. American Light & Traction jumped 7 points and Duke Power 5 on small transactions. American Gas & Electric common and preferred, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, Memphis Natural Gas, Sierra Pacific Electric, Standard Power & Light new and Utilities Power closed with net advances of 1 to nearly 3 points.

Efforts to extend the recent recovery in Investment Trust, Holding & Trading Corporation shares met strong selling resistance. Third National Investors jumped 1¾ points and Mayflower Associates 1, buying of the latter being influenced by reports of a sharp increase in the market value of its security holdings, particularly in the stocks of Rhodesian copper companies.

Eisler Electric touched another new high at 21, but lost part of its gain. Aviation Credit sold at 16 for the first time this year. Loews, Inc., warrants and debenture rights, Mercantile Stores, Patterson Sarg, Kobacker Stores and J. W. Watson were among the other issues to reach new high ground.

Most of the active oils improved fractionally, although the new General Petroleum Corporation common stock lost 1¼ points. Doehler Die Casting improved slightly on the publication of the annual report showing earnings of $4.19 a share. Ford Limited advanced about a point, to 14½, duplicating the year's high, in response to the announcement of a 10 per cent dividend.

MACKEY TO STRIVE FOR MOORE'S SEAT

Arlington County Attorney to Enter Primary for Congress Post.

FIREMEN'S BANQUET SET

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Capt. Crandal Mackey, attorney of Washington and Arlington County and former Commonwealth's attorney, announces he will be a candidate for nomination as representative from the Eighth Congressional District in the primary to be held in August.

The other candidates are State Senator Frank L. Ball, from Arlington County, and Circuit Court Judge Howard W. Smith, from Alexandria.

Mr. Mackey returned from Richmond yesterday, where he went with a special committee composed of Col. Charles T. Jesse, Thomas W. Phillips, Emery Hosmer and himself, representing the Arlington County Bar Association, about legislation concerning the new judgeship to be created for Arlington County.

Capt. Mackey stated that he favored an amendment to the Volstead law that will better enable the Government to enforce prohibition. He said he would vote for any plan that would put an end to bootlegging and corruption.

"When Commonwealth Attorney of Arlington County I opposed all liquor licenses on the grounds that the barrooms ran on Sunday and the late Circuit Court Judge E. C. Nicol denied all applications which came before him, which put an end to the liquor business in Arlington County," Capt. Mackey said.

An organization to be known as the "Arlington County Insurance Association" was started at a meeting held last night in the offices of George H. Rucker Co., opposite the courthouse.

The temporary officers are W. Morrell Stone, president, and Henry J. Klinge, secretary-treasurer.

Permanent officers, together with members of the board of directors, will be elected at a meeting to be held Tuesday night, March 11, at 8 o'clock.

With plans being rapidly completed for the fourteenth annual banquet of the Cherrydale Volunteer Fire Department to be given in the auditorium of the firemen's hall the evening of March 4, the committee announces that among the speakers will be Gov. John G. Pollard, United States Senators Claude A. Swanson and Carter Glass and Representative R. Walton Moore.

The Ladies Auxiliary, under the leadership of Mrs. Amos Donaldson, will have charge of preparing and serving the banquet.

Chairman Robert E. Janson urges all persons having cards to send them in without delay so plans may be completed.

County Engineer C. L. Kinnier announced yesterday that a copy of the recent water report filed with the county board of supervisors is being mailed to the secretary of each citizens' association.

Engineer Kinnier stated that in addition to the report a letter is inclosed asking cooperation in securing the needed 1,000 water users which will insure a reasonable reduction in annual water rates.

The county board of supervisors will hold its semimonthly meeting tomorrow morning at the courthouse at 10 o'clock.

The condition of Louis Luzi, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. William Luzi, of Cherrydale, who is confined at the Georgetown Hospital, is reported as much improved.

A play entitled, "It Happened at Midnight," will be presented tonight in the auditorium of the Washington Lee High School under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Matthew Fontaine Maury School, of Clarendon.

There will be a group meeting of the elementary school teachers of the county public schools tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Woodrow Wilson School, at Fort Myer Heights, according to an announcement made yesterday by County Superintendent Fletcher Kemp.

More than 200 persons attended the benefit dinner given last night under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Clarendon Fire Department at the Lyon Park Community House. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the local fire department.

Through an error, the name of Mrs. Richard L. Eacho appeared as a member of a special committee from the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County that will appear before the board of supervisors at its meeting tomorrow. Mrs. Eacho is out of the county on an extended tour to the West Indies and is not a member of the committee.

The Arlington Lodge, No. 193, I. O. O. F., announces it will give a square dance in the Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon tonight. The music will be furnished by Wilson's Orchestra.

Plans are under way for a Union World Day of Prayer for the women of the following churches in Ballston: Presbyterian Church, Christian Church, Central Methodist Episcopal Church, Mount Olivet Methodist Protestant Church, and the Little Church on the Corner (Nazarene) to be held in the Central Methodist Episcopal Church, Friday, March 7.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the James Monroe School announces it will serve luncheon today from 12:30 to 2 o'clock to the children of the school and their mothers.

Search Is Fruitless For Suicide's Kinsmen

Body of Caretaker, Who Shot Himself in the Presence of Acquaintances, Is Unclaimed at Mortuary.

The body of Alphonse M. Gautier, caretaker at the Chevy Chase Lake swimming pool, who ended his life with a revolver Wednesday night as three acquaintances looked on believing he was joking, is being held at the Warner Pumphrey undertaking establishment at Rockville pending removal by relatives. Friends of the dead man last night said they plan asking for his burial in the Arlington National Cemetery if relatives can not be located. A certificate of death by suicide was issued last night, State's Attorney Robert B. Peter, jr., having decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Gautier was chatting with three friends in his room at the swimming pool and when he placed the muzzle of a revolver against his head and pulled the trigger his acquaintances though he was playing. The gun jammed several times, but finally fired and the caretaker dropped to the floor, fatally wounded.

Little is known of his life previous to his employment at the Chevy Chase, Md., pool except that he served with the Canadian forces during the World War. He is believed to have relatives in Canada. Some light on his origin is contained in a letter which he had written to the editor of The Washington Post a few days before he ended his life. The letter is as follows:

"Could you tell me on what ground some Englishmen and Americans claim this country to be an Anglo-Saxon country? Most of the people are Scotch, Irish, Welsh and of European origin.

"Admiral Pratt, speaking at a dinner given to American naval officers in London by the Royal Navy Volunteer Reserve, said, in part:

"'There may be a little misunderstanding on the part of some people as to why America wants parity. They may say that America is perfectly safe by reason of her geographical position. But they would have to look back 300 years, to the landing of the Pilgrim fathers, to find the reason. Americans are just as much of your stock as you will find in your own country, and that is what is really at the bottom of parity.'

"This sort of talk is not fair to the early colonists of Welsh, Irish, Scotch, French, Dutch and European descent as a whole, who at all events resent being ruled by John Bull. It is not even fair to the French, whose fleet defeated the English fleet, previous to the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, and helped thus to free this country from the British. I know Lafayette would have objected to be made a U. S. citizen had this country remained by hook or by crook an English dependency.

"A loyal Frenchman,

MARION FIRES LEAD TO ARREST OF THREE

Residence of Deputy Sheriff and Mill House Burned; Another Damaged.

NAMES ARE WITHHELD

Marion, N. C., Feb. 27 (A.P.).—Destruction of two houses by fire here and fire at a third led today to arrest of three men who were held while officers investigated the origins of the blazes.

The three houses were located near the cotton mill of the Marion Manufacturing Co. which has had intermittent labor troubles during the past twelve months. Sheriff O. F. Adkins refused to disclose the names of the three men held because, he said, no formal charges had been lodged against them.

The sheriff revealed, however, that at least two of the men held were former employes of cotton mills here and that he suspected them of setting the houses afire.

Tuesday night a house owned by Jim Owens, a deputy sheriff, burned. Owens was one of eight deputies tried and acquitted of charges of murder in connection with the deaths of six strikers killed in a riot here October 2.

Last night a house from which strikers had been ejected burned. It was the property of Miss Ellen Crawford, of Marion, but had been leased to the Clinchfield Manufacturing Co. A blaze was discovered at the home of J. H. Tate, operator of a hosiery mill, last night, but was extinguished before it did material damage.

Sheriff Adkins intimated that probably formal charges would be brought against the men tomorrow and that they would then be given a hearing.

Power Companies Assailed by Black

Alabama Senator, in Radio Speech, Says Utilities Are Monopolistic.

Assailing the power companies for their monopolistic and propagandistic methods, Senator Black of Alabama, characterized the power problem as being of the greatest magnitude, in an address over the Columbia Broadcasting system through Station WMAL last night.

"This industrial age has made electric power a necessity of life," he said. "It should be generated and distributed not only for the benefit of a few, but also to enrich the whole people. It is time to curb monopoly, not only of power companies, but of all kinds. The Sherman antitrust law should be called back into life. The people of this Nation are entitled to a determination of the cost of generating and distributing power."

Pointing out that the Muscle Shoals legislation will be considered by the Senate immediately after it completes the tariff act, Senator Black predicted that, with the assistance of an aroused public sentiment against the "power trusts," the great project will be saved for the American people.

Trade Pact Broken, Says U. S. Official

Agreement With Packers to Keep Markets Open Reported Violated.

(Associated Press.)

Dr. J. R. Mohler, chief of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry of the Department of Agriculture, said yesterday the department had been informed that agents and packer buyers had been violating a trade practice agreement that public markets be kept open and competitive.

He added in a statement that there also had been violations of the trade agreement that prohibited bargaining prior to the opening of the market.

"The department feels the matter is of sufficient moment to warrant a close scrutiny by all packares who are party to the code," said Dr. Mohler.

VIRGINIA DELEGATES DEFY UPPER HOUSE

Free Textbook Resolution Passed Unanimously by Members.

REID BILL IS ADVANCED

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 27.—Delegate Wilbur C. Hall, of Loudoun, today led the House of Delegates in an act of open defiance to the Senate, which yesterday refused to concur in his resolution to request the governor to include an item for free textbooks in the next biennial budget. Mr. Hall introduced a separate resolution for the governor, bearing the same request, and the House passed it unanimously. Mr. Hall declared that the House would show the Senate that "it is an integral part of the State of Virginia."

Among the 20 bills advanced in the lower branch was the Reid bill providing a trial justice for counties adjacent to cities of a population of 30,500, which includes Arlington County, and the Jeffreys bill that would raise the Virginia automobile speed limit from 35 to 45 miles an hour.

Both houses adopted a resolution that would call on the governor, the lieutenant governor, the speaker of the House and one delegate and one senator to meet Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and greet him in the name of Virginia when he returns to the United States from his trip to the South Pole.

The House refused to discharge the appropriations committee from further consideration of a bill presented by Delegate J. Fred Birrell, of Alexandria, for the relief, to the extent of $85.05, of R. H. Atkinson, of Alexandria, whom Mr. Birrell said was due this amount as the result of fiscal difficulties during the Spanish-American War.

The House also advanced the Brewer bill to allow counties to parallel the State prohibition laws and thus get for themselves a portion of the revenue that now goes into the literary fund. Among the bills advanced by the Senate was one creating a Northern Virginia Park and Planning Commission, introduced by Senator Ball, to assist in the beautification of northern Virginia in conjunction with Washington.

The House finance committee reported favorably a bill providing for the reassessment of property in cities every four years by groups to be named by the corporation court and abolishing the system in counties, providing, however, that Arlington and Fairfax Counties would be exempted under an amendment adopted at the instance of Delegate Hugh Reid. In the counties the assessment would be replaced by boards of equalization. It also reported a bill that would allow localities to exempt new industries from taxation for a period of five years, the measure being designed to meet competition with other States.

City Planner Hits Falls Power Plan

Charles W. Eliot Declares Scenic Beauty Should Be Preserved.

Advocating any measures or proposals for preservation of the beauty of Great Falls, Charles W. Eliot, city planner of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, told the University Club that he was unequivocally opposed to destruction of scenic beauty at the falls by construction of a proposed power dam.

He gave a lengthy lecture on the subject, illustrated with moving pictures and photographs of the region at Great Falls, and sketched the provisions of the Cramton bill, now pending in Congress, with emphasis on its reference to the falls.

The program, arranged by Frederick Shelton, chairman of the program committee of the University Club, followed a banquet tendered Mr. Eliot by members of its entertainment committee.

District Subcommittee To Decide Hearing Dates

The subcommittee on public health of the House District committee will meet today to decide on dates for public hearings on four important measures now awaiting consideration.

These are the bills to adolish "alley dwellings" in the District, the anti-vivisection measure, the proposed anti-smoke law, and the measure which would place District facilities for disposal of refuse at the convenience of other nearby communities.

MONTGOMERY GROUP WILL HOLD MEETING

Subcommittee on Courthouse Building Project Assemble Today.

THREE HELD IN ASSAULT

The subcommittee on plans and construction of the Montgomery County General Courthouse building committee will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the courthouse at Rockville. The committee has been given power to represent the general committee except for major changes in the structure. The resolution authorizing the subcommittee stipulated that it should hold frequent meetings with the architect in charge.

Capt. Chester Wells, chairman of the subcommittee, issued the call in order that some definite organization plans can be worked out. Other members are George P. Sacks, Berry E. Clark, Preston B. Ray, George E. Hamilton, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, Lacy Shaw, Otho H. W. Talbott, Henry F. Taff and J. Roger Spates.

The architect, Delos H. Smith, yesterday conferred with Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners; Preston B. Ray, clerk of the circuit court, and other department heads relative to the distribution of floor space and other details in the new courthouse building. A tentative agreement was reached and this will be referred to the plans subcommittee, probably at its meeting today.

Three Etchison residents were arrested yesterday by Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley and Headquarters Detective Bodmer on charges of assault and battery. The men are alleged to have painted the face and body of Samuel Dorsey Owings, 21 years old, of Etchison, with pitch tar as a joke. The pitch caused serious burns and the youth is in the Montgomery County General Hospital at Sandy Spring in a serious condition.

The three men, Frank Price, Orbin Seal and Oscar Seal, deny that they were the ones to administer the tar. They were placed in the Rockville Jail.

Mrs. Margaret Woods Hayes, Silver Spring, Md., filed suit for absolute divorce from Frank T. Hays, jr., 524 Central avenue northeast, Washington, yesterday in Circuit Court at Rockville. Through Attorney John E. Oxley, of Rockville, the wife alleges desertion. The couple was married May 3, 1923, at Baltimore and has no children. Walter W. Dawson, Rockville attorney, filed his appearance as attorney for the husband at the same time.

William Kraft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kraft, 4601 Highland avenue, West Chevy Chase, was struck by a hit-and-run truck yesterday and injured slightly. The truck bore Virginia license tags and was loaded with piping, and is believed to have been a plumber's truck. The boy was riding a bicycle on Rosemary street when he was struck.

Funeral services for Charles J. Lyddane, 75 years old, father of Charles Bernard Lyddane, vice president of the Federal-American National Bank at Washington, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Rockville. Burial will be in Rockville Union Cemetery.

A lifelong resident of Montgomery County, Mr. Lyddane was one of the county's best known citizens. He was a retired farmer and was for some years a trustee of the county almshouse. He is survided by the widow, four sons, Charles Bernard Lyddane and William O. Lyddane, of Washington; P. Kenneth Lydane, Rockville attorney, and J. Raymond Lyddane, of Pittsburgh a d;aughter, Mrs. Murrell Cecil, of Rockville, and a brother, Nicholas Lyddane, of Washington.

Mr. Lyddane died Wednesday at his home in Rockville. He had been in poor health for some time but his death came as a distinct shock to his many friends in Rockville and the county.

Peru Denies Fight On Bolivian Border

Troops Did Not Clash on Boundary, Officials in Peru Assert.

The Bolivian Minister to Peru, Dr. Ostria Gutierrez, also denied the reports of a skirmish. He said he had heard nothing official to justify them and added that if such an incident had occurred it would have no important consequences. He explained that the gendarmes of both countries were constantly pursuing smugglers and other offenders, and that this might account for the reports.

CLOSED MARYLAND BANK WILL REOPEN

Prince Georges Institution Is Reorganized With New Directors.

PLAN RELIGIOUS CENSUS

Reopening of the Southern Maryland Trust Co. was assured yesterday when Judge Joseph C. Mattingly, of the Prince Georges County Circuit Court at Upper Marlboro, signed an order authorizing the reorganization of the banking company. The trust company, which has banks at Seat Pleasant and Upper Marlboro, was closed by the bank commissioner of Maryland, George W. Page, December 13.

The new organization is to have a capital stock of $150,000, a reduction of $50,000, and is to establish a special reserve fund of $50,000. The stockholders are to contribute $100,000 in cash and certain obligations of former officials, and employes of the F. H. Smith Co. are to be removed.

This is the second time in the history of Maryland that stockholders have effected a plan whereby they could reopen the bank without absorption by another institution or closing out by the receiver. A meeting of the stockholders has been called for March 8 at 1 o'clock at the Seat Pleasant branch to accept the amendment reducing the capital stock.

The plan for the reopening, which was approved by the stockholders at a meeting last Friday, was presented to Judge Mattingly by Allen MacCullen, secretary of the trust company; Ogle Marbury, attorney for the receiver, and Deputy Bank Commissioner John D. Hospelhorn, who has had charge of the details of the receivership for the bank commissioner.

All former officers of the bank have tendered their resignations and they have been accepted by the board of directors. The new officers are: A. O. Dille, president; Dr. Z. M. Brady, W. Seaton Belt and W. S. Collins, the latter reelected, vice presidents; MacCullen was reelected secretary and Miss Mary E. Myers was reelected treasurer. Vacancies on the board of directors were filled by the election of A. O. Dille, Allen MacCullen, Francis H. Hill and Clarence M. Roberts. These elections are temproary, as there are 45 new stockholders who can not vote until the reorganization is completed, and it is believed that they should be given a voice in the election of permanent officers. There are about 175 stockholders now.

While the bank officials declined to make any definite statement as to when the bank would open for business, they intimated that they expect the doors to open about the middle of March.

Chevy Chase's Street Relocation Discussed

A delegation of residents on Leland street, Chevy Chase, Md., appeared before the Maryland Park and Planning Commission last night regarding the relocation of the street. Residents on the south side of the thoroughfare have found that their houses are much closer to the planned widened street than those on the north.

Among the suggestions made were that a center line be determined between the rows of houses and that the new street be built on that basis. Other delegates asked for a narrower roadway.

The commission considered the new zoning ordinance for Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties, but deferred action for another two weeks to permit further study by the commissioners.
